Memo To The Media

This book has been prepared for members of the working media who will cover the Pitt football team during the 1995 season, as well as Pitt fans, friends and alumni. Additions to the contents of this book; changes in personnel, plans and policy; and supplemental information will be provided prior to and during the football season by the sports information department. If you desire additional information, please contact: Sports Information Department, University of Pittsburgh, P.O. Box 7436, Pittsburgh, PA 15213. Phone: (412) 648-8240.

The office is located on the third floor of Pitt Stadium, via the Gate 2 entrance.

Media Coverage Policy

Practice Coverage: Media representatives are welcome to cover Pitt football practice, but they should notify Ron Wahl of the Pitt Sports Information Office in advance for proper clearance. For interviews, please allow at least 24 hours for requests.

Head Coach John Majors will be available for brief pre-arranged interviews prior to the start of practice, or for more lengthy interviews after practice sessions. Please notify the Pitt sports information office with any requests at least a day in advance.

Player interviews are not allowed during practice or while players are going to the practice field. Player interviews after practice must be pre-arranged through the Pitt sports information office. Player interviews after practice will be conducted after the requested player showers. A day's notice is requested in order to ensure the player receives the interview notice. The deadline for player interviews during game weeks is noon Thursday. Lengthy player feature interviews can be arranged through the sports information office with proper notice and set up at the sports information office.

Assistant coaches will also be available after practice sessions.

Cameramen and photographers may shoot only from the sidelines at practice. Please refrain from edging onto the playing field in the interest of getting a better angle. To do so may result in injury to players and/or photographer.

Dialogue between players and coaches at practice is considered confidential. Please use discretion in reporting practice in such areas as plays, formations, and injuries. Television cameramen may not shoot formations. If there is any question in your mind about what may be reported, please ask Coach Majors.

Media representatives are asked to refrain from trying to reach players late at night. Normally, there is ample time during the day to interview them. Player telephone numbers will not be released by the Pitt Sports Information Office.

Postgame Interviews: The postgame press conference for Pitt home games will be held in the Stewart Auditorium, located inside Gate 5 of Pitt Stadium. Coach Majors and, generally, the visiting head coach will attend the press conference. A few select Pitt players will also be available for interviews. Requests for players not appearing at the postgame press conference will also be accepted. Pitt's locker room is closed to the media and public.

Telephones: The Pitt Sports Information Office supplies an adequate number of telephones in the press box available for general use by visiting writers. Credential requests should indicate interest in the use of these phones. Personal phone lines at assigned seats can be ordered at individual seats by contacting Ken Wolfe at Bell of Pennsylvania at (412) 633-6907. The telephone number in the press box is (412) 648-9172.

In-Season Media Opportunities

Pitt Football Press Luncheons: Coach Majors will conduct his weekly press luncheon on Mondays, beginning at noon. Selected players and assistant coaches will also be available at the luncheon for interview and photo opportunities.

Big East Football Teleconference: Coach Majors will be available for interviews via a Big East Football Conference teleconference every Monday from 11:20 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The number for media to access the teleconference is (913) 661-0920.

Pitt Radio Network

Pitt football games, home and away, will once again be broadcast over a network across Pennsylvania with 1250 WTAE-AM operating as the network's flagship station.

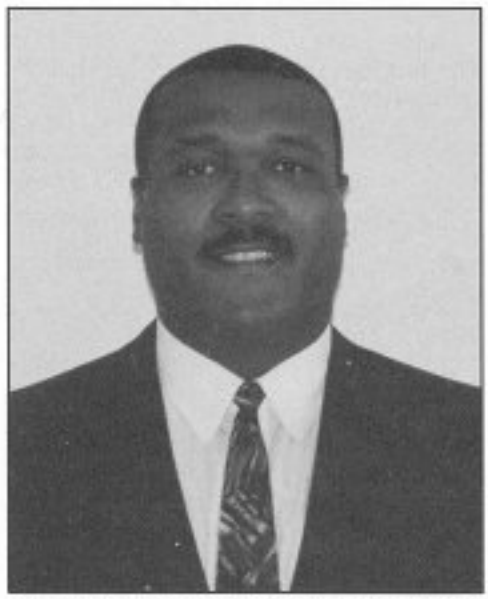
For the 22nd straight year, Bill Hillgrove will be the "Voice of the Panthers." Hillgrove's concise, accurate, and descriptive style truly paints the picture for Pitt fans listening throughout the network. He also calls the action for the Pittsburgh Steelers, after being named their play-by-play announcer in the spring of 1994.

Prior to taking over the play-by-play duties, Hillgrove served as color analyst from 1970-73 when the late Ed Conway provided play-by-play description. Hillgrove has also been doing play-by-play for Pitt basketball since 1969. A popular and well-known Pittsburgh sports personality, Hillgrove has been WTAE's sports director since 1979, and has long been a Pitt ambassador of good will. He supports all Pitt athletic teams, attends Golden Panther functions, and emcees numerous events around the city.

Hillgrove is a 1962 graduate of Duquesne University.

Joining Hillgrove in the booth for his second season is former Pitt All-America and NFL All-Pro offensive lineman Mark May.

May, the 1980 Outland Trophy, was selected as the Pitt Radio Network color analyst prior to the 1994 season, following his brillant 11-year NFL career. During his career, he played in three Super Bowls for the Washington Redskins and was an originial member of the Redskins' famed "Hogs." May spent the last two years of his career with the San Diego Chargers and Arizona Cardinals, respectively.



Mark May, a former Pitt All-American and NFL All-Pro offensive lineman, returns to the Pitt Radio Network for a second season.

Hillgrove and May will join forces to bring an entertaining post game report to listeners; Hillgrove will conduct locker room interviews with Coach John Majors and key Panther players, while May will field telephone calls from interested listeners following the post game report.

WTAE will once again present the weekly Panther SportsLine call-in show, hosted by Bill Hillgrove and featuring Pitt Head Football Coach John Majors. The show airs each Monday throughout the football season from 8 p.m.-9 p.m., giving football fans an opportunity to talk one-on-one with Coach Majors.

"Panther Football With Coach Johnny Majors"

For the third straight year Pitt Head Football Coach John Majors will conduct a weekly television show. This year's show, titled "Panther Football With Coach Johnny Majors," will once again be a weekly half-hour television show featuring Pitt Head Football Coach Johnny Majors, the Pitt football program, as well as other aspects of Pitt athletics.

But, the show, which will be hosted by Bill Hillgrove, will have a rather unique distinction than the previous two years. The show will originate each week from various sites throughout the Pittsburgh area and will have a live audience of elementary school youth from the City of Pittsburgh and surrounding communities.

"Panther Football With Coach Johnny Majors" is a product of JFS Properties, a television production and marketing company headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, and will be produced by Sebal Communications. The program will air on WTAE-TV on Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to noon.

1995 Outlook

As Head Coach John Majors leads the Pitt football team into the third year of his rebuilding program, there were many improvements made by the 1994 team upon which the 1995 squad can build.

This growth was evidenced most by two significant statistical improvements: total offense and rushing defense.

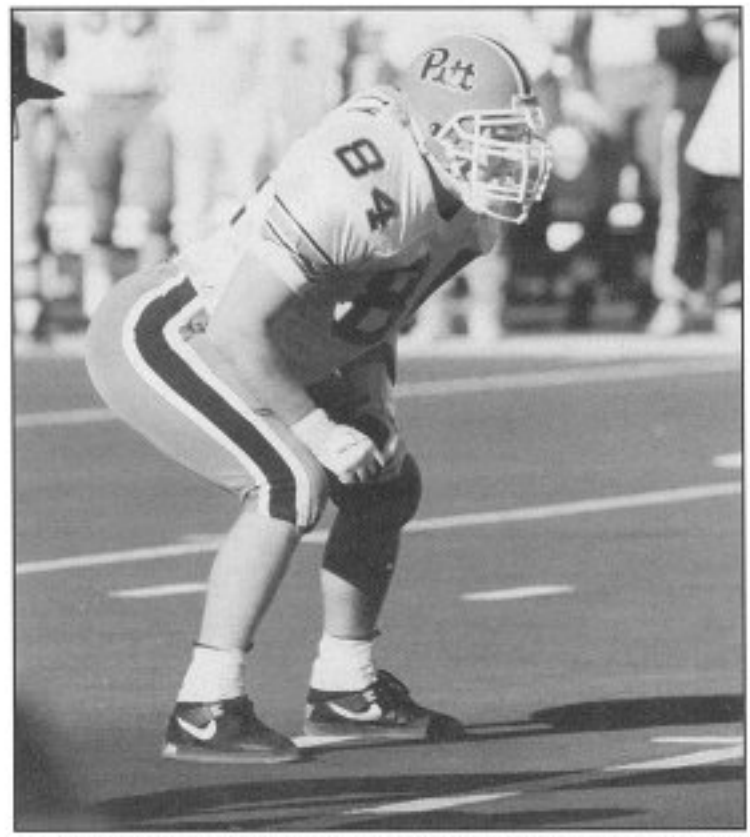
Pitt's offense improved from 103rd (out of 107 teams) in the country in total offense in 1993 to 41st last year while the defense, ranked 104th in country in rushing defense in 1993, jumped to 66th in the country in that category last year.

And even though the 1994 Pitt team finished with an identical 3-8 record as in 1993, Majors is optimistic the progress gained by the team's strong finish last year will carry over to a successful 1995 campaign.

Majors is even more convinced the 1995 football team will be vastly improved following spring drills.

"The outstanding attitude and effort of the players during spring drills this year was very encouraging," Majors said. "We have improved in virtually every area. The confidence of the players and their leadership have improved greatly. Additionally, our strength, speed, and agility have gotten better even though it still has a way to go.

"I was pleased with the unity and cohesion that have developed among linemen. It is impossible to predict wins and losses in a season, and we won't have a metamorphosis overnight, but I am very encouraged."



Fifth-year senior Tom Tumulty, a team leader throughout his career, will be counted on to help lead the Panthers during the 1995 season.

"We have improved in virtually every area. The confidence of the players and their leadership have improved greatly. I was pleased with the unity and cohesion that have developed among the linemen...

"...It is impossible to predict wins and losses in a season, and we won't have a metamorphosis overnight, but I am very encouraged."

--Head Coach John Majors

The two aforementioned statistics are just two of the signs that point to an improving football program. The Panthers also finished the season by winning two of their last three games — 45-19 against Temple and 35-21 versus Rutgers — and the loss was a near upset victory against nationally ranked Miami, 17-12, at the Orange Bowl. Returning junior tailback Billy West, who began the season as a backup to Curtis Martin, was named the Big East Football Conference's Offensive Player of the Year, while departing senior offensive tackle Reuben Brown became Pitt's first All-American since the 1990 season, when punter Brian Greenfield was a consensus All-American selection.

"Our goal last year was to have an opportunity to win in the fourth quarter," said Majors. "We achieved that goal in most of our games. Now, we want to take the process one step further and win some of those games."

With 44 lettermen and 16 starters returning, a nucleus is in place to take the next step in the building process. The goal is to build on the improvement made last season and transfer the progress into more wins in 1995.

OFFENSE

The offense was hit hardest by attrition, especially the offensive line, where three starters have graduated, including All-America offensive lineman Reuben Brown and four-year starting center Lawson Mollica. Majors also will have to find replacements for offensive tackle Matt Bloom, starting wide receiver Billy Davis, who had the most productive season of his career in 1994, and receiver Chad Askew, a three-year letterman. In total, 17 lettermen and six starters return on offense in 1995.

1995 Outlook

The good news is the Panthers return most of their skill-position players. Foremost are West; wide receiver Dietrich Jells, who should become the most productive receiver in Pitt history; and fifth-year senior quarterback John Ryan, who developed into a solid signal-caller for the Panthers last year after beginning the season as a backup to junior-college transfer Sean Fitzgerald.

The offense made significant improvement in 1994, finishing second in the Big East in total offense, after its seventh-place ranking (out of eight teams) in 1993. Offensive Coordinator Ken Karcher believes if the offensive line continues to improve, the Panthers could be more productive in 1995.

"I am very optimistic about the 1995 season," Karcher said. "We continued to show improvement during the spring. And, I think we are at a point now where the players are a lot more comfortable with our system and they have some confidence in what we are doing.

"We were concerned about the huge losses along the offensive line, but we now feel pretty good about our first unit, even though we still have some concerns at left tackle.

"Our goal in fall camp is to start refining the offense and simplifying it to a point where we are operating at high efficiency. If we are able to achieve that and get the production we expect from the skill people, we could be pretty exciting."

The move of two former defensive linemen to the offense to help fortify the offensive front appears to have been a success. Senior Matt Hosilyk, a three-year letterman on defense, manned the number-one left tackle spot during most of spring drills, after briefly experimenting at offensive guard, and will challenge senior Brian Curran, who missed all of spring after back surgery, for the starting position there. Additionally, former defensive tackle Tim Robbins, a redshirt junior, showed promise during spring and is projected as the backup right tackle. Redshirt sophomore Reggie Thomas, who was a pleasant surprise as Pitt's starting left guard last year, will be the center in 1995 and is expected to be the cornerstone of the offensive line, while returning letterman Jeff Craig, a redshirt junior is projected as the starting right guard. A battle for the left guard position between redshirt sophomore Jon Marzoch and redshirt junior Tim Glass developed during the spring, and Marzoch will head into fall camp as the starter. Sophomore Tony Orlandini, who worked into the starting lineup in four games last year as a freshman, is expected to fill the starting right tackle spot.

Quarterback John Ryan emerged as the most-efficient passer in the Big East in 1994 and will guide the Panthers again in 1995.

Senior Dell Seagraves, a converted defensive player, performed admirably last year in his first season at tight end and will return as the starter. He will be backed up by talented sophomore John Jones and senior Raymond Belvin.

Led by Jells, who averaged a team-high 17.4 yards a reception (35 catches for 613), the receiving corps could be potent. With 2,214 career receiving yards, Jells needs just 51 yards to become Pitt's all-time career receiving yardage leader. Junior Mark Butler, who showed signs of brilliance as a return specialist and receiver last year before suffering a season-ending shoulder injury, is healthy, and Curtis Anderson, who has made terrific progress over the last year, also returns, giving Pitt three frontline receivers. In addition, senior Jay Jones and sophomore Vital Joseph give Pitt some experienced depth. Add to the list several talented freshman redshirts — Dante Bryant, Keith Jackson and Terrell Dantzler — and the receiving corps appears fast and deep .

The presence of West, who last year rushed for 1,358 yards and earned Big East Offensive Player of the Year honors, solidifies the starting tailback position, but Majors will have to find some reserve help. Senior Chris Patton, a returning letterman, has provided capable backup the past two years and had a productive spring. Majors may have to rely on some help from his freshman recruiting class for any other candidates.

"Billy West is a not only a good player, he is a good person and he knows what it takes to be successful," Karcher said. "He is a perfect example for our team because he prepared himself for the opportunity when he was needed. When Curtis went down, he was ready and produced.

"There is no question he will be a big part of our offense in 1995."

There should be good competition for the starting fullback position with redshirt freshman Chris Schneider and fifth-year senior Vince Williams battling for the spot. Schneider is a highly regarded prospect, but was redshirted last year because of the presence in 1994 of seniors Maurice Washington and Chad Dukes. Schneider had an excellent spring and showed signs of being a capable runner as well as a blocker and receiver. Williams has all the physical tools to be an outstanding fullback, but his career has been limited because of injuries. When he has been healthy, Williams has shown spurts of explosiveness.

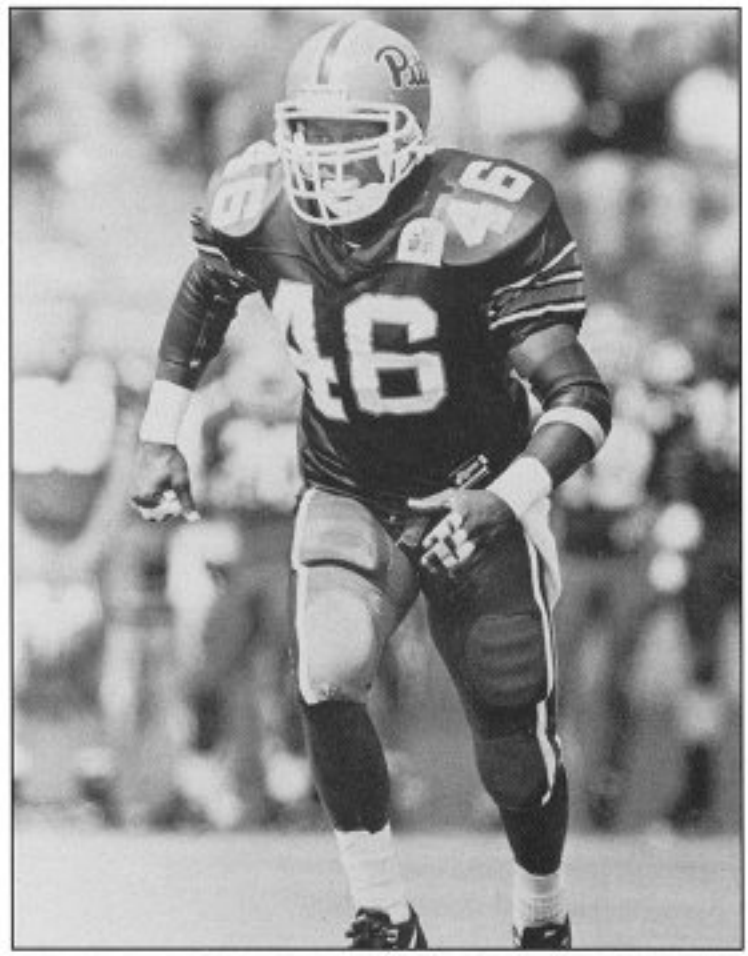
The quarterback position should be as stable as it has been at Pitt for several years. Ryan emerged as the most efficient passer in the Big East last season, while senior Sean Fitzgerald, who began the season as the Panthers' starter, has all the tools to be a productive quarterback and now has a year of seasoning. Ryan saw limited action in spring drills allowing underclassmen Pete Gonzalez and Matt Lytle more work; he is the starter heading into fall camp. Last year, Ryan completed 87 of 144 pass attempts for 1,294 yards, his second consecutive 1,000-yard passing season. He also threw 14 touchdowns, more than doubling his interception total (6), an area that plagued Ryan in 1993. Gonzalez, a redshirt sophomore, and Lytle, a redshirt freshman with a powerful arm, should provide capable backup. Both the underclassmen logged signficant playing time in the spring and made excellent progress. Gonzalez emerged from the spring as the backup. In seven starts last year, Fitzgerald passed for 948 yards, completing 79 of 172 passes (.459), but threw six interceptions compared to four TD passes.

"What John Ryan gives us is a very smart quarterback who makes very few mistakes," Karcher said. "All that I am expecting from him this season is to go out there and play to the best of his ability and operate the offense the way he is capable."



Senior David Sumner had an excellent spring at his new outside linebacker position and could emerge as a big-play defender for the Panthers in 1995.

DEFENSE

The growth of the Pitt defense has been gradual but steady. With nine starters and 23 lettermen returning, the prospects for 1995 seem bright.

The Panthers' defense made its most significant improvement over the last five games of last year, when it allowed an average of just 100 rushing yards a game (2.75 yards a carry).

"We have improved in every critical defensive statistical category — rushing, passing, and scoring — and cut down the number of big plays," said Defensive Coordinator Chuck Driesbach. "Going into spring ball we were very upbeat and excited about the improvement we made in 1994. Even though there is much room for improvement, coming out of spring we now have an even a higher degree of optimism."

Driesbach cites several reasons for the optimism. One is a few personnel moves, most notably switching safety David Sumner to outside linebacker. Secondly, despite a very demanding and physical spring, the defensive unit -- as well as the entire team -- emerged from the drills virtually injury-free. Another factor is the new level of confidence the players seemingly reached, not only in their assignments but in their belief that they can compete with anyone in the country.

"I think the number-one thing we achieved during spring is a new level of confidence with our players," said Driesbach. "After two years in the system they feel more comfortable with what we are doing. Toward the end of last season, our guys started believing they could compete with anyone in the country and I could see that confidence permeating into spring drills and, hopefully, into next season."

Driesbach also has seen improvement in overall speed, strength, and the aggression level by all the players.

The strength of the 1995 defensive unit will come from the interior line and linebackers. Five starters and nine lettermen return along Pitt's front seven, giving the Panthers a solid nucleus.

Along the line, the Panthers will certainly miss the leadership and production from their only departed senior, Tom Barndt. Pitt, though, returns two-year starting defensive end Zatiti Moody and starting tackles Mike Halapin and Tyler Young, all seniors. Moody and Halapin have been solid performers for the Panthers the past three years and could emerge as All-Star candidates for the Panthers. Young was hampered most of the season last year with nagging ankle and knee injuries, but he started all 11 games and came on strong toward the end of the season. He finished eighth on the team with 42 tackles and second on the team with 4.5 sacks. Returning veteran Mike Mohring, a redshirt junior who started six games last year at end, waged a hotly contested battle with Moody during spring drills and could unseat Moody for the starting position there. Redshirt junior Jared Miller enters fall camp as the starting right end and will battle junior-college transfer Maurice Harris for playing time at that position. Sophomore Frank Moore, who lettered last year as a freshman, will provide depth at tackle, along with redshirt freshmen Kenny Pegram, who made good progress in the spring. Another redshirt freshman, Marlin Young, was very impressive during spring drills, especially as a pass rusher, and could challenge for a starting position at end.

The strength of the defense lies within the linebacking corps. Returning All-America and Butkus Award candidate Tom Tumulty returns for his final season and is coming off what Majors considered his best spring. Tumulty was enjoying an excellent campaign last year until a knee injury limited his production the last five games. Still, he finished the season as Pitt's second-leading tackler with 82 tackles, including 42 solo stops. He also registered four tackles for losses and one sack. His fiery attitude and leadership are two of his best attributes, and he will be expected to use these to help spark the defense. Behind Tumulty is redshirt sophomore Rod Humphrey who developed into a steady backup for the Panthers last year and showed the ability to be a big-play defender. In his limited action, Humphrey recorded two sacks for 18 yards and had one tackle for a loss.

Sumner excelled at his new outside linebacker position during the spring and could emerge as an All-Star player at a position that is critical to the success of the defensive unit. Additionally, returning letterman Myles Davis, a converted running back who was progressing nicely before a fractured foot sidelined him for Pitt's final five games, is a capable backup. His practice time during spring was expected to be limited while recovering from a foot injury, but he missed very little time.

At middle linebacker, veterans Jon McCray and Jason Chavis will vie for the starting position, and both have plenty of game experience. Pitt's leading tackler in 1993, McCray, who will begin fall camp as the starter, started four games in 1994 and finished fourth on the team with 68 tackles, including 42 solo stops. He is a big hitter and has a nose for the football. Chavis, perhaps Pitt's most improved player in 1994, returns for his senior campaign. After being demoted and eventually switched to defensive line in 1993, Chavis responded with his best season during the 1994 season. He led the team with 98 total tackles, including 59 solo stops, and also recovered two fumbles, the most on the team.

The defensive secondary has some experience. Leading the group of returning veterans are cornerbacks Denorse Mosley and Anthony Dorsett. Mosley emerged as a top player in 1994. Starting all 11 games, he led the team with six interceptions, which ranked second in the Big East, and 12 pass deflections. Mosley finished the season with 48 total tackles, including 43 solo stops. Dorsett, the son of former Pitt Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett, has immense athletic ability and began turning into a solid defensive back last year. He started in six games, before an ankle injury forced him to miss Pitt's final two games. Mosley and Dorsett each had excellent springs and give the Panthers a very formidable tandem at cornerback. For the first time in several years, Pitt also has some depth at the corners. Seniors Daryl Cash and Thad Culpepper, both junior-college transfers, have the experience and talent to challenge for starting positions at the cornerback.

Challenging for the strong safety position will be returning veterans Jim Williams and Curtis McGhee, who shared the starting assignment last season. Williams will begin fall camp with the slight advantage as the starter.

One of the biggest challenges in 1995 is finding a starting free safety. Redshirt sophomore John Jenkins, who accumulated valuable playing experience last year, and redshirt freshman Chuck Brown, a highly regarded prospect with excellent speed who will switch from cornerback, will battle for the starting positon. Jenkins had a solid spring and Brown has all the physical talent to develop into an excellent player. Another player who could figure into the starting free safety battle is sophomore Eric Kasperowicz, who was one of only four freshmen from the 1994 recruiting class to letter last year.

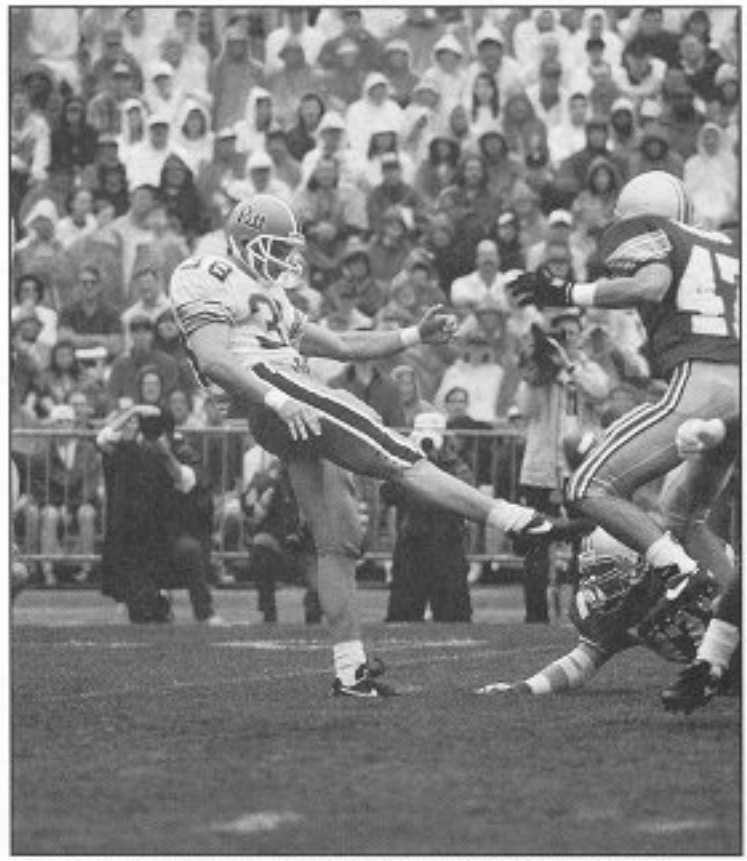
SPECIAL TEAMS

Pitt once again should be solid in the special teams return units, especially with return specialist Mark Butler returning. Pitt led the Big East in kickoff returns (21.7, 20th in country) and ranked fourth in punt returns (8.7 avg., 48th in the country). Butler was one of the top all-purpose yardage leaders in the country before suffering a season-ending shoulder injury. He has outstanding speed and is elusive, giving Pitt a legitimate kickoff return threat. Mosley has been a solid punt returner for the Panthers the past two years. He finished fifth in the Big East in punt returns last season. Other players who could provide assistance in kick and punt returns are Dorsett, Jay Jones, and Jells.

Majors remains concerned about the kicking game, even though last year's starting punter Nate Cochran, a two-year starter, returns. Majors believes Cochran has a big-time leg, but would like to see more consistency. Redshirt sophomore Steve Kalmanides, Pitt's starting placekicker in 1993 who redshirted last year, returns in 1995, but struggled with his accuracy during spring drills. Senior Todd Barton, a strong-legged kicker who served as Pitt's kickoff specialist in 1994, could challenge for the starting placekicking duties and provide depth at punter if he can recover from a back injury that forced him to miss all of spring drills. Freshman recruit Chris Ferencik could challenge both Cochran and Kalmanides for their starting positions.



Junior Nate Cochran will return as Pitt's starting punter in 1995.

Head Coach John Majors

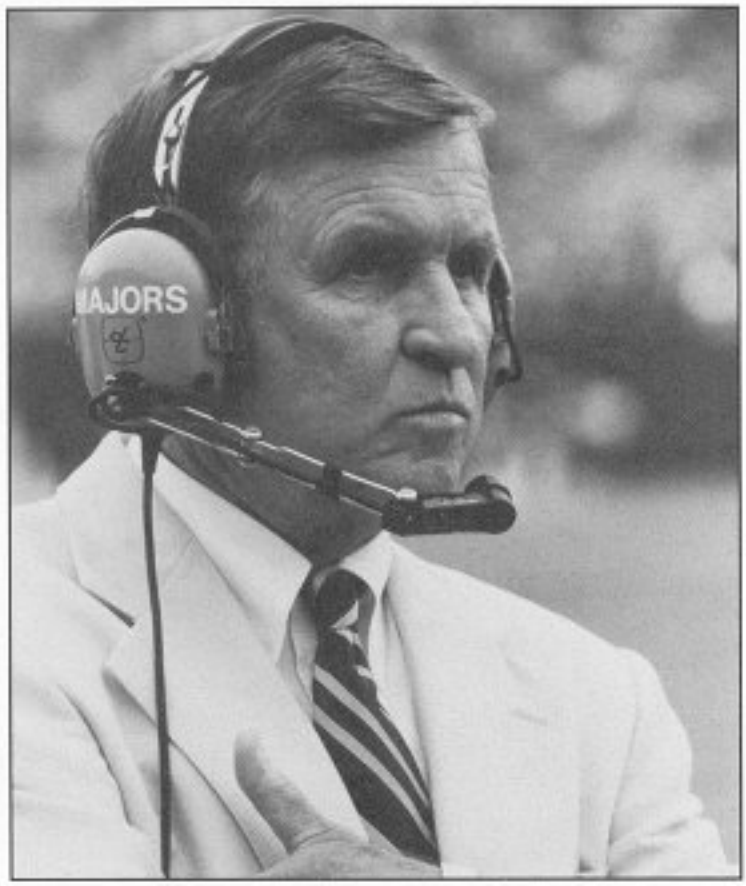
In a profession where longevity is elusive, John Majors has enjoyed a remarkably lengthy and successful collegiate head coaching career.

Beginning his 28th season, Majors has posted an overall record of 179-121-10 (.577), including a 116-62-8 mark (.645) at Tennessee (1977-92), a 39-29-1 mark at Pitt (1973-76, '93-'94), and a 24-30-1 record at Iowa State (1968-72). Sixteen of his 27 teams have earned bowl invitations, including 11 of his last 14 teams. His overall record in bowl games is 9-7.

Majors is currently ranked 16th all-time among collegiate head coaches with 310 games coached, and only four other active coaches — Hayden Fry (Iowa, 373), Joe Paterno (Penn State, 341), Jim Sweeney (Fresno State, 333), and Bobby Bowden (Florida State, 332) — have coached in more games than Majors. He also is tied (with Jerry Claiborne) for 26th place on the all-time Division IA coaching victories list with 179 career wins.

Over his 27-year head coaching career, Majors has coached or recruited a total of 25 All-Americans (16 at Tennessee and nine at Pitt), and a total of 23 number-one NFL Draft picks, (19 at Tennessee, three at Pitt, and two at Iowa State).

But the trademark of John Majors' coaching career is his ability to elevate football programs to new heights. Majors has forged a reputation as a football program builder. And, every football program that Majors has inherited has reached new-found successes.



During his 27-year head coaching career, Majors has coached or recruited a total of 27 first-team All-Americans (16 at Tennessee and 11 at Pitt) and a total of 23 first-round NFL Draft picks (18 at Tennessee, three at Pitt and two at Iowa State).

In his first head football coaching position, Majors took over a downtrodden Iowa State program and guided the team to its first two bowl games in school history.

From there, Majors went to the University of Pittsburgh, where he reached the pinnacle of his coaching career. Inheriting a Pitt squad that had finished 1-10 in 1972, Majors surrounded himself with a young, hard-working and talented coaching staff, and in just four seasons, transformed Pitt's struggling football program into the 1976 national champion. His first prize recruit — Tony Dorsett — had a spectacular career at Pitt, which included being honored with college football's most treasured award — the Heisman Trophy.

In what he still considers one of the most difficult decisions of his professional career, Majors returned to his alma mater to help rejuvenate a stagnant Tennessee football team. He quickly revived the Volunteers into an SEC and national power.

Nearly 20 years to the day Majors first came to Pitt, Athletic Director Oval Jaynes summoned him back to Pittsburgh to once again work his magic on a proud football program.

On a cold, wintery Dec. 11, 1992 day, Jaynes introduced Majors as Pitt's 32nd head football coach and charged him with the task of rebuilding yet another football program.

"Coming back to coach at Pitt is one of the most exciting challenges a person could have," Majors said. "Our work is cut out for us, and to achieve success, it will take a concerted effort from everyone who loves Pitt.

"We are in the third year of our rebuilding program. Our objective last year was to position ourselves to where we would have an opportunity to win the game in the fourth quarter. I think we improved in that area in most of the games, even though our record was the same as in 1993. Our goal this year is to not only to be in the game in the fourth quarter, but to win them."

Majors' return to Pitt was not nearly as dramatic as his first tour. Even though the 1993 football team showed some improvement, it exceeded most people's expectations by winning three games. Included among those three victories were two dramatic wins on ESPN Thursday night national telecasts. The Panthers welcomed back Majors with an inspiring 14-10 upset victory against a favored Southern Mississippi team in the steamy humidity of the Delta. Pitt also deflated a bowl-aspiring Rutgers team with an impressive 21-10 victory on Thursday night in the Meadowlands.

The 1994 Pitt football team showed considerable improvement, even though the gains were not reflected in the win-lost record, finishing with an identical 3-8 mark as the previous year. Playing one of the most-difficult schedules in the country, the1994 Panthers were competitive in most of their games, and finished the season strongly by winning two of their last three contests. Included in that string was a near upset against nationally ranked Miami at the Orange Bowl, which Pitt eventually lost, 17-12. Pitt also battled Texas (30-28), Louisville (33-29), and West Virginia (47-41) to the wire.

Majors first arrived at Pitt 22 years ago after a five-year stint as head coach at Iowa State, during which he had established himself as one of the bright young minds in college football. He immediately began recruiting the blue-chip talent that would provide the impetus for Pitt's national championship in 1976 and the Panthers' dominance of Eastern football into the early 1980s.

Dorsett, whose son Anthony is currently a senior defensive back at Pitt, was the plum of Majors' first recruiting class, which also included defensive linemen Al Romano, Gary Burley, and Don Parrish, as well as quarterback Robert Haygood, tight end Jim Corbett, linebackers Cecil Johnson and Arnie Weatherington, and placekicker Carson Long. Over the next several years Majors continued to recruit exceptional players who would play key roles in Pitt's drive toward a national championship, including quarterback Matt Cavanaugh, running back Elliott Walker, defensive lineman Randy Holloway, and wide receiver Gordon Jones.

Majors wasted little time beginning the turnaround at Pitt. In 1973, he guided Pitt to a winning record (6-5-1) for the first time in 11 years. The Panthers also landed a berth in the Fiesta Bowl, Pitt's first bowl appearance in 17 years. That startling turnaround brought Pitt and its new coach extensive national attention, and earned Majors Coach of the Year honors by both the Football Writers Association and the Walter Camp Foundation.

Majors followed up with a second consecutive winning season in 1974 (7-4). In addition, the Panthers made an appearance on national television for the first time since 1963, and Pitt's home attendance was twice the 1972 average.

In 1975, Pitt's remarkable upturn continued as the Panthers clawed their way to an 8-4 season that included a victory over Kansas in the Sun Bowl and the No. 15 final national ranking in the Associated Press.

Then came the magical 1976 season. A dominating, nationally televised 31-10 victory at Notre Dame in Pitt's opener set the tone for the season. The Panthers were undefeated the rest of the way, capping their 11-0 regular-season record with a 24-7 win over Penn State. Pitt, ranked number one in every poll in the country, was invited to the Sugar Bowl, where the Panthers crushed Georgia, 27-3, to win the national championship.

Majors again was named Coach of the Year, while Dorsett, who set or tied 18 NCAA records during his fabulous career at Pitt (including the career rushing yardage record of 6,082), won the Heisman Trophy.

"Johnny was a communicator and he related well to the players," Dorsett said, remembering back to his days at Pitt. "Coach Majors and Jackie Sherrill recruited me, but I also did my own homework. I knew Majors and his staff had a reputation of turning programs around and that was important to me. Now that he is back, I couldn't be any happier. And I know he will get this program back to where we can all be proud of. It may take a couple years but I know he will turn things around."

Another key player in the championship season was quarterback Matt Cavanaugh, a former assistant coach at Pitt before accepting the quarterbacks coaching position with the Arizona Cardinals prior to the 1994 season.

"Two qualities of Coach Majors' that have always impressed me are his great communications and motivational abilities," Cavanaugh said. "He came to Pittsburgh and was able to inspire a football team, and rally a University community and an entire City around him to help build a championship football team. I saw those same remarkable qualities in him from my perspective as an assistant coach.

"With his ability to relate to young men and with more than a quarter of a century of coaching success to his credit, I believe any prospective student-athlete would be impressed with Coach Majors and would value an opportunity to play for Coach Majors, while representing the University of Pittsburgh."

After the 1976 season, Majors returned to Tennessee as the Vols' head coach, and before long he was shaping the Vols into an SEC power. Tennessee won SEC Championships in 1985, 1989, and 1990, and high rankings in the coaches and writers polls characterized Tennessee football throughout the last decade.

During most of Majors' tenure at Tennessee, the Vols were a perennial bowl team, earning invitations to the Garden State, Peach (twice), Florida Citrus, Sun, Sugar (twice), Liberty, Cotton, Fiesta, and Hall of Fame bowls during his last 12 years there.

Majors' professional stature was reflected when he served as president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1990, a year in which Tennessee's SEC title gave the school its first back-to-back conference championships since the Vols won three in a row from 1938 through 1940.

A member of the most famous football family in Tennessee, John Majors was destined to carry on family tradition. His father, the late Shirley Majors, was a successful high school coach for 13 years in Tennessee and later served for 21 years as the head coach at Sewanee (University of the South), compiling a record of 93-74-5. He was selected as the Football Writers Association Small College Coach of the Year in 1973, the same year his son, John, received the Division IA Coach of the Year honor at Pitt. Two of John's brothers, Bill and Bobby, were great stars at Tennessee.

CHARLIE COE
Assistant Head Coach/ Running Backs
Kansas State, '73

After spending his first season as Pitt's run offense coordinator, Charlie Coe was promoted by Head Coach John Majors to assistant head coach in March of 1994. Coe has served on Majors' coaching staff since 1990, and soon after Majors was hired at Pitt, Majors brought Coe with him to Pittsburgh as the Panthers' run offense coordinator.

In each of Coe's two seasons at Pitt, the Panthers have had a 1,000-yard rusher — Curtis Martin in 1993 and Billy West in 1994, who led the Big East in rushing and was selected the conference's Offensive Player of the Year.

Prior to Tennessee, where he served as the receivers and running backs coach for Majors, Coe held assistant coaching positions at his alma mater Kansas State (1989); Missouri (1985-88); Louisville (1983-84); Ball State (1982); Cincinnati (1977-79); and Iowa (1976).

A native of St. Louis, Coe starred as a defensive back and return man for the Kansas State Wildcats, also garnering All-Big Eight honors as a second baseman for the Wildcat baseball team.

Following his stellar collegiate career, Coe was selected in the first round of the 1971 Major League baseball draft by the Detroit Tigers and spent two years in their system. Coe also spent part of the 1974 season with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

BOB BABICH
Linebackers
Tulsa, '84

Aliquippa native Bob Babich begins his second season as Pitt's linebacker coach, after serving two seasons in a similar capacity at East Carolina.

Babich was instrumental in the development of Pitt's linebacking corps last year, which was one of Pitt's strongest defensive units. His prize pupil, and perhaps one of the most improved players on the team, was middle linebacker Jason Chavis, who led the team in tackles in 1994, after having his playing time reduced and being switched to the defensive line in 1993.

Prior to his East Carolina appointment, Babich was the linebacker coach at Bowling Green for one year. He also held assistant coaching positions at his alma mater, Tulsa (1985-87, 1990), and Wisconsin (1988-89). He helped coach Tulsa to two Missouri Valley Conference championships in 1984 and 1985.

Babich matriculated at Tulsa after a stellar career at Mesa (Ariz.) Community College, where he earned All-America honors in 1979 and was the team's MVP and captain in 1980. At Tulsa, Babich was the leading tackler and captain on the 1982 Hurricane team that finished with a 10-1 record.

STEVE BIRD
Receivers/Kickers
Eastern Kentucky, '82

Steve Bird begins his third season as Pitt's receivers and kickers coach.

The first assistant named to Coach Majors' Pitt staff, after serving as a graduate assistant for Majors at Tennessee, Bird and Assistant Head Coach Charlie Coe are the two assistants from Coach Majors' present staff who served with him at Tennessee.

Bird helped transform Pitt's receivers into a major offensive threat last year and was instrumental in the development of graduating senior receivers Billy Davis, a second-team All-Big East Conference selection, and Chad Askew, both of whom enjoyed their best seasons at Pitt in 1994.

Bird joined the Tennessee staff after working for two years at Kentucky (1990 and 1991). He also was an assistant at his alma mater, Eastern Kentucky, from 1988 through 1989.

An All-American wide receiver and kick returner at Eastern Kentucky, Bird started in four national championship games. In 1982, he was named the Ohio Valley Conference Player of the Year during his senior season, when the Colonels captured the NCAA 1-AA national championship after being the national runner-up his junior season.

Following a stellar collegiate career, in which he caught 112 passes for 2,056 yards and 18 touchdowns, Bird spent five seasons in the NFL with the St. Louis Cardinals, the San Diego Chargers, and the Philadelphia Eagles as a wide receiver and kick return specialist.

CURT CIGNETTI
Tight Ends/Recruiting Coordinator
West Virginia, '82

Curt Cignetti begins his second season as Pitt's tight end coach in 1995, and his third year on the Pitt football staff. Cignetti joined the Pitt football staff in 1992 as Pitt's recruiting coordinator and was appointed the Panthers' tight end coach in the summer of 1994 by Head Coach John Majors, when Matt Cavanaugh who left for an assistant coaching position with the NFL Arizona Cardinals.

In addition to his coaching duties, Cignetti continues to supervise Pitt football's recruiting efforts.

The son of Indiana University of Pennsylvania Head Football Coach and Athletic Director Frank Cignetti, Cignetti was a two-year football letterman at West Virginia, where he was a member of two consecutive bowl teams — the 1981 Peach, and the 1982 Gator — and earned the Lewis D. Meisel Award for academics and the A.C. Whitney Gwynn Award for character.

Cignetti spent the 1983 and 1984 seasons at Pitt as a graduate assistant under Foge Fazio, working with the quarterbacks and the defensive secondary.

Cignetti left Pitt prior to the 1985 season to coach the quarterbacks at Davidson College. He then moved on to join Jerry Berndt's staff in the same capacity at Rice University, where he coached for three seasons. In 1989, he joined Berndt's staff at Temple, where he coached the quarterbacks for four seasons, through 1992, before accepting Majors' offer to return to Pitt as recruiting coordinator.

CHUCK DRIESBACH
Defensive Coordinator
Villanova, '75

When Coach John Majors searched for a defensive coordinator to help revive a Pitt defense that was once known for its hard hitting and tenacity, he wanted someone with a diverse background on both defense and offense. Chuck Driesbach fits those qualifications.

Beginning his third season as Pitt's defensive coordinator, Driesbach has accumulated a wealth of football knowledge, amassing more than 20 years of Division 1-A coaching experience.

Under Driesbach, Pitt's defense has shown steady improvement. Last year, the Panthers improved their rushing defense to 66th in the nation. Pitt also reduced its points against by nearly a touchdown last season. The Panthers defensive growth was even more evident over the last five games of the 1994 season, when opponents averaged just 100 rushing yards a game (2.75 per carry).

Prior to his Pitt appointment, Driesbach served as the defensive coordinator for Cornell University. He also held assistant coaching positions at Mississippi (1989), East Carolina (1987-88), Wake Forest (1984-86), and Kansas State (1976-83).

As a collegian, Driesbach was a three-year starter at Villanova, serving as team captain in his senior season in 1974. He then played one year for the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League in 1975, before the league folded.

Indiana University of PA, '69

Jack Henry will once again be charged with the responsibility of coaching Pitt's offensive line.

A Pittsburgh area native, Henry brings 26 years of experience from all levels of coaching to Coach John Majors' staff. Henry previously served as the offensive line coach for Coach Chuck Noll and the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1990-91.

Henry added to his impressive list of football pupils — which include former Pittsburgh Steeler Carlton Haselrig, who never played college football and developed into an NFL All-Pro offensive guard in two years, and current Steeler John Jackson, a relative unknown out of college who now is regarded as one of the top left offensive tackles in the NFL — by coaching former Pitt offensive tackle Reuben Brown to All-America honors in 1994.

Prior to his Steelers appointment, Henry served as offensive coordinator and associate head coach at his alma mater, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, from 1986-89. Henry, who began his collegiate career as a linebacker at Penn State (1964-65), played guard for the Indians in 1967-68 before graduating in 1969. KEN KARCHER
Offensive Coordinator/ Quarterbacks
Tulane, '86

A former college and NFL quarterback, Ken Karcher brings both playing and coaching experience to the Pitt coaching staff as he begins his third season at Pitt and his second year as Pitt's offensive coordinator.

Karcher joined the Pitt staff in December of 1992 as the quarterbacks coach and pass offense coordinator. He was promoted to offensive coordinator prior to the 1994 campaign by Head Coach John Majors.

Under Karcher's guidance, the Pitt offense improved from seventh in the Big East Conference in total offense (256.5 yards a game) to second (381.5 yards a game) in 1994. He also was instrumental in the development of quarterback John Ryan, the most efficient passer in the Big East in 1994.

Prior to his Pitt appointment, Karcher served as the offensive coordinator for the 1992 World League of American Football runner-up Orlando Thunder. He also served as an assistant coach at Idaho State (1989) and North Texas (1991).

Defensive line coach Tom Turchetta returns for his fourth season on the Panthers' coaching staff and will continue to direct the defensive front for Coach John Majors. Turchetta joined the Pitt staff in March of 1992, after two seasons as the defensive line coach at Texas-El Paso.

He also played a key role in the emergence of former Pitt defensive lineman Tom Barndt as one of the best defensive linemen in the Big East.

In addition to Texas-El Paso, Turchetta also held assistant coaching positions at Memphis State, Temple, Kentucky State, East Tennessee State and Kentucky. Prior to coaching on the college level, Turchetta was the head football and wrestling coach at North Miami Beach High School, as well as the school librarian. 1994 Game Summaries

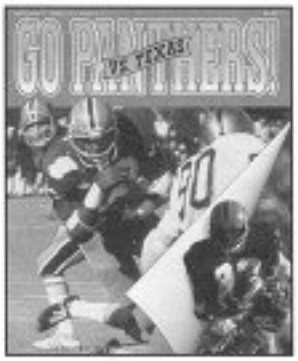
Texas 30 Pitt 28
September 3, 1994



PITTSBURGH -- Pitt opened its 105th football season, and lost its first season opener since 1986, when 18th-ranked Texas held off a late Panther rally for a 30-28 victory in both teams' season-opener at Pitt Stadium.

Pitt battled back from a 27-16 deficit and nearly tied the game in the final seconds of the game, but quarterback Sean Fitzgerald's two-point conversion pass attempt to Chad Askew fell incomplete, giving the Longhorns the two-point victory.

Entering the game as decisive underdogs, the Panthers wasted little time showing they were an improved team from 1993 and took a 6-0 lead by the 5:15 mark of the first quarter on a two-yard TD by tailback Curtis Martin, who finished with a career-high 251 yards on 28 carries.

After a Texas score, Pitt countered with its second score of the game, when Fitzgerald connected with flanker Dietrich Jells on a 64-yard pass play. Following David Merrick's school-record 54-yard field goal -- his first career field goal at Pitt -- which gave Pitt a 16-14 advantage, the Longhorns marched for their third TD of the first half, giving them a 21-16 halftime lead.

After a 50-yard field goal gave Texas a 30-22 lead with 3:36 remaining in the game, Jason Chavis recovered an Anthony Holmes fumble, giving the Panthers one last opportunity. The Pitt offense capitalized, when Fitzgerald connected with junior-college transfer Mark Butler on a 16-yard TD pass, slicing Texas's lead to 30-28 with 36 seconds left. The two-point pass attempt failed, sealing the Longhorns' victory.

Martin's 251-yard performance was the seventh-highest single-game rushing total in Pitt history. It also set a Big East single-game rushing record.

The defense was led by outside linebacker Tom Tumulty (15 tackles and one sack), and Denorse Mosley, who finished with 11 tackles and four pass deflections.

GAME 2

Pitt 30 Ohio University 16
September 10, 1994

PITTSBURGH -- Pitt scored on its first four possessions and held off an Ohio University rally late in the third quarter for a 30-16 victory at Pitt Stadium, snapping the Panthers' 10-game home losing streak.

Playing without All-America tackle Reuben Brown (hand), Pitt built a 20-0 lead through the first quarter and a half and was seemingly on its way to an easy victory. But, starting tailback Curtis Martin left the game with an ankle injury midway through the second quarter -- and did not return -- and Ohio University never relented, fighting its way back into contention. The Bobcats scored their first points of the game with 1:34 remaining in the first half to slice their deficit to 20-7 at halftime.

Ohio University continued its comeback attempt in the second half. The Bobcats sandwiched a field goal and another touchdown around a 28-yard field goal by Pitt's David Merrick to close to within 20-13. But the Panthers' defense solidified, and Ohio University could get no closer. The Panthers sealed the win with an insurance score with 3:47 remaining in the game, when third-team tailback Tim Colicchio raced 23 yards for his first TD since the 1992 season.

Sophomore tailback Billy West performed splendidly in place of Martin and rushed for a career-high 226 yards on 26 carries, giving the Panthers their first back-to-back 200-yard rushers since 1976, when Tony Dorsett achieved the feat against Syracuse and Army. Martin left the game with 31 yards rushing on eight carries. Quarterback Sean Fitzgerald completed 16 of 31 passes for 170 yards and one touchdown with three interceptions.

Linebacker Tom Tumulty led the Panthers with 14 tackles (nine solo stops), his second double-digit tackle performance of the season, while Jason Chavis finished with 10 tackles and one interception. Sophomore cornerback Denorse Mosley collected the first two interceptions of his Pitt career.

Ohio State 27 Pitt 3
September 17,1994

COLUMBUS, Ohio -- Pitt battled nationally ranked Ohio State for a half, but the Buckeyes overpowered the Panthers in the second half en route to a 27-3 victory in front of 93,454 fans at Ohio Stadium and an ESPN national television audience.

Ohio State amassed 512 yards in total offense, but the Panthers forced three of Ohio State's five turnovers in the first half and trailed by only 14-3 at halftime. The Buckeyes, though, scored on their first two offensive possessions in the second half to seal the victory.

After its game-opening drive stalled, Pitt forced the first of Ohio State's turnovers on the Buckeyes' ensuing series. Pitt inside linebacker Jason Chavis applied heavy pressure on OSU quarterback Bobby Hoying on a flea-flicker play, forcing Hoying to throw an ill-advised pass deep into coverage. Safety David Sumner stepped in front of flanker Chris Sanders for Sumner's first interception of the season and the free safety returned it 28 yards giving the Panthers excellent field position at their own 41-yard line.

The Panthers were unable to capitalize on the turnover, and Ohio State, starting deep in its own territory, used three key third-down conversions to systematically march the length of the field for a score.

The Panthers battled right back on the ensuing series. Set up by kick returner Mark Butler 's 40-yard kickoff return, Pitt scored its only points of the game on 37-yard field goal by David Merrick, who was raised near Columbus in Worthington, Ohio.

Pitt managed to penetrate Ohio State territory just twice in the second half, while the Buckeyes sealed the victory with a 13-point half.

West, who replaced the injured Curtis Martin, finished with a team-high 87 yards on 20 carries, before leaving the game early in the fourth quarter because of a shoulder injury.

Linebacker Jason Chavis led the Panthers with 13 tackles and a fumble recovery.

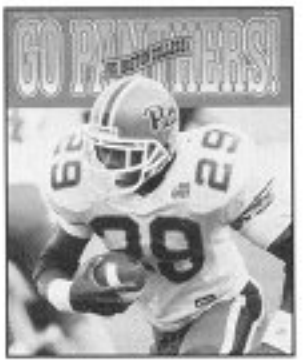
GAME 4

Boston College 21 Pitt 9
September 24,1994



PITTSBURGH -- Pitt could not overcome a 21-point surge by Boston College in the first half and lost its Big East Conference opener at Pitt Stadium, 21-9.

The Panthers spotted BC a 14-3 lead in the first quarter of the game, when the Eagles scored on two of their first three possessions of the contest. On its second offensive series, BC marched deep into Pitt territory once again, but the drive was thwarted when cornerback Denorse Mosley intercepted freshman quarterback Scott Mutryn's pass at the Pitt 11-yard line. The Panthers could not capitalize on the turnover and were forced to punt from deep in their own territory. Boston College converted the opportunity into its second score and a 14-3 lead.

Boston College scored its third TD of the game on the first play of its next possession, after the Eagles' defense recovered a Pitt fumble at the Panthers' 18-yard line, giving the Eagles a 21-3 lead.

But the Panthers, capitalizing on a recovered fumble by cornerback Anthony Dorsett, responded with a score to pull within 12 points on a fake field goal. Holder/quarterback John Ryan rolled right, connecting with fullback Maurice Washington in the right corner of the end zone for a three-yard scoring play, slicing BC's margin to 21-9 at halftime. The Panthers' two-point run by tailback Billy West failed.

Pitt's defense stiffened in the second half and yielded just 100 yards in total offense to the Eagles after intermission. Neither team managed to score in the second half for the 21-9 final.

West, starting his second straight game, finished with 170 yards on 28 carries. It was the third 100-plus yard rushing performance of his career and the second in three games for West.

Defensively, the Panthers were led by Mosley, who raised his season interception total to four with two thefts. Tumulty finished the game with a team-high 10 tackles (five solos) and collected his first interception of the season.

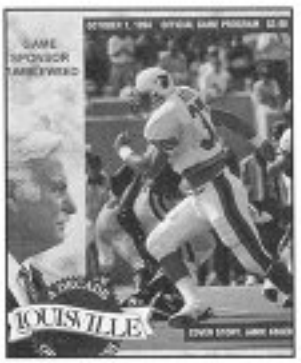
GAME 5

Louisville 33 Pitt 29
October 1, 1994



LOUISVILLE, Ky. -- Despite scoring its most points in a game in nearly two years and building two nine-point leads in the third quarter, Pitt lost its final nonconference game of the season to host Louisville, 33-29, at Cardinal Stadium.

The Panthers, however, battled to the final minute and had two scoring opportunities with less than two minutes in the game, but both drives were foiled by two Pitt fumbles. The Cardinals recovered the first fumble on Pitt's nine-yard line, but the Panther defense held magnificently and forced the Cardinals to kick a field goal, keeping Pitt's deficit to less than a touchdown. Another defensive stand by the Panthers gave Pitt the ball in good field position at the Pitt 36-yard line for one last scoring opportunity. The Panthers were unable to capitalize.

Neither team managed much offense in the first half. Junior middle linebacker Jason Chavis set up the game's first score, when he intercepted a Marty Lowe pass and returned it 32 yards to the Louisville 35-yard line. The Panthers converted the turnover into a 25-yard David Merrick field goal and a 3-0 lead.

Merrick's second of three field goals sliced Pitt's deficit to 7-6 with 2:40 remaining in the half, but Louisville scored a field goal with less than a minute left in the half for a 10-6 halftime lead.

The Panthers came out strongly in the second half and scored on their first three offensive possessions to build a 26-17 cushion. Louisville's Anthony Shelman, though, kept the Cardinals in the game, when he broke free on an 84-yard TD sprint to close the Cardinals to 19-17. Undaunted, the Panthers answered that score with another TD to regain a nine-point cushion, 26-17. But, the Cardinals added another TD and a field goal in the final quarter to seal their victory.

West finished with 158 yards on 28 carries, his third 100-yard game of the season. Fitzgerald had one of his most efficient performances of the season, passing for 217 yards (15 of 32) and one touchdown without an interception.

GAME 6

Syracuse 31 Pitt 7
October 8,1994

PITTSBURGH -- Syracuse used an overpowering offensive attack, compiling 618 yards in total offense, and a strong unyielding defense to defeat Pitt, 31-7, in the Orangemen's Homecoming game at the Carrier Dome.

With the loss, the Panthers extended their winless streak at the Carrier Dome to five games, while Syracuse maintained its first-place lead in the Big East Conference.

Pitt began the game strongly and marched systematically downfield to the Syracuse 44-yard line. But the Panthers could not convert a third-and-one opportunity and the drive stalled. After holding Syracuse on its next drive, Pitt managed to move the ball to near midfield, but once again could not convert on a third down.

Pitt punter Nate Cochran put Syracuse deep in its own territory with a 44-yard punt that was downed at the Syracuse 10-yard line. The Orangemen effectively moved the ball down the field, but a missed 33-yard field goal by Sean Reali gave Pitt its first break of the game. The offense could not capitalize and the Syracuse offense took charge of the game, erupting for 17 straight points to build a 17-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Syracuse continued its impressive offensive flurry, controlling the ball for 10 1/2 minutes in the third quarter, and extended its lead to 24-0. The Orangemen compiled 130 yards alone in the third period. Syracuse added its final score of the game on its first series of the fourth quarter before Pitt's Billy West scored on a three-yard run to make the final, 31-7.

Backup quarterback John Ryan, who made his Pitt debut at Syracuse two years ago, when he replaced injured quarterback Alex Van Pelt, replaced Sean Fitzgerald, who left the game with a sprained ankle, and performed admirably, completing 10 of 13 passes for 134 yards.

Defensively, the Panthers were led by linebacker Jason Chavis, who finished with 16 tackles.

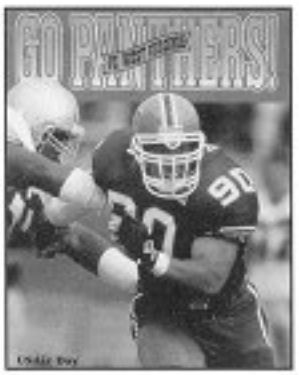
GAME 7

West Virginia 47 Pitt 41
October 15,1994



PITTSBURGH -- Pitt came within 15 seconds of snapping its four-game losing streak, but rival West Virginia scored on a 60-yard pass play with 15 seconds remaining to capture a 47-41 victory in a typically bizarre Pitt-West Virginia game at Pitt Stadium.

It was one of the wildest college football games ever played at Pitt Stadium, featuring 21 points in the final two minutes of the contest, four blocked field goals, a blocked punt, and a rare defensive extra point.

The Panthers rallied from a 31-6 deficit late in the second quarter. Backup quarterback John Ryan, who replaced starting quarterback Sean Fitzgerald midway through the second quarter, connected with Dietrich Jells on an 80-yard scoring bomb, slicing WVU's advantage to 31-12. The Mountaineers, though, produced two late scores in the first half for a 33-19 advantage at intermission.

Pitt struck first in the second half on another long TD pass from Ryan to Jells (63 yards), cutting WVU's lead to 33-26. Pitt tied the game at 33-33 early in the fourth quarter, when Pitt defensive end Tom Barndt picked up a blocked field goal -- by Chad Askew -- and raced 53 yards for a Pitt TD. It was the first touchdown of Barndt's Pitt career.

West Virginia appeared to have clinched a victory when it scored with 1:32 remaining on an 81-yard pass play, snapping the 33-33 tie. But Ryan connected with Askew on a five-yard scoring strike, and then Pitt converted the two-point conversion to take a 41-40 lead. Two plays later West Virginia spoiled Pitt's Homecoming on another bomb for the 47-41 victory.

Defensively, the Panthers registered six sacks in the game and were led by Jon McCray's 11 tackles and 1 1/2 sacks.

GAME 8

Virginia Tech 45 Pitt 7
October 22,1994

BLACKSBURG, Va. -- Entering the Virginia Tech game with one of the best special-teams units in the Big East, Pitt struggled early in the contest on its special teams, surrendering valuable field position which helped propel Virginia Tech to a decisive 45-7 victory at Lane Field in Blacksburg, Virginia.

The Panthers, who were ranked first in the conference in net punting entering the game, yielded 164 yards in total punt-return yardage, including an 80-yard touchdown return midway through the third quarter, which extended the Hokies' lead to 31-0.

Virginia Tech's special teams helped set up several of the Hokies' scores, including their first 10 points. Leading 10-0, the Hokies parlayed an outstanding reception by wide receiver Bryan Still on which he dived for a finger-tip catch, giving Tech a first-and-goal at the Pitt two-yard line. On the next play, tailback Dwayne Thomas capped the scoring drive with a two-yard run to increase Tech's lead to 17-0. Virginia Tech extended its advantage to 24-0 at the half.

Freeman's 80-yard punt return in the third quarter virtually sealed the victory for the Hokies. Tech added two more touchdowns before Pitt backup quarterback Pete Gonzalez, who replaced starter John Ryan and backup Sean Fitzgerald, scored on a 12-yard quarterback draw early in the fourth quarter to spoil Tech's shutout bid. Gonzalez completed four of six passes for 53 yards. The Panthers allowed a season-high six sacks.

Defensively, the Panthers were led by free safety David Sumner, who finished with 10 tackles.

GAME 9

Pitt 45 Temple 19
October 29, 1994

PITTSBURGH -- Pitt produced its best overall performance of the season and snapped a six-game losing streak with an impressive 45-19 victory against Temple at Pitt Stadium.

The victory was Pitt's first Big East win of the season, and improved the Panthers' record to 2-7 and 1-4 entering their bye week.

Pitt scored on its initial offensive series of the game, producing an impressive 82-yard, 11-play scoring drive, capped by quarterback John Ryan's 20-yard pass to Billy Davis to give Pitt a 7-0 lead.

After Temple responded with a TD drive, the Panthers, on the strength of Ryan's throwing arm, an effective running attack, and an unyielding Pitt defense, scored 21 unanswered points in the second quarter for a commanding 28-7 halftime lead.

Pitt's defense contributed to the scoring spree when safety David Sumner picked off Ray Burris's pass and raced 20 yards for the Panthers' first interception return for a touchdown since 1991, which gave Pitt a 21-7 lead.

The Panthers extended their lead to 24-7 to open the second half, but Temple did not give up and scored 12 consecutive points to slice its deficit to 24-19. Pitt's defense tightened, allowing the Owls just two first downs in the final quarter, and the Panthers added one more score for the 45-19 final.

West, who finished with 149 yards on 28 carries and one TD -- his fourth 100-yard game of the season -- surpassed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season. Ryan had his most effective day as a Pitt quarterback, completing 19 of 28 passes for 330 yards and four touchdowns, while Davis also had a strong peformance with seven receptions for 116 yards and two TDs. Senior Chad Askew had the best day of his Pitt career by catching eight passes for 138 yards.

Defensively, the Panthers yielded just 55 yards rushing, while forcing three Temple turnovers.

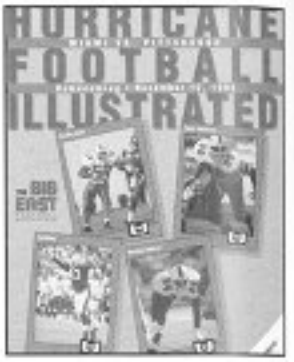
GAME 10

Miami 17 Pitt 12
November 12,1994



MIAMI, Fla. -- In a torrential downpour that even forced a 17-minute delay at halftime because of excessive lightning, Pitt nearly produced one of the biggest upsets this season and one of the most improbable wins in recent Pitt history, before falling to third-ranked Miami, 17-12, at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

Pitt's potential game-winning touchdown drive was thwarted at Miami's 30-yard line with 59 seconds remaining to end an impressive comeback attempt by the decidedly underdog Panthers.

The Panthers played solid defense all day, denying Miami's explosive offense many big plays. A major key was Pitt's ability to stop Miami's run offense, which entered the game averaging 184 yards rushing a game, and managed just 85 yards rushing against the Panthers. The Pitt offense, meanwhile, deployed a ball-control offense, featuring the running of tailback Billy West, which produced 189 yards in offense and accumulated 35:25 in offensive possession, compared to just 24:35 for Miami. Pitt also committed no turnovers, while Miami had four turnovers. West gained 160 yards on 34 carries, his fifth 100-yard game of the season.

Pitt jumped to an early 3-0 lead in the first five minutes of the game, capitalizing on the first of cornerback Denorse Mosley's two interceptions on the second offensive play of the contest. The Hurricanes answered on their next offensive series, marching 78 yards on nine plays to claim a 7-3 lead.

Mosley's second interception set up Pitt's second field goal. But, Miami scored twice in the final four minutes of the first half, including a touchdown with 1:13 remaining, for the 17-6 halftime advantage.

In the second half, while the defense continued to contain Miami's offense, the Panthers' offense controlled the clock. The Panthers marched 57 yards on 10 plays for a touchdown to cut their delicit to 17-12. Despite controlling the ball for nearly the entire final seven minutes, the Panthers could not convert the winning score.

In addition to three turnovers, the Pitt defense also produced four sacks, including two by Tom Barndt.

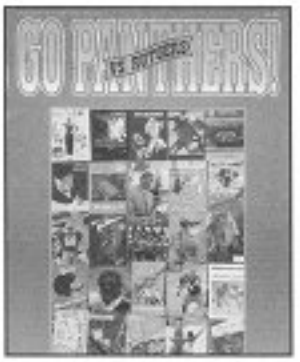
GAME 11

Pitt 35 Rutgers 21
November 19, 1994



PITTSBURGH -- Pitt closed its 105th football season with an impressive 35-21 upset victory against Rutgers at Pitt Stadium.

The victory improved Pitt's season record to 3-8 and capped a strong finish to the season for the Panthers, who won two of their last three games. The win also raised Pitt's series record with Rutgers to 10-1.

The Panthers opened the scoring, when quarterback John Ryan, who completed 20 of 31 passes for 255 yards and four touchdowns in the game, connected on a 12-yard pass to wide receiver Billy Davis, giving Pitt the early lead with six minutes left in the first quarter.

After a Rutgers touchdown tied the game at 7-7, Ryan and Davis connected on a second TD play, but the two-point conversion attempt failed, and Pitt held a 13-7 advantage with 4:28 remaining in the first half. The Scarlet Knights countered with another TD and the half ended with Rutgers leading, 14-13.

Pitt dominated the second half, erupting for 22 third-quarter points to seal the victory. After Pitt extended its lead to 28-14 with two consecutive TDs, Rutgers countered with a TD drive to slice its deficit to 28-21 with 2:27 remaining in the period, but that was the closest the Scarlet Knights would come. Pitt quickly answered with another Ryan scoring strike to Davis with two seconds remaining in the quarter for the 35-21 final. Both defenses stiffened in the fourth quarter and neither team scored.

Running back Billy West capped an outstanding season and captured the Big East rushing title with his 188-yard performance (on 30 carries). Davis finished the game with 10 receptions for 135 yards and four TDs, all career highs.

Defensively, the Panthers were led by linebackers Tom Tumulty and Hayes Clark with nine tackles each. Defensive tackle Tyler Young registered two sacks for Pitt.

A Legacy of Success

A simple accounting of the University of Pittsburgh's football accomplishments during its first 105 years would lead to an unmistakable conclusion: Pitt has a football heritage rich with achievement and glory.

Its nine national championships rank Pitt sixth in NCAA annals. The football program has produced 82 first-team All-Americans, and ranks sixth among Division 1-A schools with 39 consensus All-Americans. Only 14 schools have more victories than Pitt's 566. Pitt players have won the Heisman Trophy, the Maxwell Award, the Walter Camp Award, the Outland Trophy, and the Lombardi Trophy.

Seventeen men associated with Pitt football—players and coaches alike— have been elected to the College Football Hall of Fame, and more are on the way. There have been approximately 200 former Panthers who have played in the National Football League, while 11 men have coached in the league, including Marty Schottenheimer, head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, and Dave Wannstedt, head coach of the Chicago Bears who replaced another Pitt man—Mike Ditka.

Any listing of Pitt's gridiron immortals is a roll call of football greatness. The names Joe Thompson, Pop Warner, Jock Sutherland, Hube Wagner, Bob Peck, Tommy Davies, George McLaren, Joe Skladany, Herb Stein, Charles Hartwig, Gibby Welch, Ave Daniell, Marshall Goldberg, Bill Daddio, Joe Schmidt, Mike Ditka, Tony Dorsett, Hugh Green, Rickey Jackson, Mark May, Russ Grimm, Dan Marino, Jimbo Covert, Bill Fralic, and Chris Doleman hardly scratch the surface.

But Pitt football is about more than its great players, its victories, its awards, and its championships. It is also about courage and character and unified commitment — from first-team All-Americans to fourth-team reserves, in undefeated seasons and in years when the victory total could be counted on one finger.

While Jock Sutherland was coaching at Pitt, he once wrote an article for The Saturday Evening Post, in which he said:

"I honestly do not want to have my teams undefeated, untied, and unscored upon. [Our schedules] are deliberately arranged so that we won't win all of our games. Our idea is to play each fall the toughest set of opponents we can assemble on one schedule and then sock it to as many of them as we can.

"But at some point in the season, we want to have to face the situation of seeing whether we have what it takes to rebound after a defeat, and give perhaps one that beat us the week before the whole works. We want to demonstrate to the players and to the spectators that tomorrow is another day... and that one or two defeats are only temporary setbacks which can be canceled at the next opportunity."

FATHER AND SON -- Young Joe Walton (left) and his father, Frank, both starred for the Panthers.

Anyone who understood Sutherland would know he truly meant that. He believed more than anything in developing character.

The strong character associated with Pitt football through the decades, both in good times and in bad, perhaps can be traced to the mettle of the city of Pittsburgh and the surrounding Western Pennsylvania region.

It is an area that grew up around the steel industry, a city that used to be lit up 24 hours a day, with the night sky glowing from furnaces that burned so fiercely they were sometimes described as "hell on earth."

The close-knit ethnic neighborhoods in the cities and towns of the region spawned a strong sense of family and commitment. The relentless work ethic learned in the mills was passed along from generation-to-generation. Pride and inner toughness came from overcoming adversity and persevering in the face of long odds.

Some of these things surely have played a role in the tradition of Pitt football, permeating the players and coaches so profoundly that the football program itself has reflected the region's own strength, power, and purpose.

And like the surrounding region, which has been forced to weather the death of the steel industry and other hard times, so too has Pitt football endured difficult periods. But also like Pittsburgh, which has been reborn into a thriving city teaming with new opportunities, so to has Pitt football always bounced back from its periods of drought. It has done this with a mental tenacity and the will to win.

"There is a drive, a desire to succeed that is instilled in virtually every player that comes out of the University of Pittsburgh," says Kansas City Chiefs Head Coach Marty Schottenheimer, an outstanding linebacker at Pitt in the early 1960s. "I've been around a lot of players, both as a player myself and as a coach, and I haven't seen that same trait from the players from any other school.

"I can't exactly put my finger on why it's there, because I'm sure every team and coach attempts to teach a desire to be the best, as well as instilling an attitude of mental toughness. But it seems the players coming out of Pitt all get those qualities, ones that help not only on the football field, but in most other challenging professions of life."

More than the victories and the honors, the bonds that are established in the quest to succeed sum up more than anything else, the essence of Pitt football.

The University's administration took a "Major" step forward in December 1992, when it named John Majors its 32nd head football coach. Majors, who spent the previous 16 seasons at the University of Tennessee, directed Pitt's modern football renaissance when he inherited a program in 1973 that had been 1-10 the previous season. Majors coached Pitt to four consecutive winning seasons, including a national championship in 1976.

As evidenced by Majors' first stay at Pitt, the Panther program has been to the mountaintop more than once; both the climb and the view can be breathtaking. As Majors leads the program into a new era of competition -- Pitt's fifth season in the Big East Football Conference -- he too has set the sights high for Pitt to return to the summit.

Rating Systems

To settle countless arguments, Sports Illustrated in 1970 researched the first and only complete and wholly accurate list ever compiled of college football's mythical national champions. Every recognized authority that ever presumed to name a No. 1 is included:

Associated Press (1936-current); poll of sports-writers and broadcasters.

Park H. Davis Ratings (1889-1935); chosen by Davis, a player at Princeton in 1889 and a former coach at Wisconsin, Amherst and Lafayette, and first published in the 1934 Spaulding's Football Guide.

Dickinson System (1924-40); chosen by University of Illinois economics professor Frank G. Dickinson; based on system that awarded various point totals for wins over teams with winning or non-winning records.

Dunkel System (1929-current); a power index rating system devised by Dick Dunkel and syndicated to newspapers around the nation.

Football Writers Association of America (1954-current); chosen by a five-man committee representing membership.

Helms First Interstate Bank Athletic Foundation (1889-current); originally founded in 1936 as Helms Athletic Foundation and changed in early 1970s to Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation before current name was adopted in 1981.

Illustrated Football Annual* (1924-41); an "azzi ratem" system published in this highly regarded magazine by William F. Boand.

Litkenhouse System (1934-current); a "difference-by-score" method syndicated by Fred Litkenhouse and his brother Edward.

National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame (1959-current); chosen annually by committee representing membership.

The Football Thesaurus (1927-58); system devised by Duke Houlgate and published in book of same title.

United Press International (1950-current); poll of 35 college coaches.

Williamson System (1932-63); system of syndicated power ratings chosen by Paul Williamson, a geologist and member of the Sugar Bowl committee.

Origins Of Pitt Football

In 1889, a spindly, 130-pound lad named Burt Smyers graduated from Bucknell Academy and went on to Western University of Pennsylvania. That autumn, along with a senior named John D. Scott, Smyers gathered a small, curious, group of students together into the first organized football team at the University.

Only three members of what Smyers later called "our motley crew" had ever even seen a football contest before enlisting their services. Smyers installed himself as the quarterback. Scott, also a baseball pitcher, became a center. Frank Rhea and John McGrew were the guards; Harry Calvert and A.B. McGrew were the tackles. Calvert's brother, George, was an end, along with E. C. Shaler, an opera singer. Joe Griggs and Billy Gill were the halfbacks. The fullback was John Hansen.

That group played a game against Shadyside Academy, which it lost. "We had a long way to go before we could tear down any goal posts," Smyers recalled years later.

Pat Hartrich and Albert Marshall replaced the original ends for the first true "season" of play in 1890, and George Neale took Hansen's place at fullback.

"We started out with one football each fall and used it in every game and every practice," Smyers said. "We furnished our own uniforms and paid our own traveling expenses.

"Our equipment really was thrown together. In my own case, I had no money to spend recklessly, so I wrote home to mother and told her I needed a pair of football pants. She made them by cutting off the legs of an old grey pair and putting rubber elastic around the knees.

"The stockings were contributed by my sister. The girls wore heavier stockings than they do now. Football players also wore jackets, and I tried to describe in a letter to my mother that they were made of canvas. But the only canvas she had was from some old oat sacks around the barn. So she made me a vest of that with laces from an old corset, and I was all ready to play."

The uniforms were primitive, and it was a different game as well.

"Those were days of the flying wedge and every five-yard advance meant a first down," Smyers said. "We had four plays: end run, line buck, punt, and a lateral pass. We played our games at Expo Park and our crowds ranged from 50 to 100 people."

Many games in the early years involved high schools and athletic clubs; in fact, only 27 of the school's 56 games in the 1890s were intercollegiate.

The inaugural season's first game, on October 11, 1890, actually was something of a fluke. When a game scheduled between the Shadyside Academy and Allegheny Athletic Association was canceled because Shadyside failed to show, Western's team was summoned to Expo Park. Allegheny AA won the game, 38-0.

"We started out with one football each fall and used it in every game and every practice. We furnished our own uniforms and paid our own traveling expenses."

--Burt Smyers

Colonel Joe Thompson was a team captain, later a succesful coach, and a World War I hero.

Western also began the first of many long-standing rivalries in 1890 when it lost, 32-0, to Washington and Jefferson. The game between Western and Washington and Jefferson the following year was a rough affair, with game accounts describing Harry Calvert's head being split open, and Smyers having his nose broken. The final score added insult to injury: W & J 40, WUP 6.

The two schools enjoyed a great rivalry through the year, meeting 33 times before the series ended after the 1935 season.

Joe Trees, a talented 210-pound tackle, became Pitt's first subsidized athlete in 1891.

"We had played a few practice games with Indiana Normal (now Indiana University of Pennsylvania)," Smyers recalled, "and Trees was the biggest man on the Indiana team. I asked him if he'd like to come and play at Pitt. He said he would, but he didn't have any money.

"I arranged for the various classes at Pitt to take care of him. One class paid his tuition, another his room, and another his board."

Trees, who later made millions in oil, never forgot his alma mater, and maintained close ties with the University until his death in 1943. "Call on Joe" became a byword at Pitt, and he always came through for his alma mater. If the band wanted to make a trip to a big game but lacked funds, he would be there with his checkbook. He donated $100,000 to Trees Gymnasium, deeded the practice field to the school, gave $75,000 to the building of Alumni Hall, and bought $200,000 worth of stadium bonds.

After finishing 2-5 in 1891, WUP posted its first winning record in 1892, ending with a 4-2 mark. The following season Western hired Anson F. Harrold as its first true coach, but the team slipped to a 1-4 record.

Dr. Fred Robinson, a former Penn State player, took over as head coach in 1898 and guided the team to a 5-2-1 record, and followed that up the next year with a 3-1-1 mark.

Dr. M. Roy Jackson succeeded Robinson in 1900, and led WUP to a 5-4 record. Then Wilber D. Hockensmith coached the team in 1901, posting a 7-2-1 record.

Hockensmith also played in the late 1890s. The following are some of his recollections from the period around the turn of the century:

"In the fall of 1897, about 16 boys enrolled in the Western University of Pennsylvania who had played football in their hometowns or for preparatory schools. A student in the School of Law named Thomas Trenchard, who had graduated from Princeton, coached the varsity team. He had been quite famous as an end, and was known to players and fans as "Doggie" Trenchard. The varsity, in those days, was composed mostly of seniors and graduate students; only upperclassmen and postgraduates were considered physically strong enough to play football as it was played at that time.

The freshmen entering in 1897 organized a class team and began to play teams whenever they could be scheduled. Each player purchased his own nose guards, shin guards, shoes, and moleskin vests, which were then in vogue, and all contributed to a fund to buy a football for the first game.

"We played some of our games in the late 1890s at Recreational Park, but in 1901 we obtained the Schenley Oval for our games, introducing football to the Schenley district for the first time. The games were free to all who wished to attend."

The 1904 campaign began a string of eight consecutive winning seasons, including a 10-0 record under Arthur St. L. Mosse that year and a 10-2 mark in 1905; a 6-4 mark under E. R. Wingard in 1906, and 8-2 under scholarly John Moorhead, a Yale product, in 1907.

In 1908, Joe Thompson, a member of the undefeated 1904 squad and the captain of the 1905 team, took over as head coach through the 1912 season. Thompson was followed by Joseph Duff, who coached the Panthers until 1915, when Pop Warner took over.

The Pop Warner Era

Glen Scobey "Pop" Warner coached at Pitt from 1915-23, and under his command the Panthers evolved into a national power. His teams were 59-12-4 (.787) and were recognized as national champions in 1915, 1916 (unanimously), and 1918 (unanimously).

Some of the greatest players in Pitt history including Bob Peck, George McLaren, Tommy Davies, Herb Stein, Andy Hastings, Tiny Thornhill, H.C. "Doc" Carlson, Leonard Hilty, Dale Seis, Jack Sack, Pud Seidel, and Jock Sutherland, played under Warner.

Warner, a stalwart, 200-pound guard at Cornell in the early 1890s, when Pitt's own football program was finding its legs, began his coaching career at Georgia in 1895. He returned to Cornell in 1897, and two years later took charge at the government school for Indians at Carlisle, where he was football coach, athletic director, baseball, track, and boxing coach through 1914 except for 1904, 1905, and 1906, when he was back at Cornell.

He left Pitt in 1924 for Stanford, where he remained through 1932. He returned East to coach Temple from 1933-38, after which he retired from active coaching. His nine-year record at Pitt was 59-12-4, and his overall career mark was 313-106-32.

Few coaches in the history of college football have influenced their players—and their peers—as significantly as Warner.

"His was a contemplative and deliberate mind," wrote Allison Danzig in The History of American Football. "It was behind the scenes, in the quiet of his study, that the genius of Warner, a tinkerer whose hobby was to take apart worn-out automobile engines and put them together again, found its expression. There he worked out the stratagems, and devised the departures from orthodox football that won him recognition as one of the two most fertile and original minds football has known (the other being Amos Alonzo Stagg).

"Warner was preeminently a creator, and his fame is secure as one of the trail-blazers who led football out of the wilderness of massed, close-order, push-and-pull play into the more open game of speed, deception, and brains. His was one of the more intelligent and visionary minds that helped bring about the evolution of football from a mere physical test of unimaginative brute strength to a contest of skill in which the college youth was given the chance to show that there was something underneath his long hair besides a skull.

"There can be no questioning that Warner ranks among the greatest coaches football has known, and that he ranks second to none in the imagination, perception, and originality he brought to bear in moving eleven men upon a plain of turf."

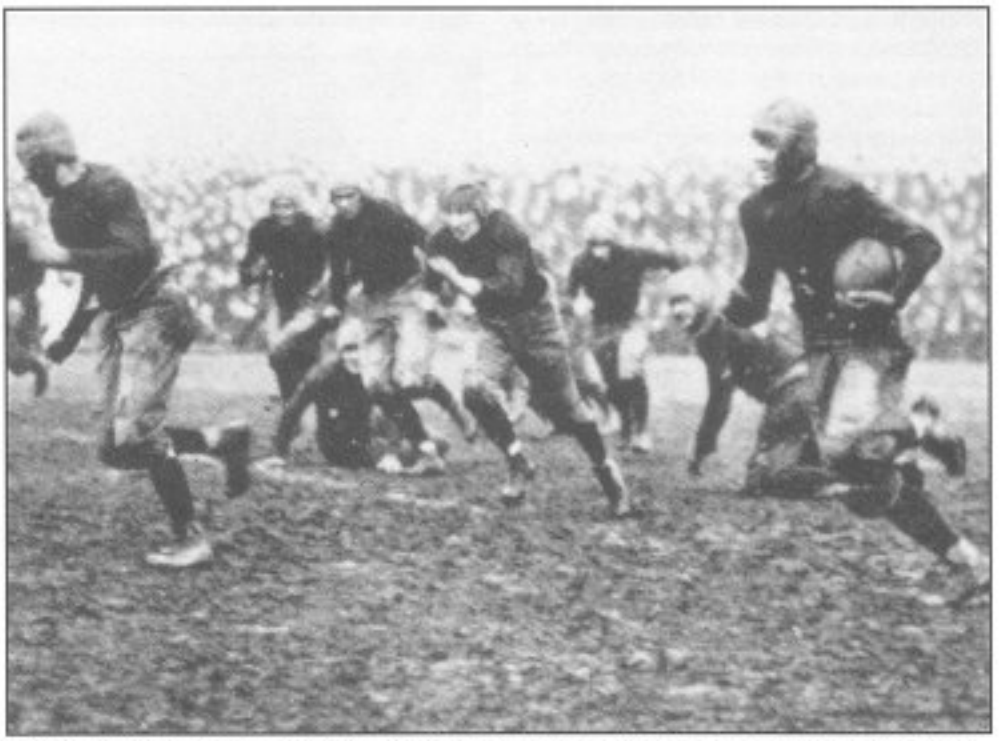
Coach Pop Warner's Pitt teams (1915-23) produced the first dominant era of Panther football excellence.

His teams operated from both the single wing and the double wing, inventions which sprang from his imagination. From those formations he used a bewildering set of spins, reverses, double reverses, fake reverses, runs from fake passes, and passes from fake runs.

Red Smith wrote in the New York Herald Tribune in 1954, "Pop Warner was a gruff old gent, kind and forthright and obstinate and honest. He was one of the few truly original minds in football coaching, and that made him a big man in his world. There is, however, a more important measure of a football coach than his contribution to and influence on the technique of the game. The quality of the man himself is revealed in the attitude of his former players after they have outgrown the awed hero worship of undergraduate days. After the boys who played for him had become men, Pop remained a hero to them."

That was certainly true of his Pitt players.

Doc Carlson, an All-American end under Warner and for 31 years a Hall of Fame basketball coach at Pitt, wrote of Warner in a letter dated March of 1953, "Over the years Glenn S. Warner proved himself to be most ingenious in football and in many of the harassing details of everyday life. From the repair of a newspaperman's eyeglasses to the invention of player equipment and the origin and development of football plays, Warner filled in many details to make a wonderful experience of association with him. Personality, originality, and the promotion of kindly human relationships are only part of the great trademarks of Glenn Scobey Warner. You couldn't tell any of his boys there was a finer gentleman, or a greater coach."



The 1917 Panthers finished the season with a 9-0 record, and shut out six of their opponents.

Jock Sutherland: A Football Man

The legacy of John Bain "Jock" Sutherland is perhaps best summed up this way: He was a football man.

Sutherland, a native of Scotland who, according to legend, played in the first football game he ever saw, is Pitt football's all-time crown jewel. Both as an All-America guard for the Panthers during a brilliant four-year playing career under Pop Warner, and later as a Hall of Fame coach whose dominating teams were knighted as national champions five times, he set impeccable standards of excellence at Pitt.

Sutherland became a larger than life figure not only at Pitt, but throughout the college football world.

When he died unexpectedly of a brain tumor in 1948, the city of Pittsburgh and the sporting world mourned the loss of one of the truly great men in sports.

"Jock, above all, was a leader," said the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette in an editorial upon his death. "This impressed you at once on first meeting him. Character, restraint, and sincerity were written in his bearing.

"There is nothing anybody can say about the passing of Jock Sutherland that isn't felt in the heart of every man and woman in Pittsburgh. In any list of the district's assets, he was close to the top."

Johnny Sutherland was one of seven children born to Mary Burns Sutherland, a descendant of the poet, Robert Burns. When his father, Archibald, suffered a fatal internal rupture trying to save the life of a fellow worker pinned under a fallen girder, Mary Sutherland sent young Johnny to America to join relatives here and escape from a life of certain poverty in Scotland.

When he arrived in America, the 16-year-old Sutherland was determined to educate himself and get ahead. After working his way through several prep schools, including one job as a night policeman in the Pittsburgh suburb of Sewickley, he entered Pitt's School of Dentistry in 1914.

During his early years in America, Sutherland focused his sturdy, 6-4, 210-pound frame on soccer, the game most popular in his native Scotland. But when Joe Duff, the Pitt football coach in 1914, got one look at this tall, strapping Scot, he convinced him to try his hand at football.

By the second game of the season, "Jock," as he came to be known, became a starting guard. He flourished at the game. Like a bridge player who understands the system behind the play, Sutherland sensed the reasons for the moves on the gridiron, and he developed into one of the greatest guards in Pitt history. He became an All-American under Pop Warner, who succeeded Duff as head coach in 1915.

Dr. John Bain "Jock" Sutherland

During his four years as a player, Sutherland only tasted defeat once; the Panthers were undefeated in his final three seasons, and were recognized as national champions in 1915 and 1916. Sutherland also had a perfect record, as both a player and a coach, against Penn State. The taste he acquired for victory as a player would carry over into his brilliant coaching career.

After a tour in the Army, during which he coached several camp teams, he accepted an offer in 1919 to become the head coach at Lafayette College. He spent five years at Lafayette, producing an eastern championship team in 1921, and defeating Pitt twice in a row.

When Pop Warner left Pitt for Stanford in 1924, Sutherland returned to his alma mater as head coach, where he remained through the 1938 season.

There was a touch of grandeur to Sutherland. Tall, strong, ruggedly handsome, with a formidable jaw and piercing blue eyes, "Jock Sutherland," wrote Look Magazine's Tim Cohane, "had a strength of mind, body, and purpose as unshakable and craggy as the hills enveloping his native Coupar Angus."

He was a commanding, almost majestic figure, an austere man of few words with a reserve not even his players could break down. To those who did not know him, he could seem forbidding. As a result, he earned a few unflattering nicknames over the years, including "the Great Stone Face," and the "Dour Scot."

"But in his relaxed hours," wrote New York sportswriter Joe Williams, "which were not infrequent, there could not have been a more companionable man. His soft, pleasing voice rolled with the thistle of his native Scotland. He had wit and wisdom and a certain grace."

None of his players ever dreamed of addressing Sutherland, either during their playing days or in later years, as anything but "Doctor." The fierce devotion and respect they had for him lasted a lifetime.

Sutherland was a stern taskmaster. He sometimes would set the pace for his players by striding up the long steep hill leading to Pitt Stadium and insisting that his players do the same. He admonished those who hitched a ride from a passing car, in his Scottish burr, to "get off that curr." The penalty for those he caught riding up the hill: extra laps.

Sutherland never criticized a player publicly, and was privately considerate of them, especially in bad times. He was their champion, who fought tirelessly for them, who encouraged them and who rejoiced proudly in every advance each made both during their college days and long afterward.

"Although he was a driver, an exacting teacher, a stern disciplinarian, Sutherland's players knew he was interested in their futures," Cohane wrote. "He steered many of them into the professions. They knew also that he was inwardly warm, sympathetic to their problems, always their defender. When they lost, they had a feeling they had betrayed him."

That didn't happen often. In his 15 years as coach at Pitt, the Panthers compiled a brilliant 111-20-12 record. Four times, playing a rugged schedule, his teams were undefeated. Five times they were invited to the Rose Bowl. Five times they were recognized as national champions.

Pitt played Notre Dame six times from 1932-1937, and the Panthers claimed victory five times. After a decisive 21-6 loss to Pitt in 1937, Irish Coach Elmer Layden decided 'no mas' and reasoned Notre Dame would be better off not playing the Panthers. "I'm through with Pittsburgh," Layden said. "We haven't got a chance. They not only knock our ears back, but we are no good the next week. I'm calling off the Pittsburgh series."

Notre Dame was just one of the powerful teams Pitt faced in those years. Sutherland insisted on playing the most formidable schedule possible, and as a result he generally resisted pointing his team for any one game. For the most part, as far as the Pitt players were concerned, one opponent was just like another. They were taught to have a high regard for all of their opponents and to go—as Jock put it—helter-skelter from whistle-to-whistle.

He managed to keep his players at a high level all season by coaching them in a calm, professional manner. Locker room histrionics had no place in his system. There were no known "Win one for the Gipper" pep talks from Sutherland.

Before a game he would tell his players what he wanted them to do. At halftime he would inform them if they had failed to do that. If they were losing at halftime, he wouldn't whip them into a fury by screaming at them, pleading with them, or shedding tears over the calamity about to befall the old alma mater.

Consequently, Sutherland's teams didn't rush out of the locker room in a lather. He simply didn't believe in furious football—the fighting, crying, hysterical kind of football. He wanted his players to fight hard all the way. But he didn't want them to play with their heads whirling and tears of rage in their eyes. That wasn't his kind of football. His teams were known for their slamming, hammering, power football. But the force they exerted was a precision that called for clear, cold thinking rather than emotion.

Sutherland was a genius of defensive football, and his teams were always powerfully arrayed on that side of the ball.

Under his command, Pitt shut out its opponents 79 times (55 percent of the time) in 15 seasons.

"His teams were hard to score on, even when you beat him, as Bernie Bierman, with two of the greatest teams in Minnesota history, found out," Grantland Rice wrote. "As great a coach as Bierman was, he needed the better material to beat Jock. They all needed better material to beat Jock. No one with inferior material ever drew a decision over Scotland's greatest football son."

Probably no football coach ever constructed a running attack with more precision, power, and sheen than Jock Sutherland. His teams were power teams, the backs running with fury behind devastating blocking.

Pitt would begin by attacking the flanks and off tackle by sweeps, cutbacks, and reverses. After the defensive line would widen to compensate, Sutherland then would attack inside tackle and up the middle.

In some ways, Sutherland wanted the center to be the best man on his team. "The running game," he said, "which is, or should be, the better part of football, depends on split-second accuracy and timing from the center. If the ball gets to the runner a tenth of a second too soon -- or too late -- the running play may be spoiled. So in looking over my talent I pick a man for center who is never rattled or hurried or upset by anything."

Sutherland, who won 111 games as Pitt's coach, later coached the Pittsburgh Steelers for two seasons.

"Sutherland rehearsed every play as if it were an investment in millions," wrote Tim Cohane. "He would trace the blocking routes with a stick until the pulling linemen ran them to the inch and split second. No other coach came closer to reducing the running game to a pure science."

As another sportswriter of the time put it, "There was no chi-chi in Sutherland football." He scorned frills and fancy stuff. The essence of his attack, which was dubbed the Sutherland Scythe, was the unsubtle, power-animated off-tackle play from the single wing he had learned under Warner. He also introduced the double-wing formation, with which Warner had experimented when Sutherland was a player. (Warner initially had been dissatisfied with the double wing, but Sutherland recognized possibilities in it which Warner, and others, would later also recognize.)

"Jock had the finest running attack football has known," wrote Grantland Rice, "and this doesn't bar Knute Rockne, Lou Little, Percy Haughton, Hurry Up Yost, Howard Jones, Pop Warner, and anyone you can mention. Jock's great Pitt teams rumbled and blasted out their yardage in the single-wing, unbalanced line attack. When Jock had the horses, which was his custom, the Panthers' attack was something to behold."

The Dream Backfield

The glory years of Pitt under Jock Sutherland in the 1930s featured tremendous backfield play, climaxing in 1938 with the marvelous "Dream Backfield."

The formation of the "Dream Backfield," which was intact as a starting unit for that one season only—1938—evolved this way:

In 1935, Frank Patrick was a triple-threat fullback, and shared the job with fellow sophomore Bill Stapulis; they were interchangeable for the next three years. The right halfback was junior Bobby LaRue, the climax man in Pitt's dreaded deep reverse, and, according to one scribe, "the neatest, most elusive runner Jock Sutherland ever had."

In 1936, a pair of flashy sophomore halfbacks joined Patrick, Stapulis, and LaRue in the Panther backfield: Marshall Goldberg, a compact sophomore fire-brand from Elkins, West Virginia, and Harold "Curly" Stebbins, a rangy all-purpose back from Williamsport, Pennsylvania. John Chickerneo, another young sophomore from Warren, Ohio, also entered the picture that year as an understudy quarterback behind John Michelosen.

Goldberg—who was named All-America at left halfback—Stebbins, Stapulis and Patrick were joined by a new sophomore phenom in 1937, Dick Cassiano. With such a deep and gifted stable of running backs, and with the clever Michelosen and Chickerneo sharing the quarterbacking job, Sutherland had an embarrassment of backfield riches. In fact, although the quartet of Goldberg, Stebbins, Cassiano, and Chickerneo would be dubbed the "Dream Backfield" the following season and would earn more fame as a unit, Pitt's 1937 backfield wrecking crew was much deeper at every position, and helped the Panthers win a national championship.

In 1938, with Patrick, Stapulis, and Michelosen gone, Sutherland felt he had to make room in the starting backfield for Cassiano, the brilliant junior from Albany, New York. Since "Dandy Dick" was a natural left halfback, and because Sutherland wanted him on the field, he asked Goldberg to switch to fullback for his senior season.

The unselfish Goldberg, who had led Pitt in rushing in 1936 (886 yards) and in 1937 (698 yards), readily complied, relinquishing his starting left halfback post to the talented, fuzzy-haired comet, Cassiano. With Chickerneo operating as the No. 1 quarterback, and Stebbins entrenched at right halfback, the Dream Backfield was in place.

The dazzling quartet became the blade of the Sutherland Scythe, earning kudos not only as the best backfield in the country, but as one of the best ever to play the game.

Fordham Coach Jimmy Crowley, one of the legendary Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, claimed the Dream Backfield was even more formidable than the immortal Irish executioners of 1924.

Crowley, who helped write football history at Notre Dame with fellow Four Horsemen Harry Stuhldreher, Elmer Layden, and Don Miller, said he never saw a backfield with the all-around capabilities of Marshall Goldberg, Curly Stebbins, John Chickerneo, and Dick Cassiano.

"The Notre Dame backs of 1924 were as fast as Goldberg, Stebbins, Cassiano, and Chickerneo," said Crowley after Pitt's 21-13 victory over Crowley's Fordham team in 1938. "We had superior passing and more skillful kicking by Layden. But we lacked the physical advantages --and consequently the power-- of the four phenomenal Panthers."

"It is extremely doubtful that any backfield ever matched them for sheer power," wrote New York sportswriter Harry Grayson. "All are highly proficient and can run in either direction.

"Goldberg, who weighs 184 pounds and stands 5 feet 10 , would be the best guard or end on the Pitt varsity were he not a back. Goldberg is the hardest runner of the four, and is of good speed, although he and Chickerneo are not as rapid as Curly Stebbins, and Cassiano is the speediest of the quartet.

"Strictly a team man, Goldberg sacrificed the running position of left halfback this fall to block, and his teammates love him for it. He kicks well enough and throws a short pass with deadly accuracy.

"Chickerneo, who calls the plays, is the ideal blocker ... would rather throw a good one than score a touchdown. It doesn't pay an end to fool Chick, for the next time the Panther quarterback will swipe him right up into the bleacher seats. Chick, who scales 188 pounds and is 6 feet 1 inch tall, kicks well enough and throws a nice, long pass.

"Stebbins weighs 192 pounds and stands 6-1. He runs like a thief and can pass uncommonly well when called upon.

"Cassiano, the smallest of the lot at 172 pounds and standing 5-10, has blazing speed, drive, and bounce, and while he plays the key position of left halfback, he has a fullback's instinct of picking up that extra yard."

A Different Proving Ground

The 1940s and early 1950s were not a glorious era of success on the field for Pitt.

The University suffered the same kinds of problems as many other "big- time" schools during the war years: decline in attendance, funding shortages,transportation problems, game cancellations, the discontinuance of athletic scholarships, and reductions in recruiting.

"Some of the more fortunate colleges escaped the dragnet of trouble by using service trainees to play football," wrote Jack Henry in Hail To Pitt, "but Pitt was among those forced to survive with 17-year-old freshmen and 4-F's. An added blow was that when the Pearl Harbor tragedy occurred, Pitt had not yet recovered from the malady known as the post-Sutherland blues."

After nearly a quarter century of coaching stability in the hands of Sutherland and, before him, Pop Warner, the head coaching position turned into a revolving door.

During the 16 years from 1939-1954 — the years between the reigns of Sutherland and John Michelosen -- seven coaches came and went: Charlie Bowser (1939-1942); Clark Shaughnessy (1943-1945); Wes Fesler (1946); Walt Milligan (1947-1949); Len Casanova (1950); Tom Hamilton (1951); and Red Dawson (1952-54).

The Panthers' record during that 16-year stretch was 57-84-3. There were only four winning seasons, no bowl games ... plenty of frustration. (By comparison, Pitt's record in the previous 16 years was 114-24-12, with five national championships, five Rose Bowl invitations, All-Americans galore, and the respect of the college football world.)

Yet if the '40s and early '50s represented a comparatively bleak period on the field in Pitt's football history, it also was a different kind of proving ground for the gallant young men who strove against long odds to try to reclaim Pitt's place among football's elite.

They weren't always successful, but according to Nick Bolkovac, a talented tackle and Pitt's captain in 1950, there were some different rewards for the players on those teams.

"The men of the Sutherland era, those of the Johnny Michelosen and Johnny Majors teams, and the players of the modern era have their own pockets of camaraderie," says Bolkovac, whose 23-yard interception return for a touchdown helped Pitt beat Penn State 7-0 to hand the Nittany Lions their only loss of the 1949 season. "Their accomplishments in each of their periods form a basis of understanding which bind them together.

"But those of us in the '40s suffered with the limited support the University gave us, we survived the politics, but more importantly we understood that mental and physical toughness were prerequisites for survival. We knew that intestinal fortitude and pride were required to overcome adversity and to enable us to stand toe-to- toe and do battle with the best the country had to offer.

"We knew how the deck was stacked, but it did not deter us. Adversity was a companion we accepted as a teacher. It taught us what we were made of and what we could be. We knew who we were and what we were. We were Pitt!

"It was that determination to defeat adversity that enabled us to garner many unexpected victories and many near victories. And I believe what gave us our strength to persevere, what gave us the determination to stand up to the best, was the Pitt spirit and tradition. That tradition may have been tarnished slightly during our era, but it was never trampled upon. In many ways, it may have been Pitt's finest hour."

Pitt and Nebraska battle it out in a 1955 game at Pitt Stadium, which the Panthers won 21-7. Pitt's 15 victories against the Huskers are the second most by any team from outside the Big 8.

John Paluck was a standout defensive lineman who lettered from 1953-55.

Pitt certainly also had its share of stars during that era. Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones was a wonderful running back in the early 1940s. He almost single-handedly helped Pitt upset a great Fordham team in 1941 with a performance that ranks among Pitt's greatest.

"It was the most amazing individual performance I have ever seen," said Fordham Head Coach Jimmy Crowley of Jones's effort, which included 106 yards rushing, returning an interception 30 yards for a touchdown, pinpoint passing, and continually coming through in the clutch when the Panthers needed him.

"Special Delivery" Jones was special on defense too; in 1941 he set Pitt records that still stand for most interception yardage in one game (132 vs. Nebraska) and in a season (224).

There were other standouts. Ralph Fife, an All-America guard in 1941; Jimmy Joe Robinson, Pitt's first black player and a game-breaking running back in the mid-1940s; Bill McPeak, an outstanding end and Pitt's 1948 captain; Lou "Bimbo" Cecconi, who led Pitt in rushing in 1947, 1948, and 1949 and captained the Panthers as a senior in '49; Carl DePasqua, a top back and premier punter in the late 1940s; halfback Billy Reynolds, whose 748 yards rushing in 1952 was the highest figure in between Marshall Goldberg's 886 yards in 1936 and Tony Dorsett's 1,686 in 1973; quarterback Bob Bestwick, who became the first Pitt quarterback to pass for more than 1,000 yards (1,165) in 1951; Bernie Barkouskie, an All-America guard in the late 1940s; Eldred Kraemer, an All-America tackle in 1952; and Joe Schmidt, the Panthers' All-America linebacker who played from 1950-52, and later coached the Detroit Lions.

Joe Schmidt: Football At The Boiling Point

Although Pitt's success as a team was handicapped during Joe Schmidt's career by the fact that in his four years he played for four different head coaches, he established himself—both at Pitt and later during a sterling career with the Detroit Lions—as one of the finest linebackers the game has known.

At Pitt, Joe began as a fullback and a guard, but as a sophomore Len Casanova switched him to linebacker, where he became an All-American. At Pitt, he displayed the skills of anticipation, split-second defensive instincts, and deadly tackling that made him an eight-time All-Pro with the Lions.

Schmidt was destined to be a football player from an early age.

"Joe began playing rough, tough football against full-grown men on the sandlots of Western Pennsylvania when he was only 14," wrote Myron Cope in The Saturday Evening Post. "Joe was a tackle on the St. Clair Veterans, a team that was otherwise made up of men who had served in World War II. He was a big boy then, weighing 175 pounds, but he didn't have a whisker on his chin. When the St. Clair Veterans visited the Western State Penitentiary to play a team of convicts, he had to lie about his age to get inside the prison walls."

Joe's older brother John, who had played for a Carnegie Tech team that went to the Sugar Bowl, coached the St. Clair Veterans.

It was watching John play in games against the Panthers that helped persuade Joe to attend Pitt.

His college career was rife with injuries. As a freshman, he broke two ribs. In his sophomore season he broke his wrist in spring practice and separated his shoulder in the fall. As a junior, he badly wrenched his knee in the preseason. As a senior in 1952, he tore knee cartilage in the opening game against Iowa, and then came back two weeks later against Notre Dame, in which he received a concussion and hemorrhage that put him in the hospital for 10 days.

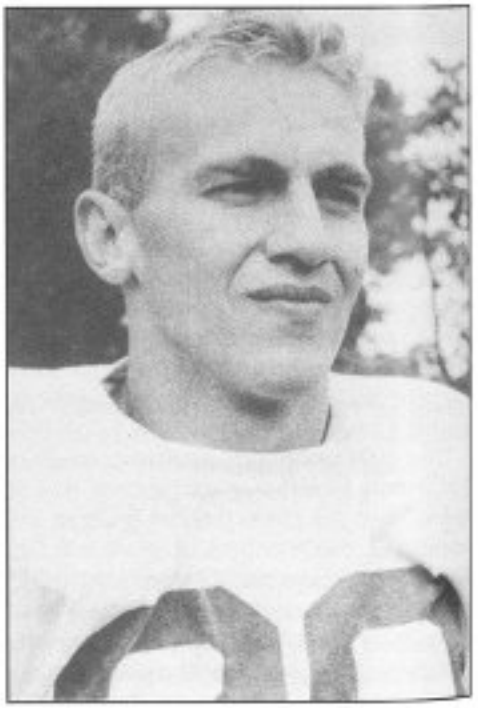
But when he was on the field, he was a force to behold.

He played the game at the boiling point. Head down, he would charge straight into thundering linemen. They would meet him head on ... with a crashing of helmets and a thudding of shoulder pads. Schmidt would split the would-be blockers like wooden soldiers and blast a ball carrier into the next county.

He personally—sometimes almost singlehandedly—led Pitt to some tremendous victories during his career—a 21-7 victory over Miami (Fla.) in 1951, a 13-7 win over Penn State in 1951, a 21-14 win over Ohio State in 1952, and the memorable 1952 victory against Notre Dame, when Schmidt's pregame address to his teammates (along with his 60-yard return of an interception) helped spirit the underdog Panthers to a 22-19 decision against the Fighting Irish in South Bend.

Following his playing career with Detroit in the NFL, which earned him a spot in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Schmidt served briefly as an assistant coach for the Lions, and then as head coach from 1967-1972, leading Detroit to its only playoff appearance in the 1970s.

Len Casanova (center) spent only one season (1950) as Pitt's head coach. From left to right: Wilbur Forsythe, John Chickerneo, Steve Petro, Herman Meister, Jack Roche, and Bob Timmons.



Lou Cimarillo was a dependable, quality running back for the Panthers from 1951-54.

Michelosen To The Rescue

In the 24-year stretch from 1915-1938, Pitt had only two head coaches. But in the 16-year period from 1939-1954, no fewer than eight men were summoned to the helm. Charlie Bowser, a former Pitt center in the early 1920s, replaced Jock Sutherland in 1939, but stepped aside three years later after back-to-back 3-6 logs in 1941 and 1942.

Amid tremendous fanfare, Clark Shaughnessy took over for Bowser. Shaughnessy, who had guided Stanford to a perfect season in 1940 and later achieved fame as an offensive genius in the NFL, stayed only three years at Pitt, compiling a 10-17 record.

Wes Fesler, a combination All-America end and matinee idol from Ohio State, gave it a shot for one season (1946), but returned to coach his alma mater in 1947. A former Pitt guard, Mike Milligan, stepped up from an assistant's post to replace Fesler. After a rocky beginning, he had a pair of satisfactory 6-3 seasons in 1948 and 1949, then left in a dispute over his contract longevity.

Len Casanova of Santa Clara fame took over in 1950. From the beginning, his wife yearned to return to the west coast, and when Pittsburgh received a record snowfall in 1950 (until the March 1993 blizzard), her pleading picked up momentum. A 1-8 record and a job offer from Oregon persuaded Casanova to leave.

Tom Hamilton, who had been named athletic director in 1949, took over the coaching for one year, then brought in Lowell "Red" Dawson in 1952. When Dawson became ill in 1954, Hamilton again handled both jobs.

In 1955, Pitt reached back into its past and selected John Michelosen to breathe renewed vigor into its ailing football program.

Since his playing days as a quarterback and captain under Jock Sutherland in the mid-1930s, Michelosen had become, in some ways, almost an extension of the good Doctor.

After Michelosen graduated in 1938, Sutherland made him his backfield coach at Pitt. When Sutherland resigned after the 1938 season, he and Michelosen walked away together. Sutherland became a head coach in the NFL, where Michelosen continued his apprenticeship under his mentor, first with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and then with the Pittsburgh Steelers. When Sutherland died unexpectedly in 1948, the Steelers by right of succession promoted the 32-year-old Michelosen to head coach.

Michelosen, a strong, silent figure who embodied much of Sutherland's football philosophy, returned to Pitt in 1952 as the top defensive coach after being dismissed by the Steelers. In 1955, after incorporating some of the old single-wing blocking principles into Pitt's split-T offense -- as well as inspiring his men to play a lethal brand of defense -- Michelosen guided the Panthers to a 7-4 record and a berth in the Sugar Bowl -- Pitt's first bowl game in 19 years.

John Michelosen served Pitt as both a player and a coach.

"When you played under John Michelosen, you knew how to block and tackle. . .He was a master of teaching fundamentals."

--Joe Walton

Proving that was no fluke, Pitt finished 7-3-1 the following season, and earned an invitation to the Gator Bowl.

Pitt lost both bowl games--both against Georgia Tech--but the football program was back on firm ground, playing solid, fundamental football on both sides of the ball.

"When you played under John Michelosen," said Joe Walton, an All-America end for the Panthers in the mid-1950s, "you knew how to block and tackle. We were a strong running football team, and we played good, tough defense. He was a master of teaching fundamentals."

In 1955, Pitt had held Syracuse's great Jim Brown to just 38 yards rushing. Penn State's Lenny Moore could manage only 10 yards in 13 carries against the Panthers that year. The following season, Pitt again stopped Brown, holding him to 52 yards. Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, the Heisman Trophy winner, had to struggle to manage 59 yards.

"Slowly but surely," wrote The Owl, Pitt's student yearbook, "Coach Johnny Michelosen's Panthers are showing the nation that a team unversed in theatrics and sleight-of-hand magic tricks can play winning football. For the second consecutive year Pitt finished in the upper echelon of football powers—and did it with a relentless, hard-driving ground attack and a sturdy defense."

It was true. That was the way the Panthers played under Michelosen, whose passionate devotion to the game's fundamental elements mirrored that of Sutherland.

"They didn't depend upon tricks of any sort to win ball games," continued The Owl. "They used talented material coached to perfection in the fundamentals—and it worked better than any razzle-dazzle that numerous coaches have used at Pitt since Jock Sutherland left in 1938."

Pitt dipped to 4-6 in 1957 before posting three consecutive winning seasons, including a 4-3-3 mark in 1960. The '60 campaign was an odd one that included three identical 7-7 ties and a pair of one-point losses. The Panthers opened the season with an 8-7 loss at UCLA, tied Michigan State 7-7, and then fell 15-14 at Oklahoma. Convincing victories over Miami and West Virginia and another tie against TCU evened the Panthers' record at 2-2-2. Pitt then clipped Ernie Davis-led, number-one ranked Syracuse 10-0 at Archbold Stadium, and beat Notre Dame 20-13 at South Bend. But the season's third 7-7 tie — against Army, and a closing 14-3 loss to Penn State erased any bowl hopes. Still, only five points separated Pitt from 4-3-3 and 9-1.

The freshman class of 1960, which included future All-American Paul Martha, was rich with talent, and came of age in 1963, when the Panthers posted a 9-1 record — Pitt's best mark in 25 years — and finished the season ranked third in the country.

But things began to unravel the following season, when Pitt fell to 3-5-2, and Michelosen was fired in the wake of a 3-7 record in 1965.

Nevertheless, Michelosen had restored a measure of respect and stability to the Pitt program. Although it would be nearly a decade more before Pitt would come all the way back under Johnny Majors, Michelosen gave Pitt 11 solid years of wise leadership.

It was surely no accident that Joe Walton, Mike Ditka, and Marty Schottenheimer, who all played under Michelosen, later went on to become head coaches in the NFL.

The Legend Of Mike Ditka

One of the legendary figures in Pitt football history is Mike Ditka, who played under John Michelosen from 1958-60.

"Iron Mike" was a fierce tight end and defensive lineman for the Panthers, whose immense athletic skills and competitive drive earned him All-America honors at Pitt. He led the Panthers in receiving for three straight years.

Ditka then went on, of course, to earn All-Pro honors as a tight end in the NFL, and was eventually selected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He was a member of the Chicago Bears' 1963 NFL championship team and the Dallas Cowboys' Super Bowl VI champions. He also worked as an assistant coach for the Cowboys for nine seasons, and was part of another Dallas Super Bowl championship squad.

As the coach of the Chicago Bears for 11 seasons, Ditka rebuilt that franchise into an NFL power. The Bears won Super Bowl XX under Ditka and he took the Bears to the NFC Championship Game three times.

But it was at Pitt that Ditka first earned fame for his competitive fury and relentless will to win.

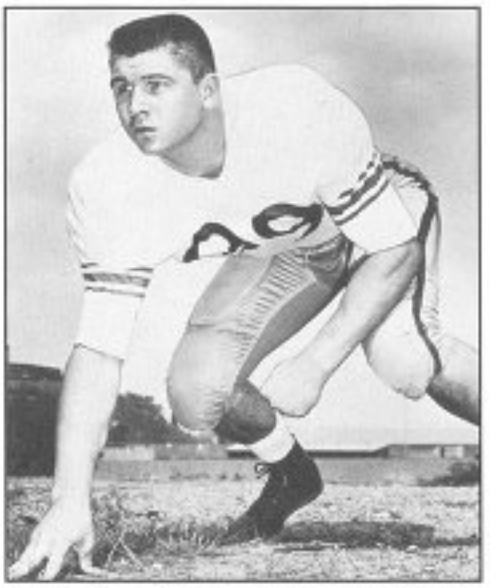
"You'd see him in the huddle, or on the sidelines waiting to get back onto the field, and you knew just by looking at him he was ready," remembers Foge Fazio, a teammate of Ditka's who later served as Pitt's head coach in the mid-1980s. "He was always ready. He was like a prize fighter in the ring. He just couldn't wait for that bell to ring and get back out there."

Ernie Hefferle, who coached the ends under Michelosen during Ditka's Pitt career, said this about Ditka: "He was the damnedest player I ever came across; you get one in a lifetime if you're lucky. He used to forearm our own guys in practice. He used to complain that our practices weren't tough enough. He wanted more hitting. All he wanted to do was hit, hit, hit."

Ditka was a three-sport athlete at Pitt. He was a baseball outfielder and was a forward on the Panther basketball team. As Jim O'Brien put it in Hail to Pitt, Ditka was an enforcer in basketball, "saving his best boardwork for the annual grudge games against West Virginia."

Bob Timmons coached Ditka in both football and basketball at Pitt. "He'll hit the first guy he sees," said Timmons. That was in both sports.

Ditka was also the intramural wrestling champion at Pitt. Rex Peery, the Panthers' legendary wrestling coach, was convinced Ditka could have been an NCAA wrestling champion had he wrestled on the varsity.



Ditka was a fierce two-way player for the Panthers. Tales of his intensity are legendary at Pitt.

Ditka was a tenacious, incendiary competitor. He was not diplomatic. He once punched two Pitt guards in the same game during huddles because he didn't think they were putting out.

Wrote O'Brien in Hail to Pitt: "In Ditka's senior season, he went after teammate Chuck Reinhold at halftime. Reinhold, a well-mannered, scholarly type, was a safety from Mt. Lebanon. He did something wrong near the end of the first half of the game with Michigan State, permitting Herb Adderly to escape his grasp and go for a touchdown.

"Not long afterward, as the Pitt squad clattered into the dressing room, Reinhold hollered, 'Let's get 'em in the second half.'

"Ditka cried out, 'If you hadn't given up that touchdown in the first half we wouldn't be in the fix we're in!' With that, he went for Reinhold. It took about six teammates to restrain Ditka."

"His last game against Penn State will always stand out in my mind," said Lou Cecconi, a former star running back for the Panthers who was an assistant coach at Pitt during Ditka's playing days. "He went in to block a punt and then played the whole game with a dislocated shoulder."

Ditka was a marauding defensive end, and claimed he may have even been better on that side of the ball.

"In the pros, Mike just played offense," said Fred Cox, a teammate of Ditka's at Pitt who went on to a 15-year career of his own as a placekicker with the Minnesota Vikings. "That was always a mystery to me, because he was such a fiery defender. He would have made one of the best linebackers ever to come near the NFL if he had been played there with the Bears."

"The attitude of a defensive player is a little bit more aggressive, and that helped me on offense," Ditka says. "That aggressive attitude helps the way you approach blocking and catching the ball and running over people - and everything else. Catching the ball means very little if you don't enjoy running with it afterward. It becomes a competitive one-on-one challenge that you really don't want just one person to bring you down."

Ditka's aggressive nature as a player always earmarked him as a leader. He captained Pitt as a senior. He captained the East in the East-West postseason all-star game. He captained the college all-stars against the NFL champions. He later captained the Bears' offensive unit.

Ditka, a native of Aliquippa, has never forgotten his Pitt roots. In 1990, he made a contribution to the University for the establishment of a $100,000 endowed scholarship fund. The fund provides valuable assistance to both male and female varsity athletes at Pitt from the Beaver Valley area who have distinguished themselves in athletic competition and in their academic pursuits.

"I think life is about paying your dues," Ditka said. "There were a lot of people that helped Mike Ditka along the way, and the University of Pittsburgh certainly played an important role during my formative years. Looking back at my college career, Pitt means to me my whole life — what I am now."

Ditka coached the Chicago Bears for 11 seasons, including a victory in the 1986 Super Bowl.

The 1963 Season: 9-1 And No Place To Go

Imagine a major college football team finishing 9-1, ranked third in the nation and not appearing in a post-season bowl game.

That is exactly what happened to Pitt's 1963 squad, which won all but one of its 10 games against a tough schedule.

The Panthers featured All-America halfback Paul Martha, fullback Rick Leeson, and quarterback Freddie Mazurek in a talented backfield, along with an outstanding line anchored by tackles John Maczuzak and All-American Ernie Borghetti.

Pitt opened the year by defeating UCLA in Los Angeles, and then beat Washington, California, and West Virginia to run its record to 4-0.

The following week, Pitt lost 24-12 at Navy, which was quarterbacked by eventual Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach.

The Panthers bounced back the next week by beating Syracuse, and then finished the season with successive victories over Notre Dame, Army, Miami, and Penn State.

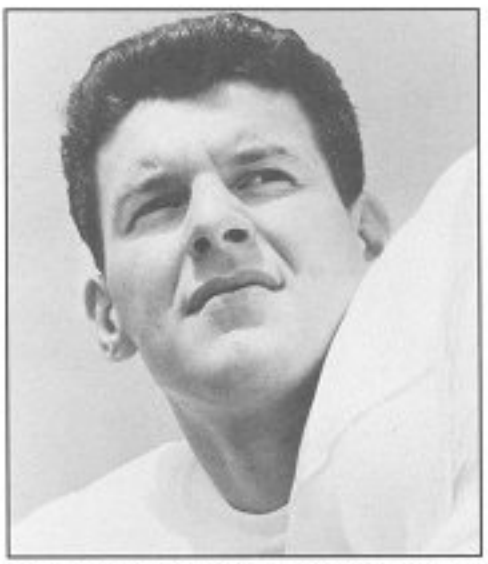
But despite its sterling 9-1 record, there was no bowl game for the Panthers. In fact, on watches the Pitt players received after the season, the inscription read, "9-1, The No-Bowl Team."

Why?

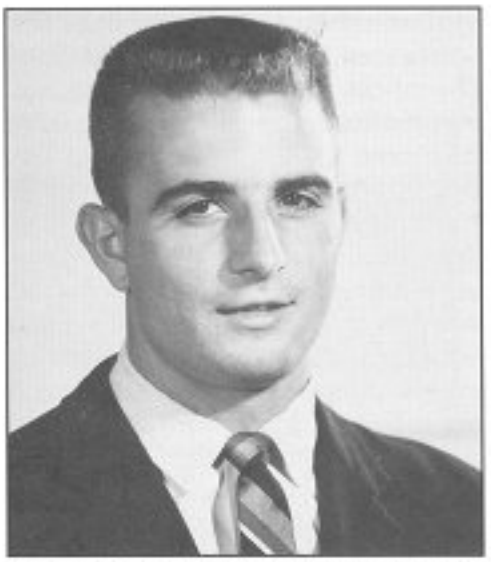
It wasn't for lack of interest by the bowl scouts. Late in the season scouts from the Gator, Sun, Liberty, Sugar, and Orange Bowls were all interested in Pitt.

After Pitt's 28-0 win over Army in the eighth game of the season, Gator Bowl representative Harold Mason said, "The Penn State game . . . I think that's the key to Pitt's season."

Pitt wound up beating the Nittany Lions 22-21, but not on the day the game was originally scheduled to be played. The game had been scheduled for Nov. 23, but it was postponed until Dec. 7 because of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22. Kennedy's death wound up hurting Pitt's bowl chances.



Ernie Borghetti was an All-America lineman on the 1963 team.



Fred Hoaglin was a sophomore lineman in 1963.

Pitt officials themselves had scratched off the possibility of playing in the Sugar Bowl, because of the prevailing prejudicial treatment against blacks at that time. Pitt, which had two black players on its team, wouldn't tolerate the bias.

"I don't think anybody had any reservations about that decision," said end Al Grigaliunas, the team captain.

The Liberty Bowl, Gator, and Sun Bowl were shunned by Athletic Director Frank Carver, because he was aiming high. He wanted Pitt to play in the Cotton Bowl, or the Orange Bowl, possibly for the national title.

As late as the eighth week of the season Pitt was the best bet to meet Big Eight champion Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

"The Orange Bowl had promised Frank Carver that if Pitt beat Penn State, Pitt would get the invitation to the Orange Bowl," said Roy McHugh, the retired Pittsburgh Press sports writer who covered Pitt in 1963. "Banking on that, Carver turned down the Gator Bowl, and maybe some other bowls, too. But Kennedy's assassination forced postponement of the Pitt-Penn State game and the Orange Bowl [not wanting to take the chance that Pitt might lose to Penn State after being chosen] picked Auburn. The key was the postponement of the game. It left Pitt high and dry."

The Cotton Bowl was high on Pitt, but it was higher on Navy. Like Pitt, Navy had a 9-1 record, but the Midshipmen owned a victory over the Panthers. Cotton Bowl officials thus opted for a natural matchup: the No. 1 Texas Longhorns vs. the No. 2 Midshipmen for the national championship. (Texas won, 28-6.)

After the Penn State game, Pitt was offered a Sun Bowl bid, but turned it down.

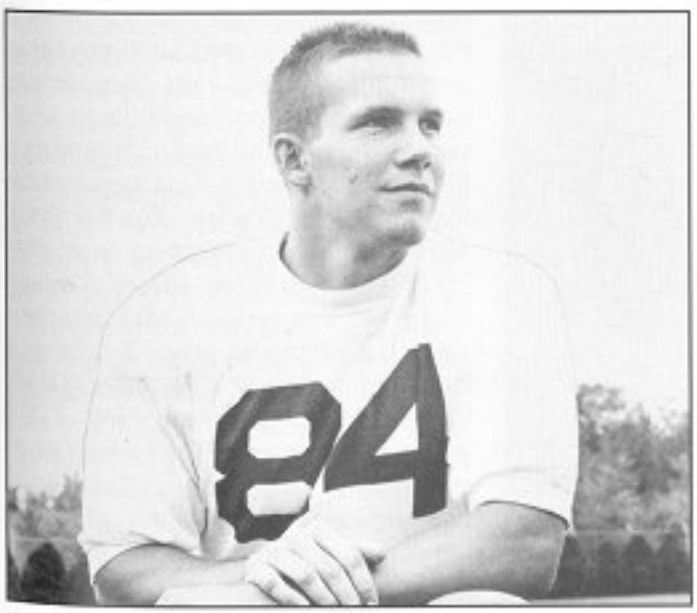
"No, I don't think we were that disappointed," said Martha, now serving as general counsel for the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League. "It was getting late in the season, and it was getting cold in Pittsburgh. And bowl games in 1963 weren't quite as big as they are today. They didn't have the lure."

"Perhaps another reason why the '63 Panthers weren't crushed about staying home was that football wasn't the main reason they were in school," wrote Mike Bires of the Beaver County Times. "Those players gave true meaning to the term student-athlete."



Bob Long was a senior end for the '63 Panthers.

A Major Change

In December of 1972, in the wake of a 1-10 season, Pitt's administration tabbed 37-year-old Johnny Majors, who had been the head coach at Iowa State, to try to reverse the Panthers' football fortunes. When Chancellor Wesley W. Posvar and Director of Athletics Cas Myslinski announced Majors' hiring at a campus press conference, they had no idea how dramatic — and how sudden — that turnaround would be. Pitt posted a 6-4-1 regular season mark, including impressive wins against West Virginia, Syracuse, Boston College, Army and Navy. A freshman halfback named Tony Dorsett set the college football world on its ear by rushing for 1,686 yards. Pitt tied Georgia, 7-7, in the first game of the Majors Era, as Dorsett rushed for exactly 100 yards. The foundation had been laid — and the catalyst found — for near-future greatness.

Chancellor Wesley Posvar (left) and Athletic Director Cas Myslinski (right) introduce 37-year-old John Majors as Pitt's 26th head football coach at a 1972 press conference.

With a winning season in 1973 as a building block, expectations were high for the 1974 Panthers. Pitt opened with road victories at Florida State and Georgia Tech, setting up an intersectional battle against Southern California at Pitt Stadium. The game was billed as a meeting between "T.D. East" (Dorsett) and "T.D. West" (USC's Anthony Davis), but the Trojans dominated the Panthers more than the final 16-7 score indicated. Davis gained 149 yards rushing to Dorsett's 59. Pitt lost at North Carolina the following week, but bounced back to win five straight games, including an exciting 35-24 home decision against Temple. That day, Dorsett missed the only game of his collegiate career because of injury, but freshman Elliott Walker stepped in and ran for 169 yards and four touchdowns. The following week, Pitt came close to scoring its first win against Notre Dame since 1963, but Irish quarterback Tom Clements (a Pittsburgh product) scored on a short run with three minutes remaining to put ND up, 14-10. Pitt senior quarterback Bob Medwid, playing in place of the injured Billy Daniels, led the Panthers on a last-ditch march to the Irish 20, but a flurry of end zone passes fell incomplete, and Pitt would have to wait another year to defeat the Fighting Irish. Sophomore placekicker Carson Long booted a 52-yard field goal in the third quarter to give Pitt its first second-half lead against the Irish since the '63 affair. The Panthers' 1974 Thanksgiving Night game against Penn State at Three Rivers Stadium was Pitt's first network telecast since 1965, but the Lions spoiled the evening for Pitt, defeating the Panthers, 31-10. Dorsett ended the season with 1,004 yards, and became Pitt's all-time leading rusher in only his second season of competition. The '74 Panthers finished with a 7-4 record, but did not receive a bowl invitation, the only time during

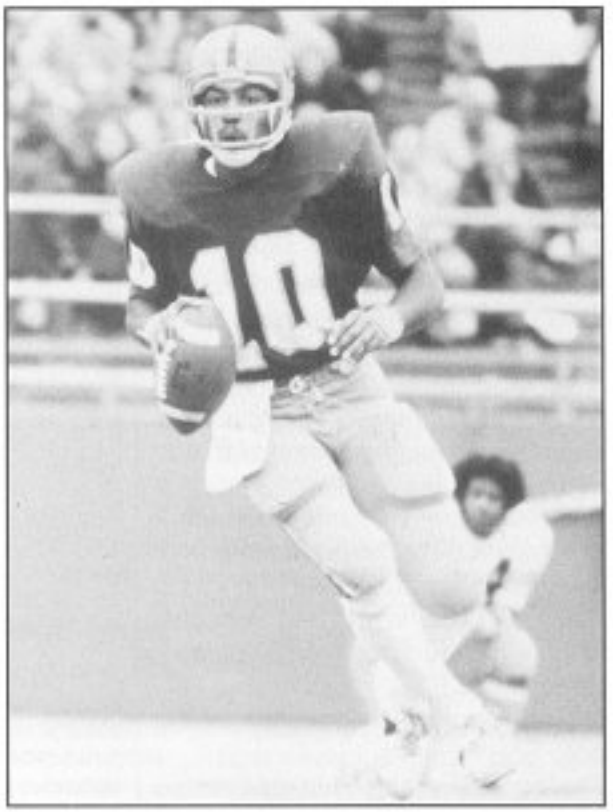
1975: "The Year of the Veer"



The 1975 season was known as the "Year of the Veer." With the explosive one-two backfield punch of Tony Dorsett and Elliott Walker (pictured above), plus speedy, shifty junior quarterback Robert Haygood (right), Pitt practically had three running backs in its offense.

Majors' first Pittsburgh stay that the Panthers did not go bowling.

With the explosive one-two backfield punch of Tony Dorsett and Elliott Walker, plus speedy, shifty junior quarterback Robert Haygood, the 1975 season became known as the "Year of the Veer." The Panthers opened the season with a 19-9 victory at Georgia before venturing to Oklahoma, where they were defeated by the Sooners, 46-10, the worst loss during the Majors Era. Dorsett ran for a career-low 17 yards on 12 carries. Pitt rebounded to post back-to-back shutouts of William & Mary and Duke, before the offense erupted in a 55-6 victory against Temple at Veterans Stadium, then in a 52-20 rout of Army at West Point. In that game, Dorsett rushed for a school-record 268 yards in less than three quarters of action. But Pitt's balloon burst the following week as Navy spoiled Homecoming '75 with a 17-0 upset of the Panthers, with Haygood going down with an injury late in the game. Sophomore Matt Cavanaugh made his first collegiate start the following week, a 38-0 shutout win at Syracuse. The Panthers lost at West Virginia, 17-14, the next week, but came back to defeat Notre Dame, 34-20, with Dorsett running for 303 yards. Pitt lost another heartbreaker, 7-6, to Penn State at Three Rivers Stadium. The Panthers finished their 1975 season as Haygood, Dorsett and Walker each topped 100 yards rushing as Pitt defeated Kansas, 33-19, at the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas, setting the stage for the 1976 season.

With 18 of the 22 starters returning from the 1975 season, a few brave souls (none of the pollsters) dared to predict that Pitt would win the 1976 national championship. The '75 Panthers ended the season ranked in both wire service polls for the first since 1963. And with a veteran team led by senior Tony Dorsett, the Panthers appeared to be a better-than-even choice against each of their 11 scheduled opponents. Pitt was originally scheduled to visit Notre Dame in mid-October, but ABC television officials, recognizing an intriguing matchup when they saw one, persuaded both schools to open the season on September 11 in South Bend. Pitt's 31-10 victory, highlighted by Dorsett's 181-yard rushing performance, provided the perfect forum from which the Panthers could state their case to the nation -- and the pollsters. The convincing win was the springboard to the most memorable season in modern Pitt football history. Along the way, Dorsett became the school's first -- and only -- Heisman Trophy winner, as well as the leading ground gainer in NCAA Division I-A history; Carson Long became the nation's all-time leading scorer; and Pitt went undefeated for the first time since the 1937 Panthers of Coach Jock Sutherland. Prior to Pitt's Sugar Bowl victory against Georgia that gave the Panthers the national championship, Majors announced his decision to leave Pitt at the end of the season to return to coach his alma mater, Tennessee, where he stayed as head coach through the 1992 season.

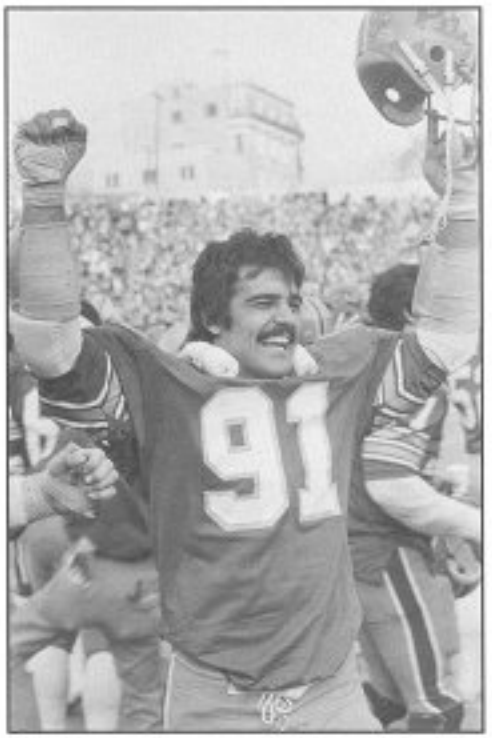
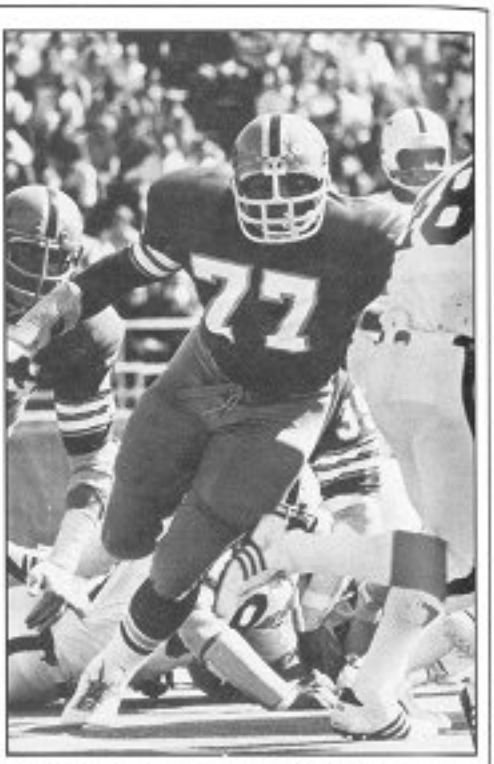
On December 11, 1992, Majors was reintroduced as Pitt's new football coach. In 1993, the Panthers exceeded pre-season expectations by winning three games, including two dramatic victories on ESPN Thursday night telecasts against favored Southern Mississippi and Rutgers.

The 1994 Panthers compiled an identical record of 3-8. The team's improvement, though, was apparent; Pitt was in virtually every game and had an opportunity to win at least three of their defeats -- Louisville (33-29), West Virginia (47-41), and Miami (17-12) -- late in the game.

The foundation laid by Majors over the last two years has set the tone for the future of the Pitt football program.





Al Romano (left) and Gary Burley (right) were two of Pitt's star defensive linemen during Majors first four years at Pitt and helped forge Pitt's defensive reputation, which became a model for college football through the mid-1980s. Romano was a three-year starter along Pitt's underrated defensive front from 1974-76. Burley, a junior-college transfer from Texas, solidified Pitt's defensive line during Majors' first two seasons at Pitt before going on to a standout NFL career with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Majors' first four seasons at Pitt were capped with the national championship in 1976, when the team finished with a 12-0 record and defeated Georgia in the Sugar Bowl, 27-3. After that game, Majors made the triumphant ride on his players' shoulders.

Sixteen years later Majors returned to Pitt in hopes of returning the Panthers to national prominence.

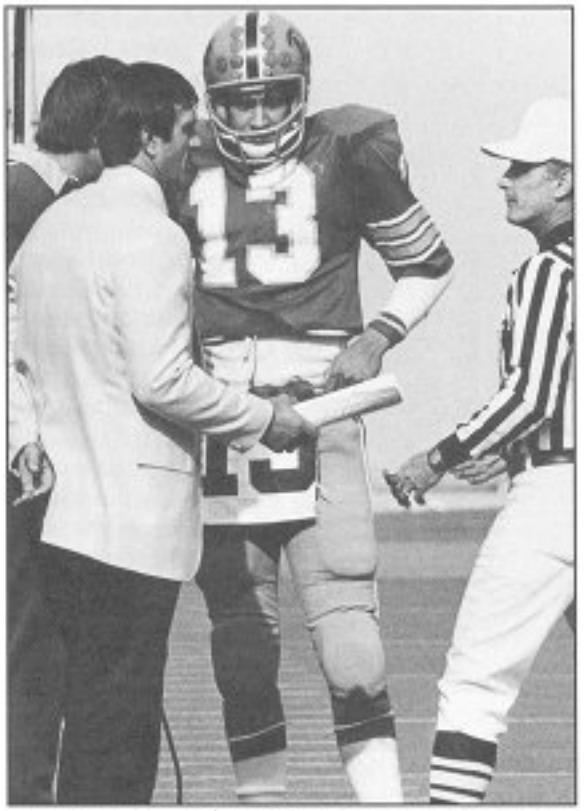
Sherrill's Panthers: Beasts of the East

The Sporting News in 1987 selected the 25 greatest college football teams of all time. The 1980-81 Pitt teams, selected as a tandem entry, ranked 12th. Pitt's 1976 national championship squad was tabbed the 17th best team in history.

In The Sporting News' tribute to the 1980 and 1981 Panthers, writer Phil Axelrod recalled a poignant moment just prior to the start of the 1980 season: "Jackie Sherrill was in a mischievous mood when he pitted college football's most overpowering defense against one of its most explosive offenses on that sultry summer afternoon in 1980.

"A sharp blast from his whistle halted practice and sent players scurrying into a huddle at midfield. Sherrill walked to the 1-yard line, put down a ball, and smiled. 'First-team offense, first-team defense,' he barked. 'Get out there.' Hugh Green, Rickey Jackson, and the rest of the Panthers' defensive crew strapped on their helmets and sauntered into position. Stoically, Dan Marino, Mark May, and Russ Grimm led the offense into position for battle.

"I knew it would be a war," Sherrill recalled. "There was a lot of talent on that field. A lot of pride, too.'



Coach Jackie Sherrill with quarterback Dan Marino, one of a long line of local greats who stayed at home during Sherrill's Pitt term.

"Marino took the snap from center, spun to his right and planted the ball into the midsection of 230-pound fullback Randy McMillan. The lines collided with a thunderous crash and McMillan lunged toward the goal line, grinding his torso through a maze of tangled shoulder pads.

"The offensive players shot their arms skyward to signal a touchdown. The defense stomped up and down in celebration.

"'We stuffed it,' remembered linebacker Sal Sunseri. "No way did they make it. They thought they made it."

"After a brief scuffle, Sherrill's directive clarified matters. Obediently, Marino and Co. tramped off to run laps as the howling defenders sprinted to the locker room.

"That was the final play of the final scrimmage of fall camp. It was also the first, and last time Sherrill pitted his first-team offense against his starting defense. I didn't do it again because I didn't want them to hurt each other,' he said. They really went after each other.'

The collection of talent Pitt had in the early 1980s was almost unfathomable. Wrote Axelrod:

"The names roll off the tongue, a litany of All-America and All-Pro talent. Hugh Green, Rickey Jackson, Dan Marino, Russ Grimm, Jimbo Covert, Carlton Williamson, Bill Maas, Bill Fralic, Mark May, Sal Sunseri.

"That was the best football team ever assembled, talent-wise," Sherrill said of his 1980 squad. "They get a lot better when you sit back and look at what they've done. Never, ever, has a team produced that many great players."

"I have never seen a college defense like that," Foge Fazio, then the Panthers' defensive coordinator, said of those Pitt squads. It was an attacking defense. They shut people down and took the ball away from them."

Green and Jackson, the defensive ends in 1980, were quiet assassins. Linemates Greg Meisner, Bill Neill, and Jerry Boyarsky howled like wild animals as they lined up over the ball. The middle three linemen in '81 -- Dave Puzzuoli, J.C. Pelusi, and Maas -- were known as the "Pac-Men."

"'The huddles were wild," Sunseri said. "We knew what we had. We knew we had the No. 1 defense in the country. We dominated teams.

"We knew there was not a tackle in the country faster than Meisner. There was nobody from a technique standpoint better than Neill. There was not a better nose guard than Boyarsky. And when you looked outside, my God, there was Hugh Green on one side, and there was Rickey Jackson on the other.

"What I had to do was clog up the middle and bounce people outside to the All-Pros.'"

All five starters in Pitt's defensive front in 1980 -- Green, Jackson, Boyarsky, Meisner, and Neill -- went on to become starters in the NFL as rookies, but that 1980 defense had some additional TNT behind it, including Sunseri, a first-team All-American, and safety Carlton Williamson, who would start for the Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers in 1981.

Marino and fellow quarterback Rick Trocano, running backs McMillan and Bryan Thomas, and receivers Julius Dawkins and Dwight Collins gave the Panthers great strength at the skill positions. But it was an immensely gifted group in the engine room -- the offensive line coached by Joe Moore -- that provided the foundation for success for those teams.

"There were games when my uniform never got dirty," said Marino. "There were games when I never hit the ground. That's incredible."

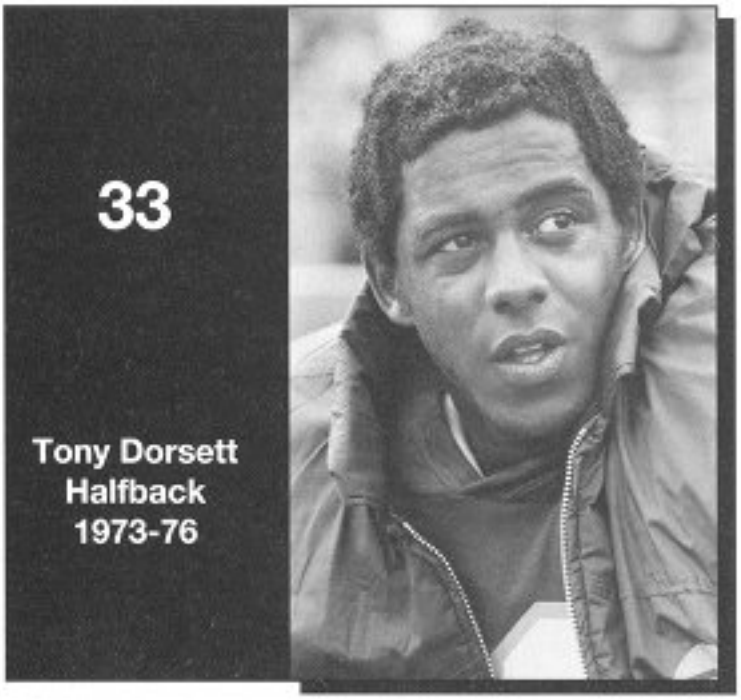
Marino's mammoth wall of protection in 1980 included tackles Jim Covert and Mark May, who won the Outland Trophy; guards Emil Boures, Rob Fada, Ron Sams, and Paul Dunn; and center Russ Grimm.

"I don't know if anybody'd ever had a line like that," said Moore. "They were mean. They were tough. They beat people up. Grimm was the leader. He was all business when he put on his helmet. He was a total football player."

And when future All-Pros Covert, May, and Grimm departed for the NFL, along with Sams, Fada, and Boures, there were some richly talented replacements waiting in the wings, including Jim Sweeney, a great lineman at Pitt who went on to have an outstanding career as a center for the New York Jets, and Bill Fralic, a three-time All-American who was one of the finest college linemen in the history of the game.

"I don't know if Pitt, or anybody else, will ever have that many great athletes at the same time," said Jackie Sherrill of his Pitt teams in the early 1980s. "We had a great player at every position on the field, offense and defense. We didn't have a weakness in those years."

Pitt's Retired Jerseys



In 1973, a skinny freshman tailback from Hopewell High School in Aliquippa, Pennsylvania, named Tony Dorsett, began a career at Pitt that would lead to a national championship, the Heisman Trophy, and individual acclaim as the greatest running back in the history of college football.

In his fabulous four-year career at Pitt, Dorsett set or tied 18 collegiate rushing records -- more than any other player in the history of college football. He established the NCAA's all-time career rushing record with 6,082 yards. (His overall total at Pitt, including his yardage from three bowl games, was 6,526.)

Dorsett added to his list of impressive accolades by being named to both the college and pro football Halls of Fame.

He was the first major college back to compile four 1,000-yard seasons. He became the first freshman consensus All-American since 1944, and was the first sophomore ever named to the Playboy All-America team.

Pitt had finished 1-10 in 1972, the year before Dorsett entered Pitt. As a freshman in 1973, Dorsett burst on the college scene with 100 yards rushing against Georgia in Pitt's opening game. In the 1973 regular season, he went on to rush for 1,586 yards, the most ever by a college freshman, while recording the first 1,000-yard season in Pitt history. He helped lead Pitt to a 6-5-1 record and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl.

In only his 15th game, early in his sophomore season, he broke Marshall Goldberg's Pitt career rushing record of 1,957 yards. He rushed for 1,004 yards as a sophomore.

As a junior in 1975, he rushed for 1,544 yards in the regular season, including a memorable 303-yard performance against Notre Dame.

In the final seven games of his senior season, as Pitt was charging toward the national championship, he averaged 215 yards rushing per game en route to leading the nation in rushing with 1,948 yards. Having finished fourth in the Heisman balloting as a junior in 1975, Dorsett became Pitt's first Heisman Trophy winner in 1976. He earned 701 of a possible 842 first-place votes for an overall total of 2,357 points, finishing far ahead of second-place finisher Ricky Bell of USC (1,346 points).

The 5-11, 192-pound Dorsett was a magical optical illusion, blending his 4.3 speed, supernatural acceleration, and Houdini-like escape artistry with open-field cutting so superbly executed it tended to escape detection by the naked eye.

As teammate Al Romano once put it, "I hate to practice against him. Trying to tackle him is like trying to catch a fly."

One revealing measure of his greatness occurred late in his senior season against Penn State. At halftime, with the game tied 7-7, Head Coach Johnny Majors decided to switch Dorsett, who despite scoring one touchdown had pretty much been held in check by the Nittany Lions in the first half, from tailback to fullback.

Dorsett wound up rushing for 173 yards and scoring a touchdown in the second half as Pitt coasted to a 24-7 win. Dorsett finished with 224 yards rushing, and his two touchdowns enabled him to break a 30-year- old-record set by Glenn Davis of Army. Dorsett scored 356 points in his four seasons, two more than Davis, the 1946 Heisman Trophy winner, had in his four campaigns as a Cadet.

"I didn't think they could run up the gut like that on us," said Penn State Head Coach Joe Paterno. "I didn't think I'd see Dorsett at fullback. We just weren't ready for the unbalanced stuff."

Asked to describe Dorsett in more detail, Paterno simply said, "How many ways can you say great?"

Pitt Head Coach Johnny Majors said it differently.

"I could coach another 100 years and never get the opportunity to coach another back like Dorsett," he said. "I consider it an honor to be his college coach."

With Dorsett setting a Sugar Bowl record by rushing for 202 yards, Pitt went on to crush Georgia, 27-3, to become the first Eastern team since Syracuse in 1959 to win the national championship.

"We had accomplished our mission," Dorsett said. "I think back to those college days often, and I can't help but smile. I've never had more fun in my life. We were a part of history. We helped save Pitt football."

And 22 years later, Anthony Dorsett Jr., son of Pitt's only Heisman Trophy winner, is the starting right cornerback for the Panthers.

Dorsett's number 33 Pitt jersey was retired in 1976.

With this touchdown run at Navy on October 23, 1976, Tony Dorsett became NCAA college football's all-time rushing leader. The Panthers won the game, 45-0.

Pitt's Retired Jerseys

Of all the kudos directed at quarterback Dan Marino during his four-year career at Pitt from 1979-82, this one from Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden summed Marino up best: "He's a pro quarterback in college, really."

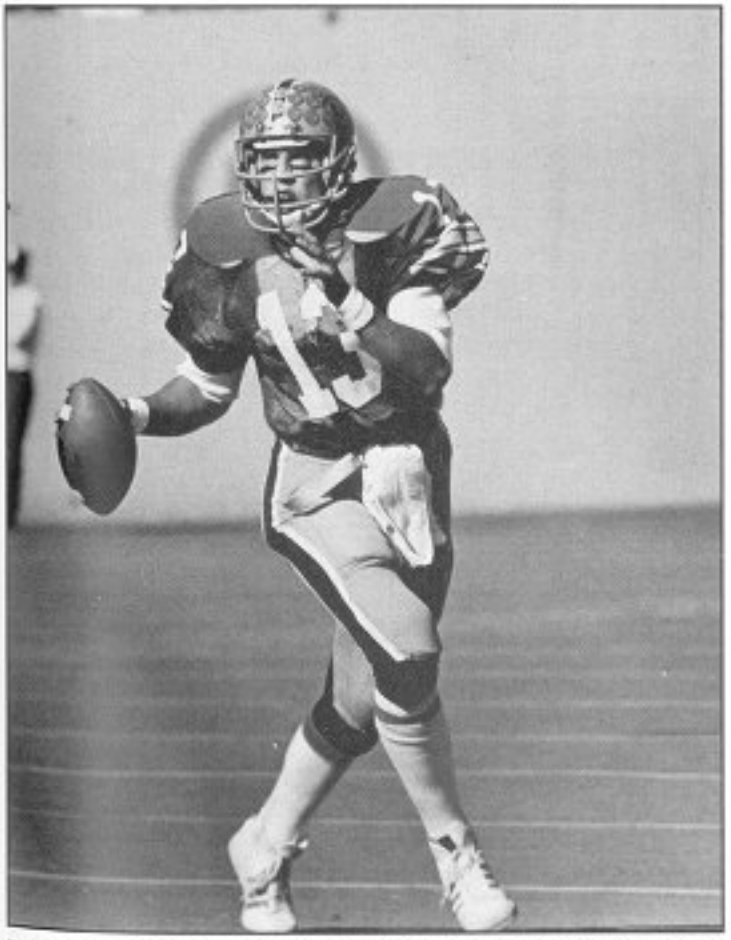
Marino, a hometown hero who attended Central Catholic High School in the shadow of the Pitt campus in Oakland, was one of the most eagerly sought high school athletes in the country, both for his immense football skills and his baseball ability.

Marino was a bona fide Major League Baseball prospect, both as a pitcher and a shortstop, and was drafted in the fourth round in 1979 by the Kansas City Royals, who projected him as a third baseman or outfielder. But he decided to cast his lot with football, and with Pitt, and by the time he graduated in 1983, he had become Pitt's all-time passing leader with 8,597 yards and 79 touchdown passes.

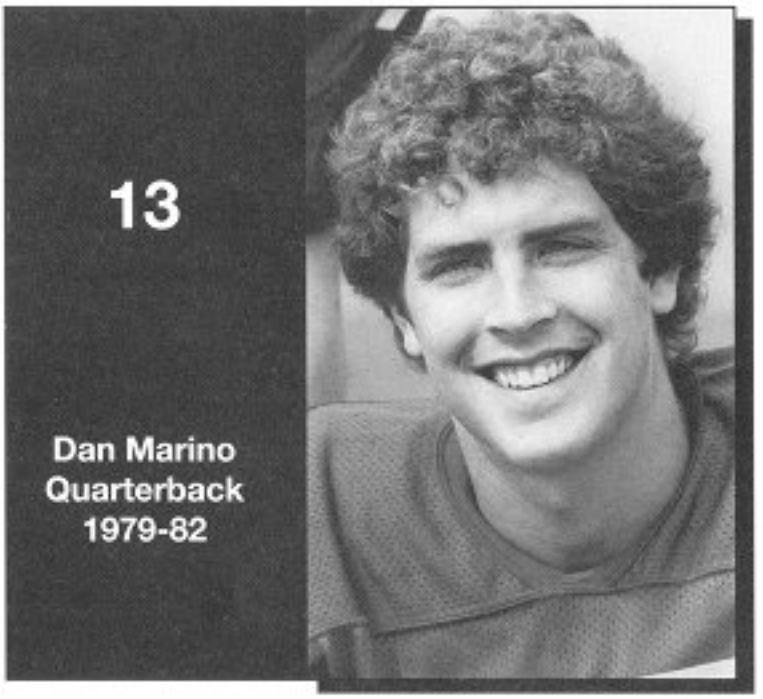
"Dan Marino is the best quarterback I've ever coached against at the collegiate level," said Penn State Head Coach Joe Paterno.

The 6-4, 215-pound All-American had a rocket-launching right arm and a lightning release. Marino was a classic drop-back quarterback. But his success as a quarterback, and as a leader, transcended his physical skills.

In 1979, Marino led the Panthers to a Fiesta Bowl victory after replacing injured Rick Trocano in the season's seventh game. He set a Pitt freshman record with 1,680 yards passing. Marino also led the Panthers to two difficult road victories against rivals West Virginia (24-7) and Penn State (29-14), and a 16-10 win against Arizona in the Fiesta Bowl.



Dan Marino finished his Pitt career with a school-record 79 touchdown passes.



As a sophomore in 1980 he was one of the country's leading passers until he was sidelined with a knee injury, and in a twist of fate, was replaced by Trocano, who had been starting at free safety. Marino had guided the Panthers to victories in five of their first six games. Even though he missed the rest of the season, Marino still finished with 1,513 yards and 14 touchdowns.

But it was his magical junior season in 1981 that truly earmarked him for greatness, and put him on a path that one day surely will lead to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton.

Marino passed for 2,876 yards and a school-record 37 touchdowns that year, leading Pitt to its third consecutive 11-1 record. He also set a single-game record by throwing for six touchdowns against South Carolina. He enhanced his reputation for delivering in the clutch in the 1982 Sugar Bowl, when he fired a 33-yard touchdown pass to tight end John Brown with just 35 seconds remaining in the game to give Pitt a pulsating, come-from-behind 24-20 victory over Georgia. That victory put the icing on the winningest three-year stretch in Pitt history-- three consecutive 11-1 seasons for a combined record of 33-3. It was also the third consecutive bowl victory for the Panthers, who defeated Arizona, 16-10, in the Fiesta Bowl to close the1979 season and crushed South Carolina, 37-9, in the 1980 Gator Bowl.

Marino closed out his career at Pitt in 1982 by passing for 2,432 yards, the fourth-highest single-season total in Pitt history, and 17 touchdowns, as Pitt, under new Head Coach Foge Fazio, finished 9-3, including a loss to SMU in the Cotton Bowl.

A first-round draft pick by the Miami Dolphins in 1981, Marino has rewritten many of the NFL's passing records and hasbeen selected to the Pro Bowl eight times, six as the starting quarterback.

He currently holds 20 NFL records and is tied for six other marks. Marino should become the NFL's all-time passing leader in 1995; he is currently second behind Fran Tarkenton in both career passing yardage and career touchdown passes (45,173 yard and 328 TDS).

Marino had his number 13 Pitt jersey retired in 1982.

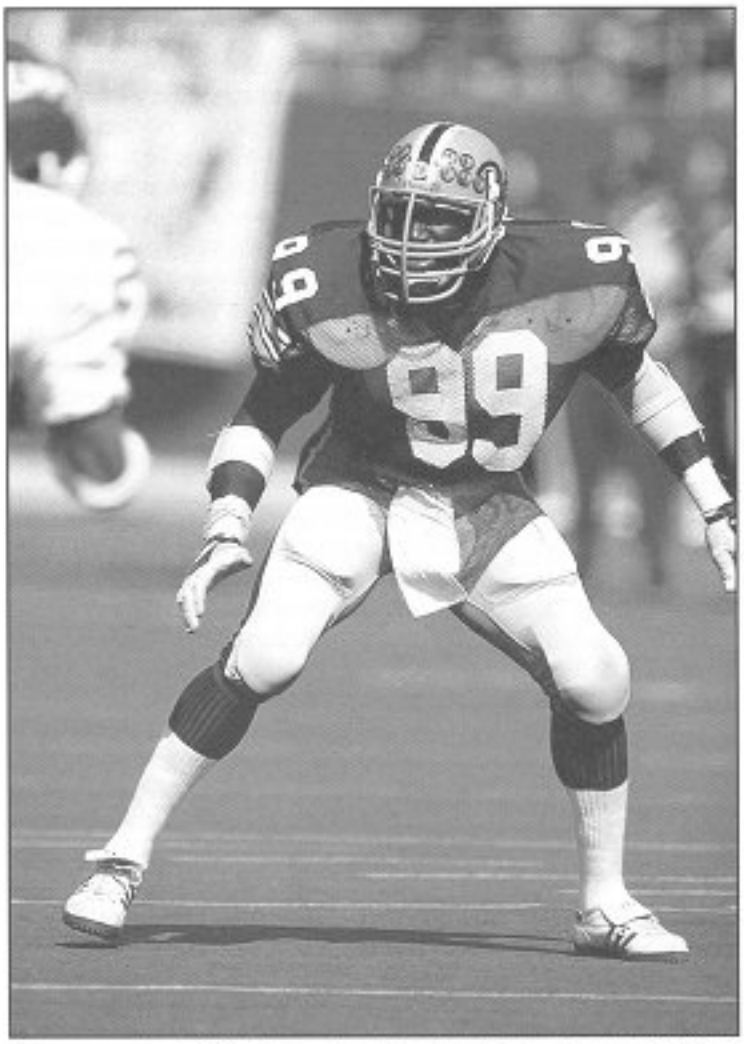
Hugh Green
Defensive End
1977-80



Green won the 1980 Maxwell and Lombardi Awards, and finished second in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

"People were petrified of (Hugh) Green. But they couldn't run away from him because we had Rickey Jackson on the other side of the line."

--Sal Sunseri
Pitt All-American

Hugh Green was an amazing player, arguably, the most devastating defensive end in collegiate history. One of the most complete packages of speed, quichness, strength and savvy ever to play the college game, Green started every game but one in his four-year career at Pitt. What Tony Dorsett mean to Pitt's offense, Hugh Green had made that much impact on the defense.

In his debut against Notre Dame as a freshman in 1977, he served notice of what was to come by racking up 11 tackles, a blocked punt, and two sacks against the eventual national champions.

His mere presence could control an entire game, something the pro scouts noticed.

Said Tampa Bay Buccaneers scouting director Ken Herock: "He was used like the MX missile, rotating from standup defensive end to all four linebacker positions, waiting for the proper time to explode. They disguised him so he could make plays, they moved him around a lot so that when the other team came up to the line of scrimmage, they'd say,'Where's Green?'"

"People were petrified of Green," Sunseri said. "But they couldn't run away from him because we had Rickey Jackson on the other side of the line."

Even when teams did try to run away from Green, it was usually fruitless.

"I remember watching from the sidelines," said John Brown, a sophomore tight end on that 1980 team. "He'd be lined up on one side, and the other team would run a sweep wide to the opposite side. All of a sudden Green would just fly across the field and the runner would just disappear in a big roll of dust, and then you'd see Green -- with his eyes real wide -- just standing over the guy. He was awesome."

The rest of the country agreed. Green, Pitt's all-time career quarterback sack leader with 53, won the 1980 Maxwell Award as college football's outstanding player and the Lombardi Award as the nation's outstanding lineman. He was the UPI Player of the Year, and was second to South Carolina's George Rogers in the Heisman Trophy balloting -- the highest finish ever by a purely defensive player.

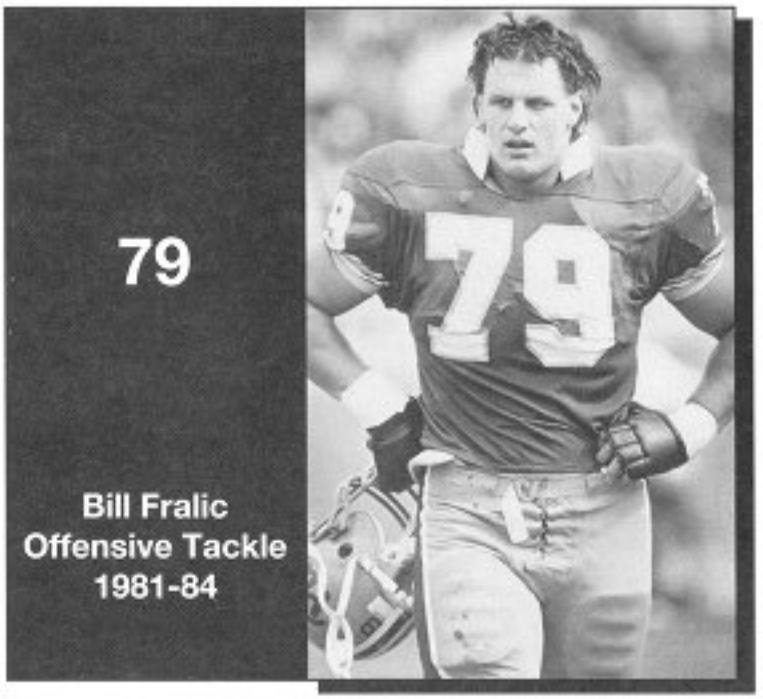
Green was a first-round draft pick by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1981, and was traded to the Miami Dolphins in 1985. He was twice named to the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl.

Green's number 99 Pitt jersey was retired during the final home game of the 1980 season.

Pitt's Retired Jerseys

"Forget Superman. He's the sissy who has to leap over tall buildings. Fralic knocks them down."

-Joe Gilmartin,
The Phoenix Gazette



It must have been a disguise.

The baby boy born to William and Dorothy Fralic on Halloween of 1962 tipped the scales at seven pounds, three ounces. Who could have predicted this growth rate?

At the age of nine, Billy Fralic weighed 175 pounds. As an eighth grader, he stood 6-foot-3 and weighed 235 pounds. And tales of his size are now almost as numerous (and legendary) as what he has accomplished in athletics.

"I've always been big," Fralic told former UPI writer Pohla Smith during an interview from Fralic's playing days at Pitt. "I was always the biggest guy in my class. Even in grade school."

At the age of 13, Fralic developed a passion for weightlifting. Somewhat envious of his older brothers Mike and Joe, who would also grow up to play college football, young Bill wanted to pump the iron and develop his frame as well, even to the point of enlisting Mrs. Fralic to serve as spotter if the two older boys weren't around.

Andy Urbanic, who was the football coach at Penn Hills, and then an assistant at Pitt during part of Fralic's career with the Panthers, remembers the uncommon dedication in Bill.

"I never remember a kid who had such specific goals at such an early age," Urbanic said. "He not only wanted to be a football player, but an offensive tackle in the NFL."

Fralic became the first sophomore ever to letter at Penn Hills, where he also became the WPIAL heavyweight wrestling champion as a junior, while becoming a Parade All-American as a senior football player. That same year, he was named Dial Male Athlete-of-the-Year, the same honor which went to Herschel Walker the year before.

Bill Fralic, a prototypical offensive lineman, had his sights set on a playing career at an early age.

Considering his prolific career and reputation as an offensive lineman, few may remember that Fralic's initial preseason (1981) camp at Pitt included a persistent question: 'Will Fralic play offensive or defensive line?'

Offensive line coach Joe Moore was the happiest man in training camp when it was resolved to play Fralic at offensive tackle, in the spot vacated by Outland Trophy winner Mark May following the 1980 season.

Following the Panthers' 1983 win against Notre Dame in South Bend, the accolades began to pick up in intensity.

"It's [playing against Fralic] something I can tell my kids 30 years from now," said Notre Dame defensive lineman Eric Dorsey. "I've read so much about him; it's like playing against a god. When you think of Pitt, you think of Bill Fralic."

Said Pitt Coach Foge Fazio: "I haven't seen a better offensive lineman as a player or as a coach. I can't believe anybody can be better than Bill."

And from his line coach, Joe Moore, one of the nation's most highly respected teachers at that position: "Bill Fralic is the best. If you can find somebody better, bring him to me. I've been privileged to coach some good ones here. But none better than Bill Fralic. Those kind only pass through once."

Fralic was a three-time All-American for the Panthers, and was the only underclassman to be among the four finalists for the Lombardi Trophy as a junior in 1983.

For Fralic's senior year, in an effort to find a tangible tool for Fralic's accomplishments, the Pitt Sports Information Office conceived the "Pancake," a statistical barometer for each time Fralic put an opposing defensive lineman on his back. An intern monitored every Pitt offensive play to determine of the Panthers ran the play over Fralic's position. In a 1983 game at Maryland, Pitt ran 11 consecutive plays over its star tackle.

One of the first players selected in the 1985 NFL draft, Fralic was a four-time All-Pro member of the Atlanta Falcons.

Fralic's number 79 Pitt jersey was retired in 1984.

The NFL Connection

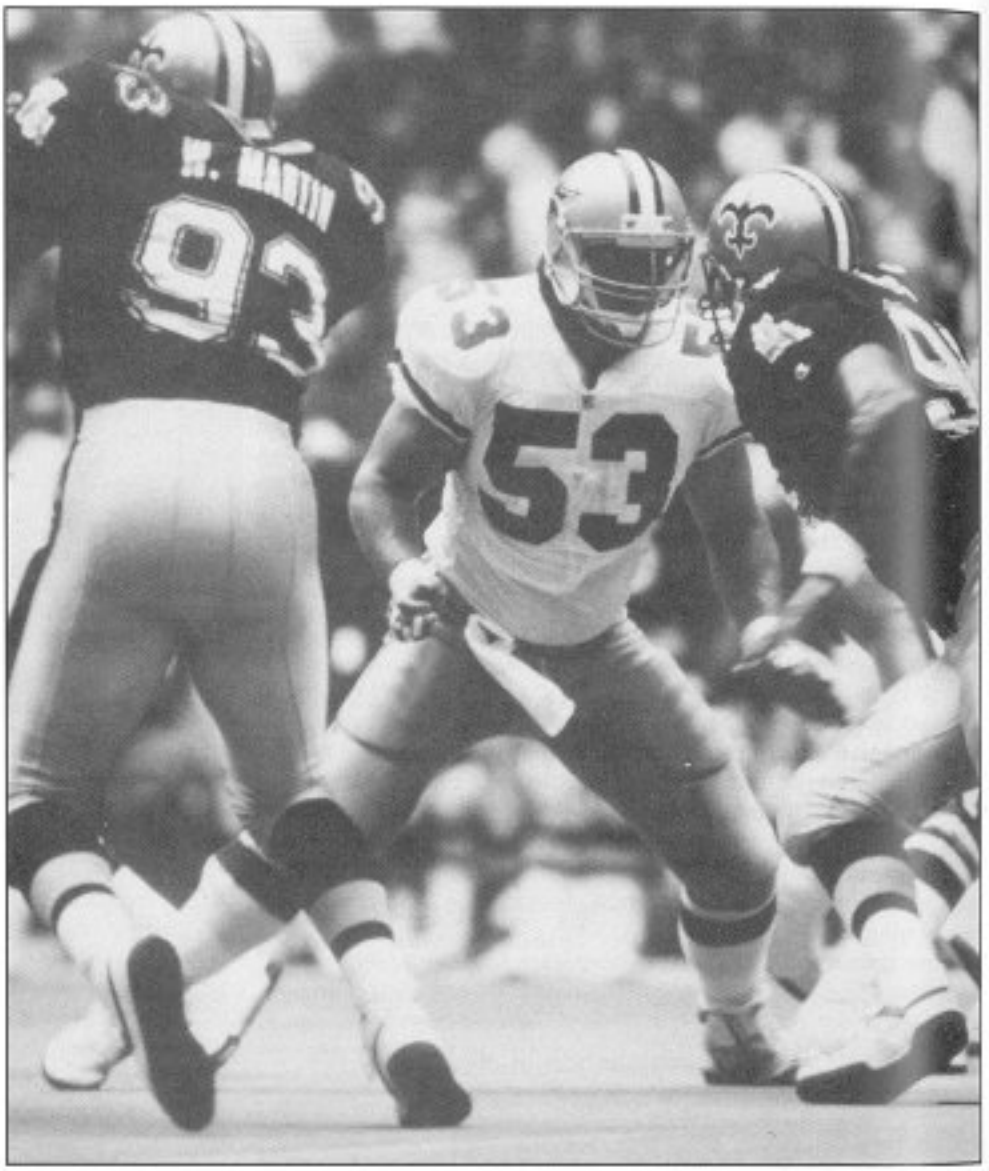
Pitt's teams from the late 1980s until the present have continued to supply the National Football League with quality players. Starting with first-round draft pick Tony Woods (by the Seattle Seahawks) in 1987 and then Craig "Ironhead" Heyward's first-round selection by the New Orleans Saints in 1988, Panther players have made their mark at professional football's most established level of competition.

Other prominent NFL draft picks who played at Pitt during the late '80s and early '90s include: Burt Grossman (first round, 1989, by the San Diego Chargers); Tom Ricketts (first round, 1989, by the Pittsburgh Steelers); Marc Spindler (third round, 1990, by the Detroit Lions); Mark Stepnoski (third round, 1990, by the Dallas Cowboys); Sean Gilbert (first round, 1992, by the Los Angeles Rams), Steve Israel (second round, 1992, by the Los Angeles Rams), Keith Hamilton (fourth round, 1992, by the New York Giants); and Ricardo McDonald (fourth round, 1992, by the Cincinnati Bengals).

In addition, former Pitt players of the late 1980s and early 1990s who continue to distinguish themselves in the NFL, include Randy Dixon (Indianapolis Colts), Jerry Olsavsky (Pittsburgh Steelers), Mark Gunn (New York Jets), and Tom Sims (Indianapolis Colts).

In April 1993, another Pitt quarterback, Alex Van Pelt, was selected in the eighth round by his adopted hometown team, the Pittsburgh Steelers. He was the first Pitt quarterback drafted by the Steelers since they selected Rick Trocano in the 12th round of the 1981 draft. Van Pelt will join the Buffalo Bills in training camp this summer.

Pitt's impressive list of NFL Draft picks increased by three in 1995, with Reuben Brown (first round, Buffalo Bills), Curtis Martin (third round, New England Patriots), and Tom Barndt (sixth round, Kansas City Chiefs) being selected.



Mark Stepnoski was an All-Pro center for the Super Bowl XXVII Champion Dallas Cowboys, but missed last year's Super Bowl triump after having late-season knee surgery. He is now a member of the Houston Oilers.

The Backyard Brawl

It is called "The Backyard Brawl," and for good reason. When Pitt and West Virginia, the Panthers' neighbor some 70 miles to the south in Morgantown, square off on the gridiron, players, coaches, and fans from both schools can count on 60 minutes of furious football.

In the 97 years since the inaugural game in 1895, Pitt has dominated the series, holding a 55-26-3 advantage. And while upsets may not have been the rule in this series, there have been more than a few.

In 1955 -- half a century after the first meeting between the two teams -- the Panthers hosted West Virginia at Pitt Stadium before a crowd of 57,996. Pitt was a slight underdog, and scouts from the Sugar Bowl and Gator Bowl were on hand to check out the Mountaineers. But after Pitt knocked off West Virginia 26-7, and followed that victory with a 20-0 whitewash of Penn State the next week, it was the Panthers (7-3) who were invited to the Sugar Bowl. West Virginia, despite an 8-2 record, went uninivited.

Ten years later, in a game played at Mountaineer Field, Pitt and West Virginia exploded for a combined total of 111 points -- the greatest offensive display in the series.

West Virginia jumped out to a 21-0 lead, but Pitt roared back to knot the score at 28. It was tied again, 42-42 before the Mountaineers went ahead ,49-42. Pitt then scored to make it 49-48, and had a chance to knot the score one more time, but instead opted for a two-point conversion, which would have given the Panthers a one-point lead. The conversion attempt failed, and West Virginia pulled away for a 63-48 win. Eric Crabtree had a phenomenal day for the Panthers, totaling 304 yards in rushing, receiving, and kick returns.

For sheer drama, the 1970 matchup might have been the greatest game in the history of the series.

"It was two games in one," said Jack Henry, a former Pittsburgh sportswriter. "West Virginia dominated the first half and Pitt the second. West Virginia was beating Pitt so bad at halftime that people were walking out.

"In the second half all West Virginia could do was hold on. If they got maybe one more first down, time would have run out on Pitt. But they couldn't do it, and Pitt could."

The Panthers were 3-1 heading into that game; West Virginia, a six-point favorite, was 4-1. The winner would emerge as the No. 1 team in the East.

West Virginia, with Ed Williams rushing for three touchdowns, spurted to a 21-0 lead early in the second quarter and led 35-8 at halftime.

Despite trailing by 27 points, Pitt came out in the second half determined to establish a running game. (Incredibly, despite trailing by big margins throughout the game, Pitt ran 97 plays, and only 16 were passes.)

No one paid much attention when Pitt tailback Dennis Ferris scored from one yard out early in the third quarter, and quarterback Dave Havern completed a two-point conversion pass to Joel Klimek to make it 35-16. But after Dave Garnett's five-yard touchdown run and another two-point conversion pass from Havern to Klimek cut the Mountaineers' advantage to 35-24, Pitt fans began to dream of a miracle.

Greg Meisner (left), Jerry Boyarsky (on ground), and Hugh Green (right), put the clamps on a West Virginia ball carrier in the Panthers' 42-14 victory in 1980.

Dave Havern engineered an improbable 36-35 comeback win for Pitt in 1970.

After another Pitt score sliced WVU's lead to 35-30, things got interesting.

"When Pitt got the ball for what was to be its final drive, there was no rush," wrote Bob Smizik of the Pittsburgh Press. "The Panthers marched 65 yards in 17 plays to the West Virginia 5 without throwing a pass. But on third and four, Havern surprised everyone by flipping to Bill Pilconis in the end zone with 55 seconds to go to put Pitt ahead."

West Virginia didn't quit, and quickly moved the ball to the Pitt 39. But the Panthers recovered a fumble and emerged with one of the most dramatic victories in its football history.

Five years ago, there was some deja vu in a classic game at Mountaineer Field.

With Pitt trailing 31-9 in the fourth quarter, the Panthers scored 22 unanswered points with fewer than 10 minutes remaining and Ed Frazier kicked a game-tying field goal as time expired to give Pitt a stunning 31-31 tie.

Three years ago, before a capacity crowd and national TV (ESPN) audience from Mountaineer Field, the Panthers avenged a 38-24 loss to WVU in 1990 with a convincing 34-3 victory in the season opener for both teams. It was also the initial Big East Football Conference game for both the Panthers and the Mountaineers. WVU returned the favor to the Panthers in Pittsburgh during the 1992 season, 44-6. Last season the Mountaineers defeated Pitt, 42-21. Strangely, it was that victory was only the first by the home team in the series since 1986, when Pitt defeated the WVU, 48-16, at Pitt Stadium.

In another bizarre Pitt-West Virginia game last year, the Mountaineers rallied for a 47-41 victory on a last-minute touchdown bomb in a game that featured 21 points in the final two minutes, seven turnovers, five blocked kicks, and a rare defensive extra-point by West Virginia.

Pitt Hall of Famers

National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Tony Dorsett, Pitt's first Heisman Trophy winner who led Pitt to a national championship in 1976, is Pitt's most recent inductee into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. He was enshrined in ceremonies in December 1994 in New York. Dorsett concluded his record-breaking career at Pitt as the all-time NCAA Division I-A rushing leader, finishing with 6,082 rushing yards.

Dorsett set or tied 18 NCAA records -- more than any other running back in the history of college football. He was also the first major college back to compile four 1,000-yard seasons and the only rusher to have three 1,500-yard seasons to his credit.

Dorsett is the only football player in history to have won the Heisman Trophy, to have been inducted in both the college and pro football Halls of Fame, and to have been a member of both a college national championship and Super Bowl championship team.

Pitt Football Coach John Majors was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame on June 10,1988, to recognize his brilliant playing days at Tennessee (1954-56).

Pitt Coach John Majors (left) and Tony Dorsett led Pitt to its last national championship in 1976 and both were later selected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

Pro Football Hall of Fame

Tony Dorsett became the second and most recent Pitt football player to be selected into both the pro and college football Halls of Fame.

Dorsett ended a brilliant career at Pitt and started his NFL career by guiding Dallas to a victory in Super Bowl XII. He left his professional mark as the NFL's third-leading rusher behind Walter Payton and Eric Dickerson.

Dorsett has the distinction of being the only player in the history of football to win the Heisman Trophy, a collegiate national championship, a Super Bowl championship, and to be elected into the college and pro football Halls of Fame.

Mike Ditka, who was inducted in 1988, was Pitt's first player to be inducted into both Halls. Ditka was an All-America tight end at Pitt in 1960, his senior season. Ditka's pro football career included All-Pro honors. He also was a member of the Chigago Bears' 1963 NFL Championship squad. Ditka worked as an assistant coach at Dallas for nine seasons and spent another 11 seasons as the head coach of the Chicago Bears. The Bears won Super Bowl XX under Ditka.

Joe Schmidt, Pitt's other inductee in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, was an All-America linebacker at Pitt in 1952. He went on to spend 13 years with the Detroit Lions, and was a member of the Lions' two NFL championship teams. He later coached the team for six seasons, and led Detroit to its only playoff appearance of the 1970s. He was inducted in 1973.

Joe Schmidt, an All-America linebacker at Pitt, was named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1973, after a brillant 13-year NFL career.

Pitt's College of Coaches

An extension of the great Pitt football tradition is the list of men who played at Pitt and/or served as assistant or head coaches at Pitt, and then moved on to coach at either the collegiate or professional levels. Products of the Panther football program can still be seen along the sidelines at college and professional football games across the United States.

Quite a few men who have worked as assistant coaches at Pitt -- but did not necessarily attend Pitt as undergraduates -- have also gone on to distinguished careers at other schools besides Pitt.

In the 104 years of Pitt football history, eight men who went to school and played their football at Pitt later coached the Panthers: W.D. Hockensmith (1901), Joe Thompson (1908-12), Jock Sutherland (1924-38), Charley Bowser (1939-42), Walter Milligan (1947-49), John Michelosen (1955-65), Carl DePasqua (1969-72), and Serafino "Foge" Fazio (1982-85).

Three former Pitt players also coached the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League. John Michelosen coached the Steelers from 1948-51, and compiled a 20-26-2 record during that period, while Jock Sutherland directed the Steelers for the 1946 and 1947 campaigns, posting a 13-9-1 mark. A third Pitt alumnus Mike Nixon--known as Mike Nicksick during his playing and assistant coaching career at Pitt -- never served as head coach of the Panthers , but was the Steelers' head coach in 1965 when the pro team played its home games at Pitt Stadium.

Another former Pitt great Joe Walton, former head coach of the NFL's New York Jets, is now the head coach at Robert Morris College, located in Pittsburgh, which won seven games during its inaugural season in 1974.

Marty Schottenheimer

Here is a list of former Pitt assistants, the years they were staff members with the Panthers, and the head coaching jobs they later had:

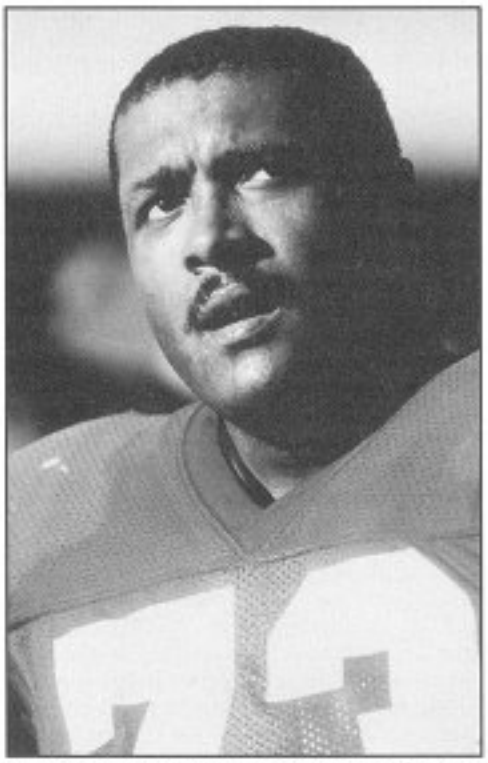
Gordon Jones, 1978, split end

Gordon Jones became an All-American in 1978 as he became Pitt's all-time receiving yardage leader with 2,230 yards. He currently ranks second. He was nicknamed "Too Much" for his ability to escape swarms of defenders and the way he made impossible catches look routine. He started his career in 1975 with a bang when he made 22 catches, four of which were for touchdowns. He played in bowl games all four years. After playing in the Senior Bowl and the Hula Bowl, Jones became a second-round draft pick of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers where he played four years. He then played his last two years with the Los Angeles Raiders, including their Super Bowl XVIII season.

Hugh Green, 1978-80, defensive end

Hugh Green was a three-time All-American for Pitt and was a strong contender for the 1980 Heisman Trophy. He finished second behind George Rogers. In 1980, Green won the Lombardi Award (outstanding college lineman or linebacker), the Maxwell Award (top college player in the nation), and the Walter Camp Award (college player of the year). He is the only defensive player to win the Walter Camp Award since its inception in 1969. Green was named to Pitt's All-Time team after only his sophomore year. He was discovered by Pitt when their coaches watched films of a running back (Rooster Jones) they were recruiting and noticed that Green was making many of the tackles for the other team. In 1980, Green's No. 99 was retired and he was named Dapper Dan Man of the Year. He was a first-round draft choice of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers where he played five years before joining the Miami Dolphins. He was a Pro Bowl linebacker in 1983 and 1984.

Tom Brzoza moved from guard to center in 1977, a move that earned him All-America honors that same season.



Mark May was an All-American and Outland Trophy winner in 1980. He is currently the color analyst for the Pitt Football Radio Network.

Mark May, 1980, offensive tackle

In 1980, Mark May ended his Pitt career by being selected as an All-America offensive tackle. He also won the Outland Trophy, which goes to the outstanding collegiate interior lineman in the nation. He was called "May Day" for the distress of defensive tackles lining up against him and because he was the blocker Pitt would call upon in third-and-short running situations. May had a combination of strength, agility and the ability to think under pressure. He was bright and articulate and represented Pitt at a number of community events. He played in the 1980 Hula Bowl and Japan Bowl. May was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins, where he played from 1981 through the 1990 season. He played in Super Bowls XVII, XVIII, and XXII, and in the 1989 Pro Bowl. He finished his career with the San Diego Chargers and Arizona Cardinals. He is currently the color analyst for the Pitt Football Radio Network.

Julius Dawkins became an All-American as a junior when he led Pitt in receiving with 46 catches for 767 yards and 16 touchdowns. He is fifth on Pitt's all-time receiving list with 1,457 yards and 13th in scoring with 138 points. He holds the Pitt record for four touchdown catches in a game, which he did twice in 1981. Dawkins also has the school record for touchdowns in a season with 16 in 1981. In 1982, he played in the Senior Bowl and the Hula Bowl. He spent two seasons in the NFL, playing wide receiver for the Buffalo Bills.

Dan Marino became an All-American in 1981 as a junior, after throwing for 37 touchdowns and 2,876 yards. He finished fourth in the Heisman Trophy voting. He finished the season by throwing the winning touchdown pass to John Brown in Pitt's come-from-behind victory over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl. Marino became Pitt's all-time leading passer after only three years and finished with 8,597 yards. He threw a touchdown pass in 19 consecutive games. His No. 13 has been retired by Pitt. In 1983, he was the first-round pick of the Miami Dolphins. He holds NFL records for yards passing in a season with 5,084 and for 48 touchdown passes thrown. He led the Dolphins to Super Bowl XIX and has been a consistent Pro Bowl performer.

Sal Sunseri, 1981, linebacker

Sal Sunseri, a four-year letterman from nearby Central Catholic High School, became an All-American in 1981. He was an enthusiastic leader as the heart and soul of the Pitt defense. He was like another coach on the field and was known for his bone-crushing tackles. In his three years at Pitt, the Panthers were 33-3 with three bowl victories while the defense allowed an average of only 11 points per game. In 1981, he played in the East-West Shrine Game and the Senior Bowl. He was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1982 and suffered a training camp injury which ended his career. Sunseri returned to Pitt where he spent eight years as an assistant coach, including the 1992 season as assistant head coach.

All-Americans

Jimbo Covert, 1981-82, offensive tackle

Jimbo Covert was a two-time All-American playing on the offensive line for Pitt. In 1982, he was one of four Panther team captains. Following the 1982 season Covert played in the Senior Bowl and the Hula Bowl. In 1983, he was a first-round draft pick of the Chicago Bears, where he played until his retirement following the 1991 season. He played in the 1986 and 1987 Pro Bowls. Covert was a member of the Bears when they won Super Bowl XX, and retired from football this past spring.

Bill Maas, 1982, defensive tackle

Bill Maas gave up promising careers in both wrestling and track to concentrate on football, and became an All-American. He didn't even play organized football until his freshman year in high school and then fully devoted himself to the sport. He established himself early when, as a freshman, he blocked a punt and recorded a sack in Pitt's Gator Bowl victory over South Carolina. He then became a starter for his remaining three years at Pitt. He played in the 1983 East-West Shrine Game. In 1984 Maas was a first-round draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs and made most NFL All-Rookie teams. In 1986 and 1987, he started in the Pro Bowl.

Bill Fralic, 1982-84, offensive tackle

Bill Fralic became a three-time All-American while earning a reputation as one of the greatest college linemen ever. NFL scout George Karras said Fralic was the most awesome offensive lineman he ever graded. Syracuse Coach Dick MacPherson said he was the best offensive lineman he had ever seen. Fralic became the first offensive lineman to twice finish in the top 10 of the Heisman Trophy voting with his eighth-place finish in 1983 followed by a sixth-place finish in 1984. His No. 79 has been retired by Pitt. In 1985, he was a first-round draft choice by the Atlanta Falcons. He has been selected to the Pro Bowl four times in his career .

Offensive tackle Bill Fralic was a three-time All-American and was regarded as one of the best offensive linemen ever in college football.

Randy Dixon, 1986, offensive tackle

In 1986 Randy Dixon was named first-team All-American by Kodak, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Foundation, UPI and the Football News. He was a formidable pass blocker and run blocker, and started three and one-half years for the Panthers. Dixon was an exceptional athlete who would often use finesse to beat his man. He was known as a determined, ambitious, strong worker. He was a starter in the Senior Bowl. In 1987, Dixon was drafted in the fourth round by the Indianapolis Colts, where he is still currently playing.

Tony Woods, 1986, defensive end

When Tony Woods was picked as an honorable mention All-American his junior year it made him very determined for his senior season. Woods was a consistent all-around player who was good in all phases of the game. He battled back from two years of injuries to become an All-American. He led Pitt in sacks for two years in a row and his four-year total of 31 places him in third place on Pitt's all-time list. In 1987, he was a first-round draft pick of the Seattle Seahawks and is currently in his seventh season with them.

Ezekial Gadson, 1987, linebacker

Zeke Gadson made the move from running back to linebacker and became an All-American in his senior season. In his only season as a full-time starter, he set a Pitt record with 24 sacks. His career total of 26 sacks ranks fourth on Pitt's all-time list. He had 137 tackles in 1987, including two 17-tackle performances. Following the season he played in the East-West Shrine Game. He was a fifth-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills.

Craig Heyward, 1987, running back

Craig "Ironhead" Heyward became an All-American in 1987. His 1,791 yards rushing that season was the second-best season ever for a Pitt runner. He joined Tony Dorsett as the only other Pitt player to rush for 100 yards or more in all 12 games. He rushed for a career-high 259 yards against Kent State. In 1987, he set Pitt records for most rushing attempts in a game (42) and for a season (387). Heyward finished fifth in the Heisman Trophy voting. He is second on the all-time Pitt rushing list with 3,086 yards. In 1987, he was a first-round pick of the New Orleans Saints, for whom he played for five seasons (1988-92). He signed with the Atlanta Falcons in 1994.

Jerry Olsavsky, 1988, linebacker

Jerry Olsavsky followed up an outstanding junior season when he was an honorable mention All-American, by becoming a first-team All-American in his senior year. He was a punishing defender who made up for his lack of size with strength, intelligence and aggressiveness. Olsavsky became the first Panther since Hugh Green (1978-80) to record more than 100 tackles in three straight seasons. He played in the East-West Shrine Game where he returned an interception 75 yards for a touchdown. He was the 10th-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers and blocked a punt in their playoff victory over the Houston Oilers in 1989.

Mark Stepnoski, 1988, guard

In 1988, Mark Stepnoski picked up numerous awards in addition to becoming an All-America guard. He was given the Pitt Blue-Gold Award which is presented to the graduating athlete with the best combination of academic and athletic achievement, leadership qualities, and citizenship. He was a recipient of the NCAA's Top Six Award, given annually to six senior student athletes based on academics, character, leadership and achievement. He was a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete Award Winner. Stepnoski became an Academic All-American for the second time and played in the East-West Shrine Game. He was one of three finalists for the Outland Trophy which is given to the outstanding lineman in college football. He was a third-round pick of the Dallas Cowboys and was the starting center for their past two Super Bowl championship teams.

Marc Spindler, 1989, defensive tackle

After missing the last half of the 1988 season with a knee injury, Spindler came back strong his junior year and turned in an All-America performance. He was selected as one of 12 semifinalists for the 1989 Lombardi Award. Spindler was one of the hardest workers on the team, and was remembered by many opponents for his jarring hits. Spindler led the Panthers with 78 tackles in 1989 and added four and a half sacks. In 1987 he started every game and set a Pitt record for most tackles as a freshman with 106. In 1989 he left Pitt a year early and was picked in the third round by the Detroit Lions.

Brian Greenfield, 1990, punter

Brian Greenfield was an All-America selection by UPI, The Walter Camp Foundation, The Football Writers Association of America, and The Sporting News. Greenfield came to Pitt in 1989 from Glendale Community College in California, and was the Panthers' regular punter for the 1989 and 1990 seasons. In 1990, he finished the season as the second-ranked punter in the nation with a 45.6 yards per punt average. He holds the Pitt record for longest punt, a 79-yard boomer against Boston College on September 8, 1990.

Reuben Brown, 1994, offensive tackle

Reuben Brown was named to the American Football Coaches Association and Football News' first-team All-America squads in 1994. A highly regarded defensive line prospect, Brown switched to offensive tackle during his redshirt freshman season and was a mainstay on the offensive line for four straight years. He was selected and played in both the Senior Bowl and Blue-Gray All-Star Classic in 1994. Brown was drafted by the Bulfalo Bills, the 14th pick overall, in the first-round of the 1995 NFL draft.

Pitt's first bowl trip resembled a politician's whistle-stop tour -- wherever Pitt was at lunchtime during its trek west, it practiced. The routine was simple: deboard the train around 11:15; explore the day's town until noon; lunch at 12; walk lunch off, then practice; reboard the train. So it was that Pitt practiced in Dodge City, Albuquerque and Winslow, Arizona, on the way to Pasadena. The game had a sentimental storyline: the coach against his mentor. Panther Coach John B. "Jock" Sutherland had played for Stanford Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner when the latter was at Pitt. Amidst all that, the game, although close, was controlled by Stanford. Pitt grabbed a 6-0 third-quarter lead when Jimmy Hagan scooped up a Cardinal fumble and ran 20 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was missed. Stanford, which made several marches deep into Pitt territory, finally scored on an unusual play. On fourth-and-goal at the two, Stanford quarterback Biff Hoffman completed a pass to Bob Sims, but it was short of the goal line. Sims was hit and fumbled, but Frank Wilton picked up the loose ball and carried it in to tie the game. Hoffman's extra point won it, 7-6. Pitt, a slight favorite entering the game, mustered very little offense in its first of four Rose Bowl games.

If vintage football films give you the impression that the game of the 20s and 30s was run, run, and run again, think again. USC's Trojans bombed Pitt with an all-out passing attack. The game started on a bright note for "Jock" Sutherland's team when Toby Uansa rushed 68 yards on Pitt's first play. Pitt failed to score, then the walls caved in. Gaius Shaver connected with Henry Edelson for a 55-yard touchdown. Later in the quarter, Shaver hit Ernest Pinckert for a 28-yard score, capitalizing on a Pitt fumble. Another fumble led to USC's third touchdown, a short run which opened the score to 19-0. Two Jesses set up the Trojans' next score when Jesse Mortensen and Jesse Hill teamed for a 51-yard pass play. Russell Saunders helped convert a USC interception into a 33-0 lead with his 13-yard scoring run. Pitt finally broke through in the third quarter when Uansa threw a 28-yard pass to William Wallinchus. Southern Cal sandwiched two more long touchdown passes (38 and 62 yards) around a Tom Parkinson-to-Paul Collins 36-yard TD pass for Pitt to arrive at the final score. In all, the Trojans scored the most points against Pitt since 1903. It would be Sutherland's second-worst margin of defeat in his 15 seasons at Pitt; the worst would come three years later, also against USC in the Rose Bowl.

Pitt's coach, John B. "Jock" Sutherland, would try a new ploy after two Rose Bowl losses, so he took the team to Tucson to practice for its first Rose Bowl win. Instead Sutherland suffered the worst loss in his Pitt career. It was the first time since 1928 that Pitt was shut out and actually lost the game; it had played four scoreless ties since a 6-0 loss to Carnegie Tech. With 83,000 in attendance, the Panthers stayed close until the fourth quarter before collapsing. USC's Homer Griffith threw, and later caught, a touchdown pass as the Trojans built a 14-0 lead through three quarters. After Irvine Warburton scored to make the score 21-0, Pitt fumbled the kickoff, and Warburton scored again shortly thereafter. A blocked punt set up the final touchdown. Several Panthers were singled out by the crowd with standing ovations: ends Ted Dailey and Joe Skladany, guard Charles Hartwig, and back Warren Heller, who rushed for 63 yards in the final game of his brilliant Pitt career.

"Jock" Sutherland was intent on winning the Rose Bowl in his fourth try. To that end, Pitt spent two weeks working out on the west coast, for Sutherland was not going to accept 0-4 in Rose Bowl play. His tactics worked, and captain Bobby LaRue led Pitt to a 21-0 victory. LaRue's running set up the first touchdown of the game, which, fittingly, he scored. LaRue's 50-yard run in the third quarter, which would have gone 75 yards for the touchdown if not for a diving tackle, set up Frank Patrick's touchdown. Pitt led, 14-0, after three quarters. The defense added a late touchdown, returning an interception. So elated was Sutherland that he substituted every player who made the trip, so each could forever relate the experience of playing in a Rose Bowl victory. After four tries, the coach had finally overcome one of the few obstacles in his remarkable career.

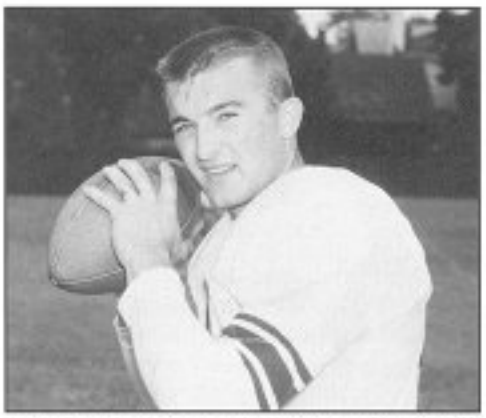
A controversial pass interference penalty against Pitt's Bobby Grier, the first black man ever to play in the Sugar Bowl, put Georgia Tech on the doorstep for the game's only touchdown. Pitt, under new Head Coach John Michelosen -- the only man in Pitt history to play and coach in bowl games (he was a quarterback on the 1936 Rose Bowl team) -- had several chances to tie the game but hit a wall of futility. Grier's penalty gave Tech the ball on the 1, from where Wade Mitchell snuck in for the score. A fumble killed a first-quarter drive, then quarterback Corny Salvaterra was stopped on a fourth-and-goal just before halftime. Pitt's Ray DiPasquale intercepted a pass to squelch a fourth quarter threat by Tech. In the final moments, Pitt made a furious attempt to tie the game. The Panthers, who were penalized twice on the last drive, were on Tech's 5-yard line when time ran out.



Corny Salvaterra quarterbacked the Panthers in a pair of bowl games against Georgia Tech.

Coach John Michelosen's team had wanted a rematch with Georgia Tech, but the result was the same -- a seven-point loss. Pitt outgained Tech by 106 yards, 313-207, but was plagued by turnovers. Georgia Tech converted an early interception into a touchdown and a 7-0 lead. Pitt was stopped on a goal-line stand at the start of the second quarter, and Tech increased its lead late in the quarter with a halfback-option TD pass. Pitt quarterback Corny Salvaterra hit Dick Bowen with a 36-yard scoring pass just before the half, and Pitt trailed, 14-7. Bowen's fumble on the second-half kickoff set up the clinching touchdown. Pitt pulled to within seven on Salvaterra's sneak, but could draw no closer.

A new era in Pitt football was ushered in with the Panthers' first bowl appearance in 17 years. Coach-of-the-Year Johnny Majors had revived a struggling program and Pitt was 6-4-1 entering this game. Freshman Tony Dorsett was a big part of the turnaround, rushing for 1,686 yards. Pitt struck first, with Dorsett scoring two plays after Tom Perko recovered Arizona State quarterback Danny White's fumble on the first play of the game. But the Sun Devils, playing on their own field, proved too tough. Woody Green scored four plays after Dorsett's touchdown to tie the game. Arizona State scored three touchdowns in 6:04 of the fourth quarter, and although Pitt blocked all three extra points, the game ended one-sided after being tied at halftime. Dorsett rushed for 100 yards, but Pitt turned the ball over seven times. Both quarterbacks, White and Pitt's Billy Daniels, threw three interceptions, but White completed 14 of 19 for 269 yards. Daniels was 7-20 for just 57 yards.

Elliott Walker rushed for 123 yards on 11 carries in Pitt's 33-19 victory against Kansas in the 1975 Sun Bowl.

A player rushing for 100 yards is impressive. Two players on the same team is remarkable. Three is unheard of, but that is how Pitt knocked off Kansas. Elliott Walker (11 carries for 123 yards, 11.2 average) got the ball rolling with a 60-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Tony Dorsett (27-142) scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. Pitt had nearly 300 rushing yards at the intermission. Quarterback Robert Haygood ran the veer offense to perfection, rushing for 101 yards (14 carries) when he wasn't busy pitching out to Dorsett. Haygood also connected with Gordon Jones for a touchdown after Walker scored his second of the game. Jones set up his own touchdown with a 63-yard kickoff return. With eight wins, Pitt had its best season since 1963. Dorsett rushed for 1,686 yards on the season, matching his 1973 total.

The many remarkable accomplishments Tony Dorsett achieved in his four years at Pitt were punctuated by his role in this win, one that gave Pitt its first national championship in 39 years. Dorsett, quarterback Matt Cavanaugh, and a marauding defense just would not be denied in the first indoor Sugar Bowl game. Cavanaugh, named the game's MVP, scored from 6 yards out to give Pitt a 7-0 lead. The celebration of that touchdown became a Sports Illustrated cover that can be seen at several sites around Pitt's campus. The photo headline simply read: "PITT IS IT!" Gordon Jones turned a short pass into a 59-yard touchdown excursion in the second quarter. Dorsett's 10-yard score late in the half cemented the victory. He was far from through, however. After gaining 65 yards in the first half, the Heisman Trophy winner exploded in the second to finish with a Sugar Bowl record 202 yards rushing, including 67 on one run that set up one of Carson Long's two second-half field goals. The defense created six turnovers, and limited the Bulldogs to 181 yards. Pitt defenders actually caught more Georgia passes than did Georgia receivers (four interceptions, compared to three completions in 22 attempts). Vince Dooley, Georgia's head coach, said this about the 12-0 Panthers: "They proved today they are the best in the country. They have amazing balance; they are the best defensive team we've seen -- I think that is obvious. They are also the best offensive team we've faced." Pitt coach Johnny Majors, who completed his four-year stint at Pitt with a 33-13-1 record (after a combined 13-29 mark in the previous four years) was named Coach-of-the-Year for the second time at Pitt.

Pitt set five Gator Bowl records for offensive proficiency in an astounding demolition of the highly regarded Clemson Tigers. Matt Cavanaugh completed 23 of 36 passes for 387 yards and four touchdowns as Pitt outgained Clemson, 566-268. Three scoring tosses went to fullback Elliott Walker, who joined Tony Dorsett as the second Pitt back ever to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. Gordon Jones scored the other TD on one of his 10 receptions for 163 yards. Cavanaugh threw for 211 yards and two touchdowns in the first half alone. Clemson's vaunted passing combination of Steve Fuller-to-Jerry Buller was rendered ineffective by a Pitt secondary which swooped in for four interceptions, two by senior safety Bob Jury. Cavanaugh, an All-American in 1977, missed part of the season after suffering a broken wrist against Notre Dame. "I shudder to think what he could have done had he stayed healthy," said Panther Coach Jackie Sherrill, who finished his first year at Pitt with a 9-2-1 mark.

The Panthers saved their worst performance of the season for this bowl outing with North Carolina State. Primarily a running team in 1978, Pitt attempted to open it up on this night, throwing 48 passes. Four were intercepted, however. The Wolfpack, led by star running back Ted Brown, rolled up a 23-3 fourth quarter lead before Pitt quarterback Rick Trocano tried to bring the Panthers back. An 18-play drive featured four fourth-down conversions, the last of which resulted in a Freddie Jacobs touchdown. Pitt moved to State's 34-yard line with five minutes remaining, but an interception settled the issue. Trocano was intercepted twice more before the game ended, but he also led Pitt to the game's final touchdown. "Execution on our part was our biggest problem," Coach Jackie Sherrill said. "We didn't play well. . .and the turnovers hurt us." Pitt finished 8-4.

Pitt finished the 1979 season with a ten-game winning streak, built in part around the arm of freshman quarterback Dan Marino. The season finale came on Christmas Day, with the Panthers rounding out an 11-1 campaign with a 16-10 win over Arizona. The Wildcats, coached by former Pitt radio commentator Tony Mason, threatened often but did not score a touchdown until the game's waning moments. Junior cornerback Terry White intercepted two passes. One set up the second of three Mark Schubert field goals; the other allowed Pitt to run out the clock. Two of Schubert's kicks were from 46 yards out. Pitt's only touchdown came after a 12-play drive, with Marino hitting Benjie Pryor from 12 yards out. The last three plays of the drive: Marino to Mike Dombrowski for 34 yards, Marino to Ralph Still for 24 yards, and the touchdown.

Pitt's defense wanted this game badly. Its leader for four years, Hugh Green, finished second in the Heisman Trophy voting behind South Carolina's George Rogers. With the chance to avenge that result, Pitt smothered the Gamecocks with a swarming defense and an efficient offense. Rick Trocano and Dan Marino split time at quarterback; each threw a touchdown pass and Trocano added a short TD run. Although Rogers gained 113 yards, his two fumbles were more of a factor in the game than his rushing output. Tom Flynn recovered Rogers' fumble on the first play of the game, leading to Trocano's score. Randy McMillan scored two touchdowns as Pitt rolled to a 37-3 lead. The defense was led by Rickey Jackson, who made 19 tackles (14 solos). Pitt finished the season 11-1.

One of the most dramatic finishes in Pitt football history gave Pitt its second Sugar Bowl win over Georgia. Pitt trailed, 20-17, with 42 seconds remaining. It faced a fourth-and-5 at the Bulldog 33. Coach Jackie Sherrill disdained the potential 50-yard field goal attempt. "With five minutes to go I said we were not here to tie, we were here to win," Sherrill said. Dan Marino wanted to throw a short pass to a running back to get the first down, but a Georgia blitz left tight end John Brown in single coverage down the middle. Marino was right on target for the touchdown, his third of the game. The Panther defense limited Herschel Walker to 84 yards on 25 carries.

The Panthers' season came to a dismal end as Pitt lost to Southern Methodist in the Mustangs' own backyard. Dan Marino, in his last game at Pitt, was plagued by dropped passes on the cold, rainy day. He completed 19 of 37 for 181 yards. Fumbles were the story of the first quarter. Joe McCall lost one at the SMU one-yard line, but Mustang QB Lance McIlhenny returned the favor with a fumble at the Pitt seven. Eric Schubert's missed field goal attempt left the game scoreless at the half. Marino completed five straight short passes to set up Schubert's 43-yard kick which gave Pitt its only points. SMU's "Pony Express" backfield (Eric Dickerson and Craig James) led an 80-yard drive, which McIlhenny capped off with a nine-yard run. Pitt's last chance ended when a Marino pass was tipped and intercepted in the end zone.

John Congemi completed a school-record 31 passes for 341 yards, but a late Ohio State touchdown pass spoiled Congemi's, and Pitt's, afternoon. Congemi's second-quarter touchdown pass to tight end Clint Wilson tied the score at 7-7, but the Buckeyes led, 14-7, entering the fourth quarter. Wilson fell on Joe McCall's fumble in the end zone to tie the score early in the fourth quarter. Ohio State's Keith Byars scored his second touchdown by returning the ensuing kickoff 99 yards. Congemi was six-for-six on Pitt's next touchdown drive, which culminated with an 11-yard pass to Dwight Collins. Congemi, who completed 19-of-27 in the second half, had his conversion pass broken up, and Pitt trailed, 21-20. A 17-play drive later in the quarter ended with Snuffy Everett's 37-yard field goal to put the Panthers on top. Quarterback Mike Tomczak led Ohio State back, ending an 89-yard drive with a 39-yard bomb to Thad Jemison, who scored with 39 seconds remaining. Head Coach Foge Fazio's Panthers drove to the Buckeye 24, but could get no further.

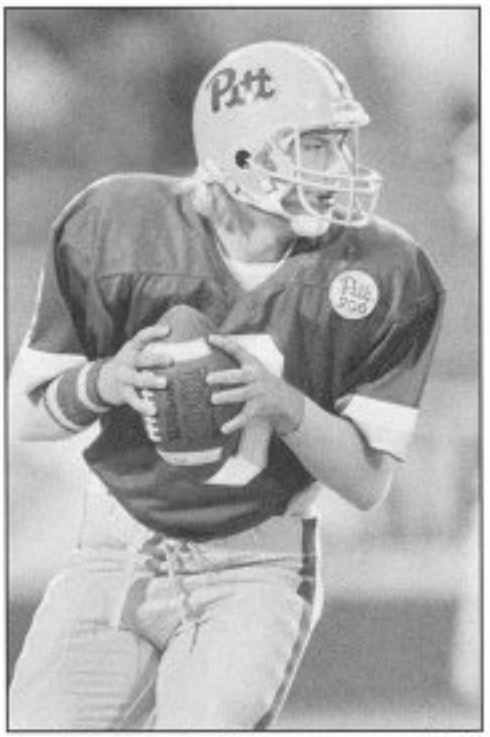
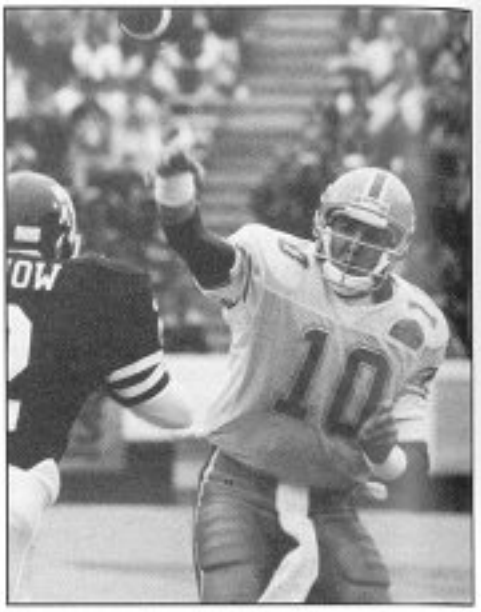
Despite late heroics from Larry Wanke, Pitt was grounded in this aerial circus, as Texas quarterback Brett Stafford and split end Tony Jones set Bluebonnet Bowl records. The New Year's Eve crowd was treated to an action-packed game from the start. Stafford connected with Jones for a 77-yard touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. Pitt retaliated quickly: Billy Owens returned the kickoff 45 yards, Billy Osborn hit Reggie Williams for 45 more yards on a trick play; then Craig Heyward tied the score with a four-yard burst. Six plays later, the Longhorns took the lead for good as Stafford hit Jones on a short pass that he broke for a 60-yard touchdown. Stafford finished the first quarter with 202 yards passing on the way to a 368-yard night. Jones set records for receiving yards and longest reception. Wanke replaced Darnell Dickerson early in the third quarter after Dickerson suffered a knee injury. Wanke completed 8 of 20 passes for 172 yards and three touchdowns, including two late in the fourth quarter that cut the Longhorns' lead to five. Heyward rushed for 136 yards, winning his personal battle with Texas star Eric Metcalf, who finished with 95 yards rushing. Heyward ended the season with 1,791 yards, second-best in Pitt history. Pitt finished the year at 8-4, their most successful season since 1983.



Larry Wanke led an impressive second half comeback, but Pitt fell short against Texas, 32-27, in the 1987 Bluebonnet Bowl.



Alex Van Pelt was named MVP of the 1989 John Hancock Bowl, when the Panthers defeated Texas A&M, 31-28.

Led by bowl MVP Alex Van Pelt's 354 yards passing, Pitt parlayed a John Hancock Bowl-record 530 yards in offense into a 31-28 come-from-behind victory over Texas A&M. It was a day of firsts for the Panthers. Paul Hackett, named head coach moments before kickoff, won his first game as a head coach. It also was Pitt's first bowl win since the Panthers' 24-20 Sugar Bowl victory over Georgia in 1982. Van Pelt, who completed 20 of 40 passes and threw for two touchdowns, rallied the Panthers from a 28-24 deficit, when he connected with Henry Tuten on a 44-yard touchdown strike with just 2:19 remaining in the game, giving Pitt a 31-28 lead. Tailback Curvin Richards rushed for 156 yards on 23 carries and scored the first points of the game with a 12-yard TD. Texas A&M countered with a nine-yard touchdown run by quarterback Lance Pavlas, tying the score at 7-7 to end the first quarter. With the score tied at 10 late in the first half, Van Pelt threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Ronald Redmon, giving Pitt a 17-10 halftime lead. Flanker Olanda Truitt completed his freshman season in stellar fashion, catching four passes for 124 yards, including a key 59-yard reception that set up Redmon's score. Carnel Smith finished the game with 10 tackles and Barry Threats had a game-ending interception, which ended Texas A&M's final drive and secured the Panthers' victory. The Hancock Bowl win marked the end of another decade in Pitt football history and the dawn of the Hackett coaching era. The Panthers finished the 1989 season with an 8-3-1 record.

Pitt Players In The NFL

During the past two decades, few schools can match the number and quality quotient of players the University of Pittsburgh has forwarded to the National Football League.

Of course, Pitt through the years has been a fertile talent source for the NFL, both for players and coaches. Standouts such as Marshall Goldberg, Jock Sutherland, Joe Schmidt, Joe Walton, Fred Cox, Marty Schottenheimer, and Mike Ditka are among the prominent names in a long roll call of Panthers who have gained fame in pro football.

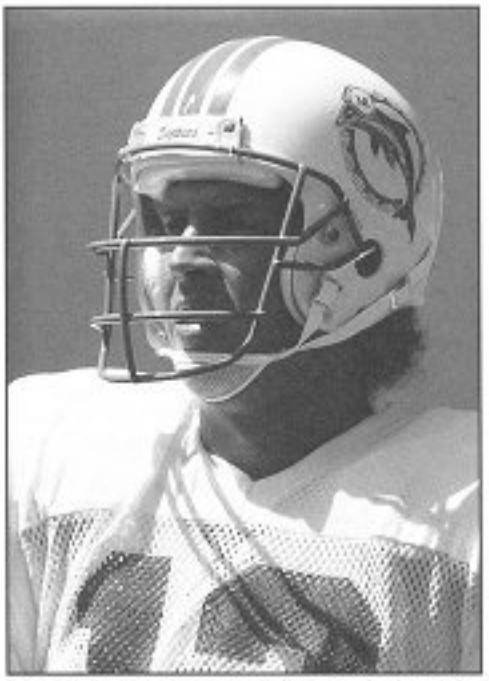
But in the past 18 years, there has been a dramatic surge of top Pitt-bred talent in the NFL. Currently, Marty Schottenheimer is the head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, and Dave Wannstedt replaced Ditka as coach of the Chicago Bears.

Pitt's recent NFL players have made dramatic impact. Of Pitt's 16 first-round picks since 1981, 13 became starters as rookies.

The great Pitt teams of the late 1970s and early 1980s began providing this motherlode of impact talent to the NFL. Heisman Trophy running back Tony Dorsett started the stream when the Dallas Cowboys traded up with the Seattle Seahawks to select him with the second pick of the 1977 draft. A year later a pair of Dorsett's teammates on Pitt's 1976 national championship team, defensive end Randy Holloway (a Minnesota Vikings first-round pick) and quarterback Matt Cavanaugh (second round by the New England Patriots), joined Dorsett in the NFL.

Three consecutive 11-1 seasons (1979, 1980, and 1981) provided another rich haul of future professional talent. The 1980 squad, in particular, was blessed with an extraordinary number of future NFL stars.

Twelve players were drafted from Pitt's 1980 squad, including three first-round picks: defensive end Hugh Green (Tampa Bay Buccaneers), tackle Mark May (Washington Redskins), and running back Randy McMillan (Baltimore Colts). Defensive end Rickey Jackson (second round, New Orleans Saints), guard Russ Grimm (third round, Washington Redskins), safety Carlton Williamson (third round, San Francisco 49ers), tight end Benjie Pryor (fifth round, Cincinnati Bengals), defensive tackle Jerry Boyarsky (fifth round, New Orleans Saints), defensive tackle Bill Neill (fifth round, New York Giants), and quarterback Rick Trocano (11th round, Pittsburgh Steelers) were the other draftees; seven additional seniors on the 1980 squad signed free agent contracts with NFL clubs.



Dan Marino has been a stellar quarterback for the Miami Dolphins.

Among the underclassmen on that fabulous 1980 team were three players who also would all become NFL first-round draftees in 1983 -- quarterback Dan Marino (Miami Dolphins), tackle Jim Covert (Chicago Bears), and defensive back Tim Lewis (Green Bay Packers) -- as well as defensive tackle Bill Maas, whom the Kansas City Chiefs chose in the first round in 1984. Two other underclassmen in 1980, center Jim Sweeney and defensive back Tom Flynn, went on to fine NFL careers. All told, 28 players on Pitt's 1980 roster were eventual NFL draft selections.

The Pitt player pipeline to the NFL has continued throughout the rest of the 1980s. Subsequent first-round draft picks have included guard Bill Fralic (drafted by the Atlanta Falcons) and defensive end Chris Doleman (Minnesota Vikings) in 1985; defensive tackle Bob Buczkowski (Los Angeles Raiders) in 1986; linebacker Tony Woods (Seattle Seahawks) in 1987; running back Craig Heyward (New Orleans Saints) in 1988; defensive end Burt Grossman (San Diego Chargers) and offensive tackle Tom Ricketts (Pittsburgh Steelers) in 1989; and defensive end Sean Gilbert (Los Angeles Rams) in 1992.

NFL talent scouts echo one another when they discuss Pitt prospects.

"Pitt players are a known commodity," said Les Miller, former college personnel director for the San Diego Chargers. "You hardly see any failures there. Not only do they make it, but they become the players everyone expects them to be. They all seem to have the right work ethic and a desire to be the best."

There is no question the kids from Pitt come ready to play in the National Football League," says John Butler, the director of college scouting for the Buffalo Bills.

"I think it is probably true that the kids at Pitt are a little more adaptive to the NFL than kids from most other schools," says Joe Woolley, director of player personnel for the Philadelphia Eagles. "Pitt recruits outstanding athletes, then teaches them pro techniques and uses a lot of pro schemes."

According to a former Pitt great, hard work and skillful coaching are also part of the mix.

"At Pitt, most of the players come from Western Pennsylvania and have that Western Pennsylvania work ethic," says Jim Covert, who was named the NFL Offensive Lineman of the Year in 1986. "You work as hard as you possibly can, and then you work a little harder."

* In the 1960s, the AFL established the same draft format as the NFL by drafting in an inverse order of finish. Each league had its own draft allowing for athletes to be drafted by the AFL and the NFL.

 Jack Durishan was drafted in 1943 by Pittsburgh. He served in the armed forces and after returning was drafted again in 1947 by the New York Yankees.

Steve Jastrzembski was drafted by Boston (AFL) in 1962 and Baltimore (NFL) in 1961.

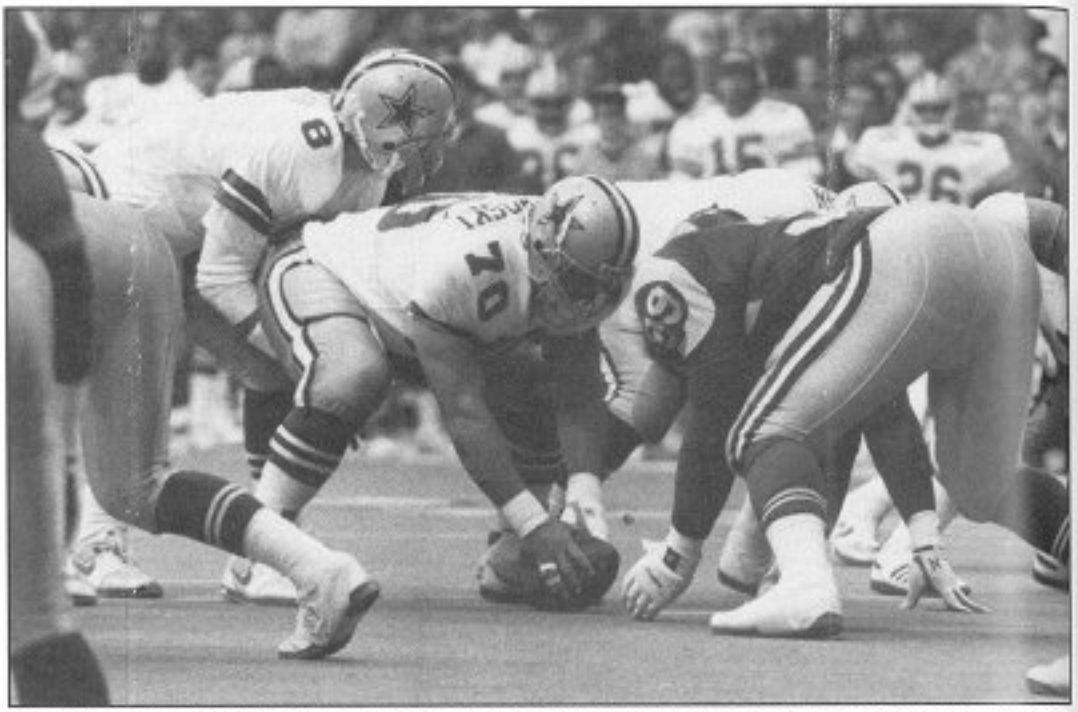
Pitt Players in the Super Bowl

The Super Bowl is without a doubt the biggest annual one-day event in American sports. A number of former Pitt players have played (and coached) in the Super Bowl, and many wear the ring of victory; in fact, at least one Pitt alumnus has been associated with the winning team in 13 of the last 14 Super Bowls (the exception was Super Bowl XXIV in 1990).

Most recently, Adam Walker, a special teams player, and Rickey Jackson, a starting defensive lineman, won their first Super Bowl rings as members of the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers.

Mark Stepnoski appeared as the starting center for the Super Bowl XXVII Champion Dallas Cowboys. Stepnoski was an All-America guard and Outland Trophy finalist for the Panthers in 1988, while also receiving Pitt's Blue-Gold Award, and the NCAA Top Six Award in recognition of his academic excellence.



Mark Stepnoski, the starting center for the Super Bowl XXVII Champion Dallas Cowboys, added to Pitt's long list of former players who have played in the Super Bowl.

Mike Ditka is the only Pitt man to win the Super Bowl as both a player and head coach. Ditka was a member of the Dallas Cowboys when they defeated Miami in Super Bowl VI. In 1986, Ditka coached the Chicago Bears to victory in Super Bowl XX against the New England Patriots. Among the Bears' starters that day was tackle Jim Covert, a former Pitt All-American.

Carlton Williamson added a third Super Bowl ring to his collection five years ago as a member of the NFL Champion San Francisco 49ers. The first Pitt alumnus to accomplish this feat, Williamson also earned rings in Super Bowls XVI and XIX. Only two other former Panthers, Russ Grimm and Mark May, have captured the coveted prize more than once. Grimm and May both received rings for the Washington Redskins' triumphs in Super Bowls XVII, XXII, and XXVI. Grimm received another ring in 1991.

No Pitt player was more fortunate to get to the Super Bowl than Tom Flynn, who began the 1986 season with Green Bay. The Packers released him, and later in the same season he signed with the New York Giants, who captured Super Bowl XXI.

On the flipside, Fred Cox, a star at Pitt in the late 1950s and early 1960s and a placekicker with the Minnesota Vikings, endured the agony of Super Bowl defeat four times. Dan Marino had arguably the best season ever for a pro quarterback in 1984, but his Dolphins lost to San Francisco in the Super Bowl.

Russ Grimm was a standout center for the Panthers,who went on to play in four Super Bowls as member of the Washington Redskins, before his retirement in 1991.

Pitt Stadium History 196

A Guide to Pitt Stadium 198

Pitt Football Facilities

The 1995 Pitt football team was welcomed by newly renovated football facilities when it returned to campus in August.

Groundbreaking for the first portion of the extensive football renovations began at Pitt Stadium on Nov. 21. The $5.87 million Phase I portion is one of eight stages of a massive modernization project that is scheduled over the next five years.

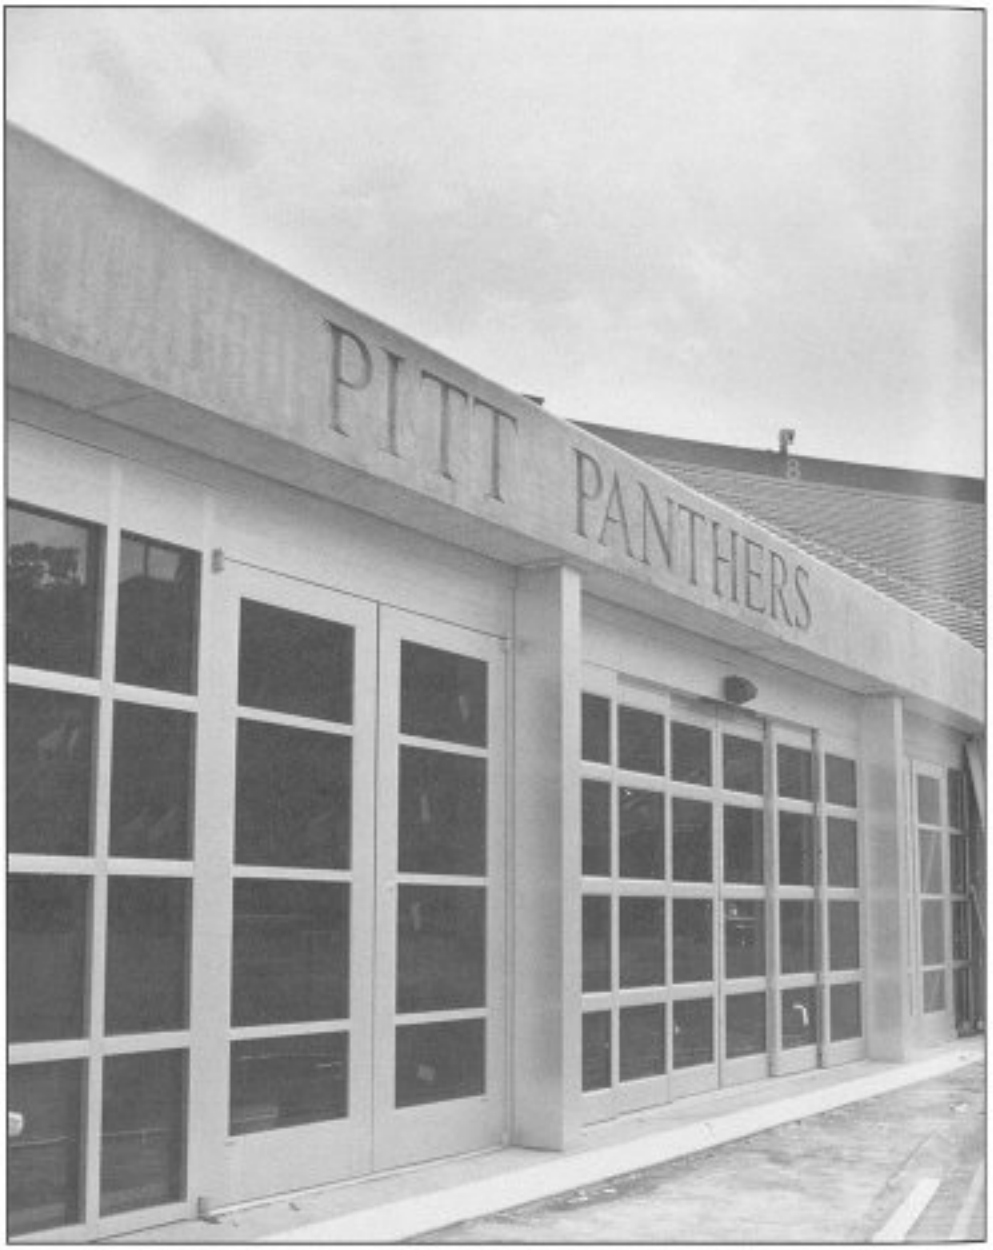
The Phase I portion, which was completed in early August, included primary expansion of the preceding football facilities, including demolition of the Stadium's interior from Gate 1 to Gate 3. The primary project in the initial phase was the construction of a new and enlarged home locker room for 125 student athletes with a new player tunnel entrance to the field; new training, weight and equipment rooms; and a state-of-the-art injury rehabilitation area complete with a hydrotherapy pool.

Additionally, the present Gate 3 area will be completely refurbished into a new spectator entrance.

One of the showpieces of the renovation project is Pitt's impressive new player entrance which cuts through a portion of the Section 7 seating area.

This immaculate glass enclosed entrance tunnel will lead to the player locker room and a corridor which will serve as a hallway passage throughout the entire football complex.

A concrete roof with "Pitt Panthers" chisled into the headboard will serve as a magnificant threshold through which the Panthers will enter and exit the field.



Pitt's new players' entrance tunnel is a showpiece for the new Pitt football complex.

The premise for the Pitt Stadium renovations was simple. The Pitt football program's needs had signficantly outgrown and surpassed the existing facilities in Pitt Stadium. Yet Pitt Stadium had much valuable space that was previously unused. There was enough available space inside Pitt Stadium to accommodate its transformation into one of the best, most contemporary facilities in the country...a facility that will better allow Pitt's student athletes to flourish and grow.

The successful completion of this project will serve as a tribute to the achievements of the exceptional student athletes and coaches who have distinguished the University of Pittsburgh for more than a century, as well as a commitment to those who will wear the blue and gold in the century to come.

But Pitt's glittering new locker room, weight room, training room and equipment room is only the beginning.

Among the planned projects for the second phase of the construction is an expanded academic support area.

Pitt student athletes deserve the best during their academic and athletic careers at the University. With increasingly difficult schedules and challenging academic demands, student athletes require special academic support.

The main emphasis of the phase II portion of the project is the construction of a greatly expanded facility for the Academic Support Services Office, more than quadrupling the space currently available to the student athletes and augmenting their opportunities for academic growth and development.

Featuring classrooms, individual tutorial and small group meeting rooms, a library and media resource center, auditorium, computer lab, and a large study lounge, this facility will keep Pitt at the forefront in academic support programs for student athletes.

In addition, the construction of a new football office complex, including coaches' offices, meeting rooms, and locker rooms, is planned in the next portion of the project.

The new complex also will contain a permanent home in Pitt Stadium for the marching band, a comprehensive complex that will include a main rehearsal hall and five individual rehearsal areas, uniform and instrument storage areas, a music library, a reception area, and locker rooms for band members.

Additional components of the renovation project will address gameday operation needs, including the reconfiguration of the interior concourses into a spectacular atrium space which will permit easier access throughout the stadium; new restroom and concession facilities; a multi-purpose room, and an expanded ticket office.

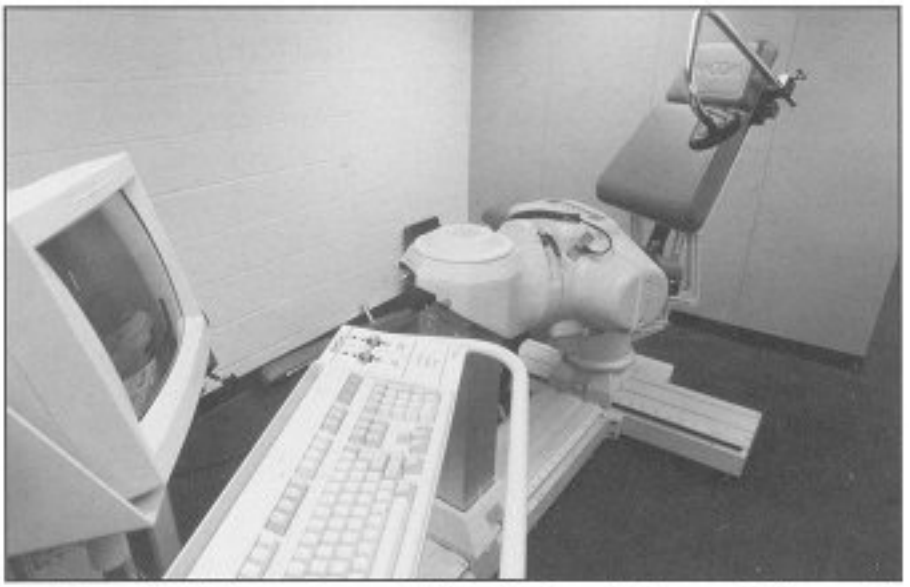
Athletic Training and Rehabilitation Center

Pitt's athletic training and rehabilitation complex is one of the three areas addressed in the first phase of the football complex construction, and Pitt players now have a state-of-the-art facility to receive medical treatment for new injuries and for rehabilitating existing injuries.

The new training room has been fully equipped by Chattanooga Inc., and features a brand new line of Alliance Nautilus rehabilitation equipment. In addition, the new training room has 16 new treatment tables more than doubling the amount from the former training room. There will also be seven new individual taping stations for the football team.

Some other features of the new training and rehabilitation room are the KinCom, a computerized isokinetic rehabilitation device and several state-of-the-art therapeutic modalities, including a Swim-ex hydrotherapy pool and a 10-man jacuzzi.

Additionally, the room will have five new treadmills and five new exercise bicycles.



The KinCom machine is one of several high-tech pieces devices used in the recently constructed training room that offers first-class medical treatment to Pitt football players.

"The Iron Works"

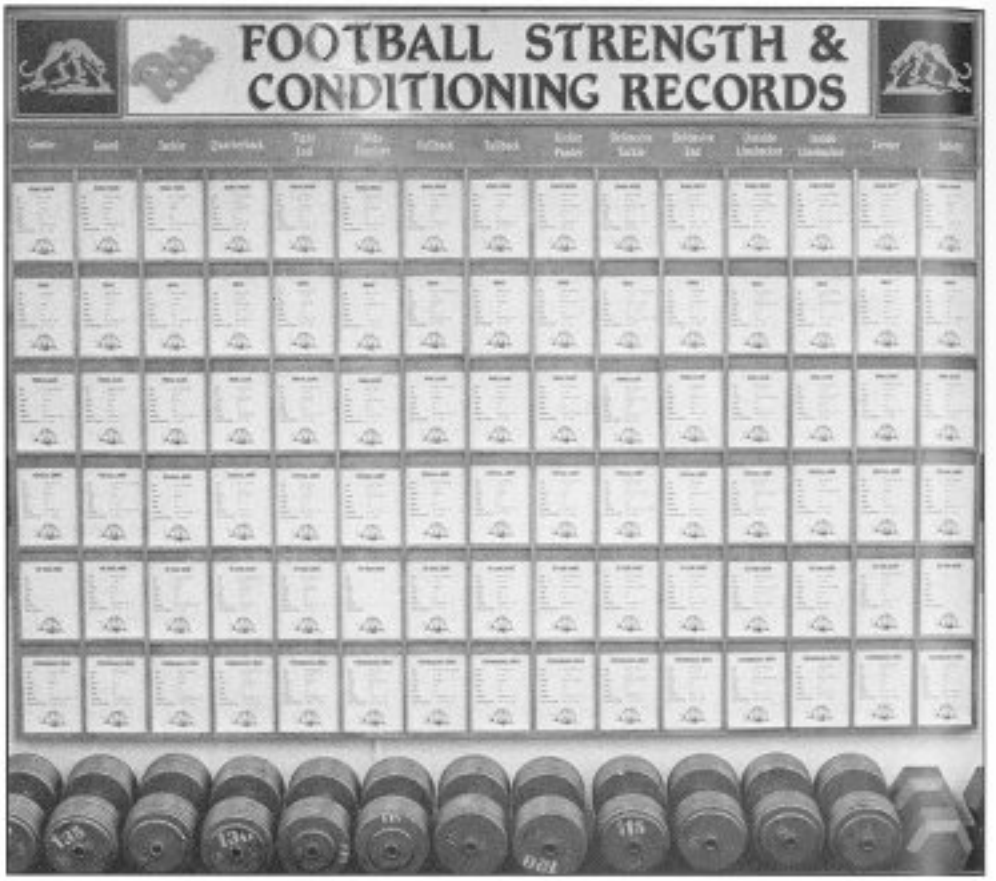
The University of Pittsburgh football weight room, known as "The Iron Works" has been a symbol for the Pitt football program for more than a decade.

Now the Pitt football team can boast a new and improved "Iron Works," which is even more impressive than before.

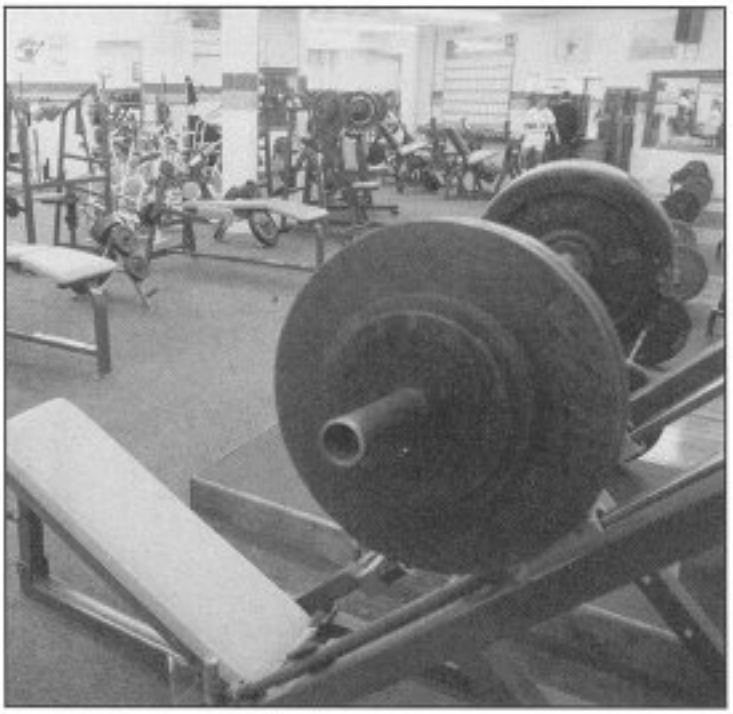
The philosophy of the Head Football Coach John Majors is to develop a better football player through proper nutriition, strength training, speed development, and developing a more explosive athlete.

Part of the initial phase of the Pitt Stadium renovation project, the new "Iron Works" is a state-of-the-art facility in which the Pitt football can train to achieve those training goals. There will be 70 pieces of assorted weight equipment and approximately 7.69 tons of weight at the players' disposal.

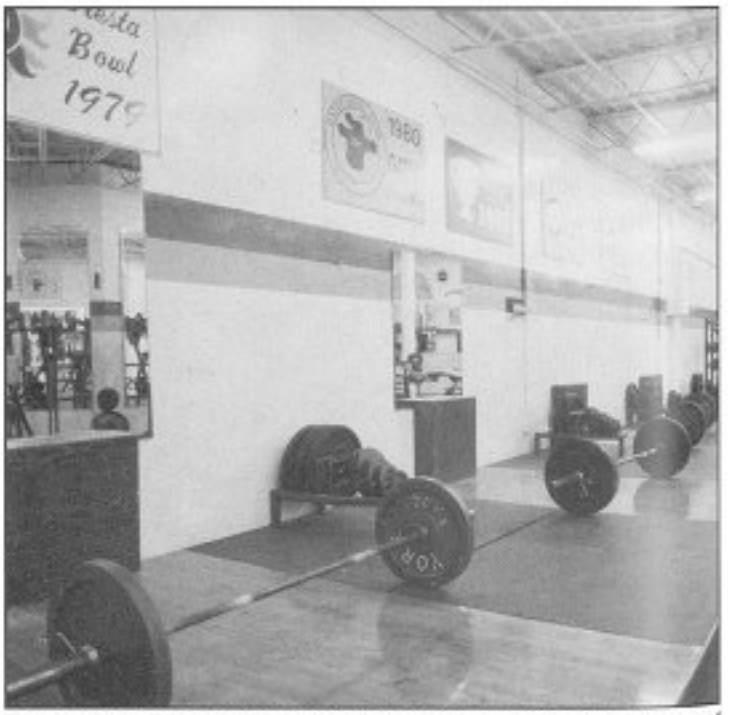
An attractive new record board, constructed last year, is a showpiece for the players; it recognizes the top weight and speed performances at each of the positions on the team.



The Pitt record board is an impressive billboard of athletic achievement in the "Iron Works."



Weight training and conditioning has become a prominent element in college football, and Pitt is fortunate to have one of the best weight training facilities in the country with the "Iron Works."



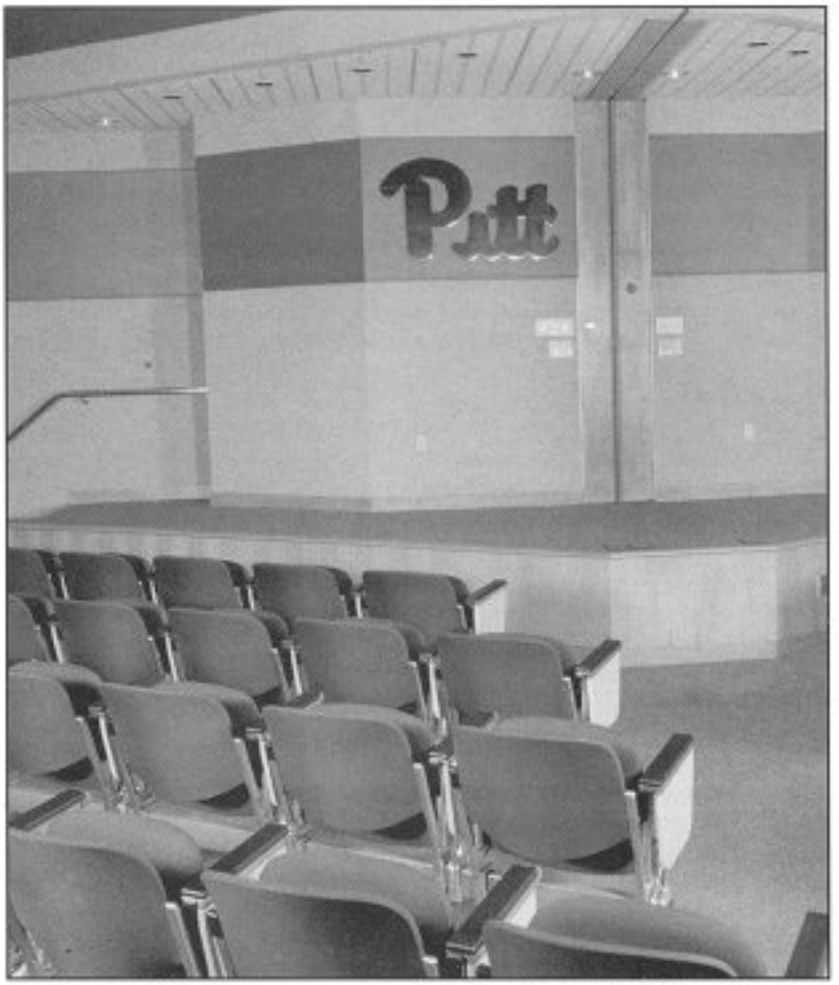
The new "Iron Works," which is equipped with more than seven tons of free weights, rivals any football weight room in the country.

Stewart Auditorium and Cost Center

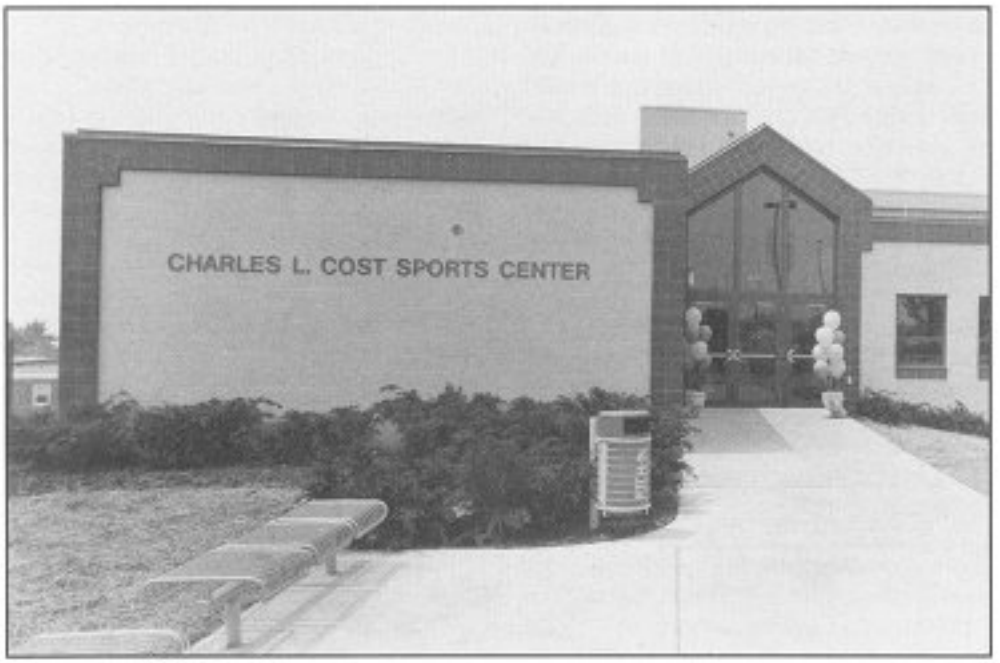
Stewart Auditorium and the Charles L. Cost Center

The George W. Stewart Auditorium, dedicated May 1, 1991, was completed in the summer of 1990 and is used for team meetings, football postgame press conferences, and viewing game video. Equipped with state-of-the-art video and audio systems, the Stewart Auditorium has three individual meeting rooms built around the spacious auditorium and balcony, which is capable of seating an entire football squad. The raised stage in front of the auditorium makes the facility perfect for lectures and press conferences.

Another complex available to the football team is the Charles L. Cost Sports Center. This indoor athletic complex is used as an indoor workout facility for the football team. Charles L. Cost, a running back and three-sport athlete at Pitt in the mid-1950s, donated in excess of $1 million toward construction of the the complex, which sits atop a seven-story parking garage (Towerview Garage).



The Stewart Auditorium has served as a team meeting center for the Pitt football team since 1990. In addition to the auditorium, the facility has three individual cubicles, which are used for smaller meeting groups.



The Charles L. Cost Center is a welcome facility when inclement weather forces the football team indoors. The Cost Center contains a regulation-sized football field with an artifical playing surface. The Cost Center has not only been a valuable resource for the football team, but many of the other Pitt sports teams take advantage of the facility for practices and athletic events.

Pitt Stadium History

Not until 1925 did Pitt football teams have a home to call their own.

From 1890 to 1908, Pitt (then known as Western University of Pennsylvania) played at various ballparks, including old Recreation Park and Exposition Park on Pittsburgh's North Side, in the general vicinity of Three Rivers Stadium.

From 1909-1924, Pitt teams played at Forbes Field, the old home of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Forbes Quadrangle (which houses University classrooms and several departments), bordered by Roberto Clemente Drive, now stands on the old Forbes Field site.

Because of great interest in Pitt football, Forbes Field's capacity of 32,000 grew to be inadequate in the early 1920s. The 11,000 alumni and 9,000 students, each of whom were entitled to two seats, left little space for the general public. This was especially true for the big games of the day against Washington & Jefferson, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, and West Virginia.

The vexing question of where to locate a new stadium was solved by the discovery of a perfectly practical land site, part of which belonged to the University, and the remainder of which lay immediately adjacent -- nine acres of the Bailey Estate. In the summer of 1923, the Athletic Council bought this ground, turning it over to the Trustees of the University to become a part of the campus.

In November of 1924, the Trustees authorized a first mortgage bond issue of $2,100,000, the proceeds to be deposited with the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh as trustee, and to be used for the purchase of this site and the erection of the stadium. The sale of the bonds, which carried with them ticket buying privileges, was conducted by volunteer solicitors, including Jock Sutherland. The campaign was a striking success, the entire issue being taken within nine days. At the end of that period oversubscriptions of more than a half million dollars had to be returned.

The original stadium committee appointed by the Board of Trustees to oversee site selection, a bond sale, and construction included George H. Clapp, president; K. E. Davis, secretary; A. R. Hamilton; A. J. Kelly, Jr.; C. W. Wettach; and Floyd Rose, committee members.

W. S. Hindman, an 1898 graduate of the University's School of Engineering, was the chief engineer and designer of the stadium.

Construction began on August 7, 1924, and was completed September 1, 1925, less than four weeks before Pitt played Washington & Lee in the first game at the new stadium.

Jock Sutherland, while he was still head coach at Lafayette, had purchased several thousand dollars worth of bonds two years before the stadium was built. After he succeeded Pop Warner as Pitt's head coach, he proceeded to sell bonds to former teammates from his own playing days under Warner. He also actively promoted the bonds to other people in the Pittsburgh community.

The Turner Construction Company, the same firm that had built Penn's Franklin Field and Cornell's Schoellkopf Stadium, was the general contractor. The John F. Casey Company did the excavating work; the McLintock-Marshall Company did the steel work, and the New England Foundation Company provided the foundations.

Pitt Stadium, which covers approximately nine acres, is 791 feet long and 617 feet wide. It was originally configured to hold a capacity of 69,400, and the design permitted future double-decking (allowing provisions for another 30,000 seats to be added if desired).

A total of 2,200 tons of structural steel was used in setting up the bowl, as well as 1,000 tons of reinforced steel, and 20,000 cubic yards of concrete.

Unlike many of its contemporaries in the 1920s, which had been built to accommodate one or two sports, Pitt Stadium at the time of its construction was a unique multi-faceted venue. It housed nearly all of the University's nonaquatic sports: football, basketball, baseball, track, rifle and gymnastics. The basketball court in the Stadium Pavilion (beneath the ramps inside Gate 2) served as Pitt's home from 1925 until 1951, when Fitzgerald Field House opened. While in use for home basketball games, it contained permanent seats at two ends, and temporary bleachers on the sides, accommodating 4,000 people.

The Pittsburgh Steelers and Carnegie Tech (now Carnegie Mellon University), have used Pitt Stadium as their home fields at one time or another.

The stadium has undergone several significant changes, particularly within the past 20 years. In 1970, Astroturf became the playing surface, replacing natural grass. A Superturf replaced the Astroturf in 1984. During the summer of 1990, a new Astroturf surface was installed.

One improvement that hit close to home with Panther supporters in the late 1970s was a change in seating structures from wood to metal benches, eliminating the

Eiseman-Prussin Room

In 1988, Pitt dedicated a multipurpose room inside Gate 2 at the stadium as the Eiseman-Prussin Conference Room in memory of Edwin H. Eiseman, a 1967 Pitt graduate. George J. Prussin, who contributed $75,000 to the recently opened Cost Sports Center, wanted, in some way, "to honor and sustain the memory" of Eiseman.

A 1967 graduate and a member of Pitt's baseball team, Prussin became friendly with Eiseman through the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity and through intramural sports. Eiseman died of Hodgkin's disease in 1969.

splintery discomfort caused by some 17 miles of wood that had been subjected to a half century of the elements.

A new scoreboard was installed prior to the 1977 season. A new computer system, featuring football animation software, was installed in the summer of 1989, vastly enhancing the capabilities of the message center. The auxiliary scoreboard was also modified in 1988, and now includes significant game data, including down and distance.

Pitt Stadium became a more efficient and more attractive edifice in 1978, when a new coaching complex was opened. The two-floor office, reception, conference room, and workout area now houses the entire football staff.

In addition, a brand new, spacious, and more efficient Ticket Office headquarters was opened at Gate 1 in 1979.

Improvements completed in 1990 include a video editing suite adjacent to the football administrative offices and the George Stewart Auditorium team meeting room directly above the weight room.

Lights were installed on a temporary basis for night games in 1985 and 1986. Pitt's first night game ever in the stadium was a thrilling 31-30 win over Purdue on August 31, 1985. Permanent lights were installed before the 1987 season.

The current lights consist of six standards -- four on the home side of the field and two on the visitor's side -- and range from 110- to 180-feet tall. Each pole contains 50 1,500 watt metal halide lighting fixtures. The system is designed to reduce glare and augment television depth perception.

The Pitt Stadium is now the home of the Panthers' football, soccer, and track teams.

A Place to Discover

Founded in a log cabin in 1787, the University of Pittsburgh is among the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. From Pitt classrooms have come more than 200,000 graduates, whose accomplishments range from winning Olympic gold medals to unlocking the secrets of DNA. From University laboratories have come the late Jonas Salk's polio vaccine and the identification of Vitamin C. Today, this former frontier University is an internationally recognized center of learning and research, strong in the arts and sciences and the professions.

Campuses

The University's Pittsburgh campus consists of more than 90 buildings on 132 acres in Oakland, the city's educational center. Pitt also has campuses in Bradford, Greensburg, Johnstown, and Titusville, Pennsylvania.

Enrollment

Pitt's total enrollment for its five campuses Is 32,519 students. Of this total, 23,553 are full-time and 8,966 are part time; 22,912 are undergraduates and 9,607 are graduate students. More than 26,000 of the students are enrolled at the Pittsburgh campus.

Faculty

The Pitt faculty totals 3,106 full-time and 666 part-time. The University has 49 endowed chairs and professorships. Each year the University honors faculty excellence with Chancellor's Distinguished Teaching, and Research, and Public Service Awards.

Governance

The University is a state-related, comprehensive institution serving the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the nation, and the international community through its missions of instruction, research, and public service. Its Board of Trustees has 48 members, 12 of whom are appointed by the state. Mark A. Nordenberg was named interim chancellor and will assume office on August 1. Nordenberg,47, previously held postions as acting dean of Pitt's Law School, interim provost and senior vice chancellor of academic affairs in addition to teaching at the University.

Research

In 1974, Pitt was elected to membership in the Association of American Universities (AAU), an acknowledgement of its position as one of the top research universities in North America. University researchers bring in more than $190 million annually for sponsored research and service projects and Pitt ranks in the top ten nationally in terms of research funds received from the National Institutes of Health.

Pitt Facts

Pitt is 208 years old, making it one of the nation's oldest educational institutions, established in 1787, just after the original colonial colleges.

Pitt is listed among the nation's best public universities in Richard Moll's book The Public Ivys.

Pitt has nearly 20 programs among the nation's finest, including: Anthropology, Art History, Behavioral Neuroscience, Business, Chemistry, History and Philosophy of Science, Internal Medicine, Latin American Studies, Law, Library and Information Science, Microbiology, Nursing, Philosophy, Physics, Psychology, Public Administration, Social Work, Spanish, and Statistics.

Pitt's Honors College allows highly motivated undergraduate students to pursue exceptionally challenging honors courses and degrees and to conduct independent research. Pitt students have won a number of prestigious awards in recent years, including Rhodes, Marshall, and Truman scholarships, and national Mellon Fellowships in the Humanities.

Pitt athletes have won national championships in football, conference titles and national rankings in basketball, and Olympic gold medals in track.

Pitt's University Center for International Studies offers an extensive study-abroad program and the opportunity to spend an entire semester aboard the SS Universe, the world's only floating campus. UCIS also offers area studies programs in Asian, Latin American, East European, Russian, and West European studies.

Pitt was ranked as one of the 50 "best values" in higher education among national universities in 1994 by US News & World Report.

Mark A. Nordenberg, Interim Chancellor

For Mark Nordenberg, the University of Pittsburgh has been "a wonderful professional home" since he joined the Law School faculty in 1977. "Serving as interim chancellor," he says, "is an opportunity to contribute to an institution that has been good to me in so many different ways."

In discussing his reasons for his intense pride in the university, Nordenberg points to its rich tradition in terms of strong and innovative education programs, pioneering research accomplishments, community contributions and athletic achievements. Emphasizing the human dimension, he states that he is looking forward to working with the "thousands of talented, conscientious people at Pitt whose daily efforts keep the institution moving forward."

This is not the first time that Nordenberg, who assumed the interim chancellor post on August 1, has contributed to the leadership of the university. He was appointed acting dean of the School of Law in 1985, and following a national search, he was named dean in 1987. His strong leadership helped the School of Law increase its national stature in terms of teaching and scholarship.

In 1993, Nordenberg decided to move out of the dean's office and return to teaching. Before he made it back to the classroom, however, the University sought his help once again, this time as interim provost and senior vice chancellor for academic affairs. Serving in this capacity for the 1993-94 academic year, Nordenberg chaired the Council of Deans and the University Planning and Budgeting Committee, and initiated the University's long-range planning effort.

Appointed a Distinguished Service Professor of Law in June of 1994, Nordenberg has spent the past year doing what attracted him to the academic life in the first place - teaching. When asked about the highlights of his career,

Nordenberg unhesitatingly includes both "special moments in the classroom and conversations with former students who gratefully tell you that you made a positive difference in their lives." There can be no question that Nordenberg's love of teaching is reflected in the quality of his teaching. In 1984, he was the initial recipient of the Excellence in Teaching Award, an honor now presented annually by the Student Bar Association and the graduating class of the School of Law. The following year, he was a recipient of a Chancellor's Distinguished Teaching Award, a university-wide award which recognizes excellence in teaching.

Nordenberg has also distinguished himself in the legal profession. Recognized for his work in the area of civil procedure, Nordenberg is highly regarded for his continuing efforts to improve the machinery of civil justice at the national, state and local levels. He served for six years, the maximum allowable term, as one of only two academics on the United States Supreme Court's Advisory Committee on Civil Rules, and was the only academic member of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's Civil Procedural Rules Committee, again serving for the Steering Commitee member of the Civil Justice Advisory Group of Pennsylvania, a post he has held since 1991.

A native of Duluth, Minnesota, Nordenberg, 47, was first introduced to Pittsburgh at the start of his senior year in high school. That's when his father, a U.S. Steel employee, was transferred from Duluth to Pittsburgh. Nordenberg remembers facing the move with some trepidation, but the friendliness of the people he met in Pittsburgh soon allayed his concerns.

After graduation from North Allegheny High School, he went on to receive a B.A. degree in mathematics from Thiel College, and in 1973 he was graduated magna cum laude form the University of Wisconsin Law School. After graduation, he practiced law with a firm in Minneapolis for two years, then joined the faculty of the Capital Universtiy Law School in Columbus, Ohio in 1975. In 1977, he returned to Pittsburgh as a visiting assistant professor of law and has been at Pitt ever since.

Nordenberg's other consuming interest, besides his work, is his family. In fact, he says, if you don't find him in his office or the classroom, you will most likely find him "at a swim meet or a basketball game of some other activity involving one of my children." He and his wife, Nikki, and independent counselor and director of the Allegheny County Bar Association's Career Counseling Center, have three children --Erin, a student at Kenyon College; Carl, who attends Central Catholic High School; and Michael, who is enrolled in Falk School.

L. Oval Jaynes, Director of Athletics

The first four years of Oval Jaynes' athletic administration have reflected many changes and challenges. But every decision and move was based on one principle: continuing Pitt's athletic excellence in the difficult, ever-changing world of intercollegiate athletics, while maintaining the student-first philosophy for its student-athletes.

With the Jaynes administration now in its fifth year, the future of Pitt athletics beams even brighter. Visitors to sporting events on the Pitt campus will notice the progress which has been made -- and continues to be made -- with the ongoing renovations and additions to Pitt's athletic facilities. The most recently completed phase of construction in and around Pitt Stadium includes a new football team locker room, a new sports medicine/training area, a weight-training room and a new equipment room. Additionally, major renovations have been made along the upper levels of Fitzgerald Field House, creating new and more spacious office space for many of Pitt's varsity sports teams. The next phase of construction will produce a new football office complex, with the academic support services office moving into the space vacated by the football office personnel, and a new band room. Additionally, new locker rooms for both the men's and women's swimming and diving teams were added inside Trees Hall last year. University officials are also mapping plans for a new convocation center.

Two other significant developments at Pitt in the last few years were the hirings of two new coaches -- football coach John Majors and, more recently, men's basketball coach Ralph Willard -- which have generated a renewed interest in both of those high-profile sports and in Pitt athletics in general.

Jaynes also has reorganized the athletic department, streamlining the administration into a more effective, efficient operation to help offset the spiraling costs of intercollegiate athletics.

Despite a difficult economic environment, however, Pitt's 17 varsity sports teams have remained competitive at both the conference and national levels. During the 1994 calendar year, four different Pitt teams won Big East regular-season championships, the most ever in one year since Pitt joined The Big East in 1982.

Jaynes was named Pitt's athletic director in August 1991, but the new assignment was by no means his first venture into Western Pennsylvania. Jaynes, who spent much of his professional career from the mid-1960s until the early 1980s coaching football at the intercollegiate level, spent a substantial portion of that time recruiting throughout Pennsylvania and called his appointment at Pitt "almost like a homecoming."

L. Oval Jaynes, Director of Athletics

Jaynes has maintained a busy agenda since the day he arrived at Pitt, traveling to Golden Panther and alumni functions throughout Pennsylvania and the Northeast to spread the Pitt story and to cement lasting commitments between Pitt people and their university.

While working aggressively to strengthen ties between Pitt alumni and their alma mater, Jaynes also brings an open-door policy to his working relationships with all of Pitt's student-athletes and coaches. A spectator at as many Panther sporting events as his schedule permits, Jaynes can also be seen occasionally at team practice sessions, and he encourages Pitt's student-athletes to stop by his office for a visit.

Jaynes charges all Pitt student-athletes with meeting the challenges presented by today's rigorous academics-athletics environment, and their response has been gratifying during the past four years. In 1994-95, 141 Pitt student-athletes were honored by Pitt and Bell Atlantic Pennsylvania for attaining a grade-point average of 3.0 or better in either the fall or winter semesters. Thirty-two Pitt student-athletes were named to the 1994-95 Big East Academic All-Star Team. And during the last four years, three Pitt individuals -- basketball player Darren Morningstar, track and field standout Mary Allison Williams, and swimmer Matt Brady -- have been recipients of Big East Conference Post-Graduate Scholarship awards.

In more than 30 years as an administrator and coach in intercollegiate athletics, Jaynes has forged an outstanding reputation among his colleagues.

In the summer of 1993, Jaynes was selected to chair the executive committee of the Big East Football Conference, and is now a member of both the Big East Conference's Bowl and Television Committees. He currently serves as a member of the Executive Committee of Division I Athletic Directors Association, and was honored in 1990 with one of the most prestigious appointments available to university administrators, when he was named to the 46-member NCAA Council. He is a former member of the NCAA Nominating Committee, and he served for 2 1/2 years as chairman of the NCAA District VII Post-Graduate Scholarship Committee.

Since moving to Pitt in 1991, Jaynes has also become an active member of the local community, and is a board member of both the Pittsburgh Sports and Festival Federation, Inc., and the Western Pennsylvania Olympic Committee.

Prior to coming to Pittsburgh, Jaynes had been director of athletics at Colorado State University from 1986 to 1991, and is credited with revitalizing the school's football and basketball programs. Prior to his time at CSU, Jaynes was associate director of athletics at Auburn University, and before that, he served as a football coach for nearly 20 years at the Division I level.

Born July 25, 1940, Jaynes is a 1962 mathematics graduate from Appalachian State in Boone, North Carolina. Jaynes also holds a master's degree from the University of North Carolina. He is married to the former Priscilla Sink. They have two sons: Lee, who resides in Pittsburgh; and Brandon, who resides in Coral Springs, Florida, with his wife Jennifer, and their son, Evan.

Administration

Carol Sprague
Senior Associate Athletic Director/
Internal Affairs

Carol Sprague begins her 21st year in the University of Pittsburgh Athletic Department and was promoted this past July to the new position of senior associate athletic director for internal affairs.

Under her new title, Sprague is responsible for overseeing all 15 varsity sports -- excluding football and men's basketball -- student services, athletic trainers, and strength and conditioning coaches for the varsity sports teams.

Sprague began her career at Pitt in 1974 as an assistant swimming coach. She also served as the women's sports program and scheduling coordinator, coordinator of student affairs for student athletes, and assistant athletic director for women's sports. Her duties were expanded to include all varsity sports -- men's and women's -- in 1990, when Sprague was promoted to associate athletic director. In 1993, she was named senior associate athletic director for varsity sports.

Sports Medicine

More than 500 University of Pittsburgh student athletes receive medical care provided by the University's athletic training program.

Pitt is one of only 73 colleges and universities which offers an undergraduate athletic training education program approved by the National Athletic Trainers' Association (N.A.T.A.). Established in 1975, the athletic training program prepares students for a career in the multidisciplinary field of sports medicine. Upon completion of the athletic training education program, the student is eligible for the N.A.T.A.-administered certification examination.

The athletic training curriculum has 40 undergraduate and 15 graduate students enrolled and is staffed by six faculty certified athletic trainers who operate Pitt's sports medicine program.

Each sport has a full-time trainer or graduate assistant and student trainers assigned to provide medical coverage during all practices and games. This staff is dedicated to providing all aspects of prevention, evaluation, management, and rehabilitation of athletic injuries and illnesses.

The sports medicine staff also runs a sports medicine clinic in Pitt Stadium for all athletes to be evaluated by one of the sports medicine physicians. This clinic provides the athletes with an opportunity to be seen by specialists as well as providing the student athletic trainer with an outstanding learning environment.

The clinic is staffed by Dr. Freddie H. Fu, head team physician, and is assisted by Dr. Douglas B. McKeag (co-head team physician), Dr. Christopher Harner (orthopaedic surgeon), Dr. Jon P. Warner (orthopaedic surgeon), Dr. David Stone (rehabilitation and family practioner), Dr. Nick Ghaphery (family practicioner), Dr. Donald Marion (neurosurgery), and three sports medicine fellows, Dr. Beim, Dr. L'Insalata, and Dr. Navarro. In addition, a staff of consulting specialists is available at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center to assist in providing top quality medical treatment for Pitt athletes. Hospital care is provided at the University of Pittsburgh Medial Center (UPMC).

Team Physician

Dr. Freddie H. Fu begins his ninth year of service to the Pitt athletics program as team physician and orthopaedic surgeon.

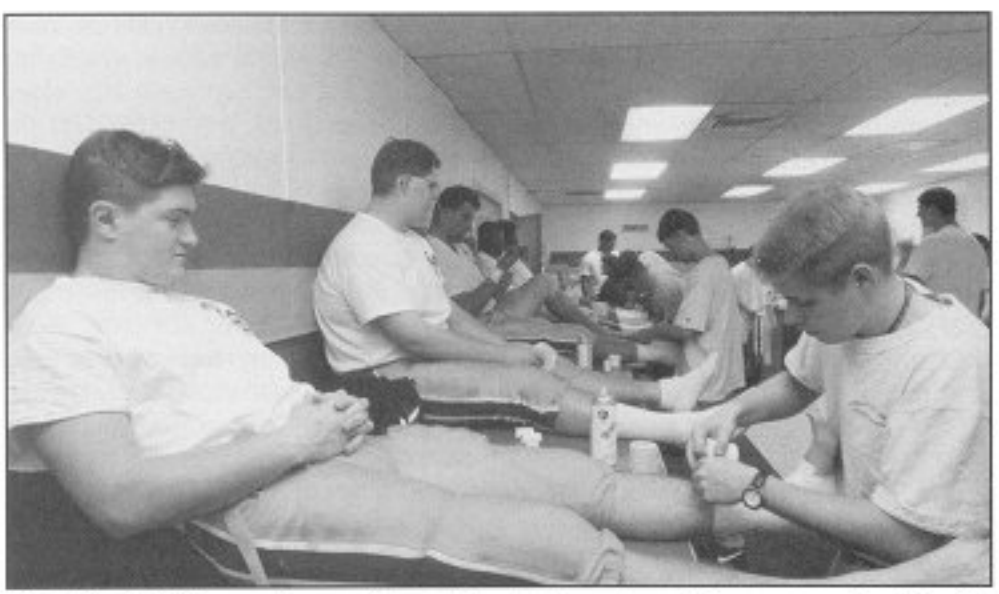
He graduated summa cum laude from Dartmouth College in 1974, and received his B.M.S. in 1975 from Dartmouth Medical School. Fu earned his medical degree in 1977 at Pitt, and completed his general surgery internship at Brown University. He then returned to Pitt to study under an orthopaedic research fellowship, and completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery. During that time, Dr. Fu studied under an A.O. International Fellowship at the Hannover Trauma Center in West Germany, and studied orthopaedic surgery at East Lansing, Michigan.

Fu is currently the inaugural holder of the Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania Professor; Executive Vice Chariman and Professor, Department of Orthopaedic Surgery, University of Pittsburgh; and medical director of the Center for Sports Medicine. In addition, Dr. Fu serves as an Adjunct Professor in the School of Health Related professions and School of Education.

Dr. Fu is a member and has held offices in numerous academic organizations, including the prestigious Herodicus Society, the American Shoulder & Elbow Surgeons, the American Academy of Sports Medicine, and the American Orthopaedic Association. In November, he was inducted as the new President of the Pennsylvania Orthopaedic Society.

Not only is Dr. Fu prominent in many of the city's scientific and health-related societies, he is an avid supporter of numerous community athletic programs and Pittsburgh fine arts in general. He is the Chairman of the Board and Executive Medical Director of the Giant Eagle City of Pittsburgh Marathon and 10K race, and is a member of the Board of Trustees and Team Physician for the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre. He is past president and current CEO of the QED Children's Festival Chorus of Pittsburgh, is a member of the Western Pennsylvania Olympic Committee, and is a perenial contributor to many local high school athletic organizations.

Dr. Douglas McKeag comes here from Michigan State University to head the family practice aspect for sports medicine at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. He brings with him a wealth of experience and expertise in dealing with accomplished athletes and athletic injuries. Dr. McKeag will prove to be an invaluable asset to both the medical staff and players.



Pitt's student-athletes receive medical care through the sports medicine program. The University of Pittsburgh is one of 73 universities across the country with this curriculum.

Academic Support Services

In the 1970s, when the University of Pittsburgh committed itself to regaining its position as one of America's leading collegiate athletic programs, the University also made a commitment of perhaps even greater significance - to set standards in the education of its student athletes. From this commitment came the Support Service for Student Athletes, established in 1976. This office had one major mission: furthering the academic goals of the men and women who make up Pitt's varsity athletic teams. In the 1990s, as Pitt football once again reaches for the top, the University has rededicated itself to its original commitment to see that its male and female athletes get a quality and meaningful education. New offices, equipment and additional personnel are evidence that Pitt is continuing its tradition of placing academics at the top of its priorities for its athletes.

Since its beginning, the Support Service for Student Athletes office has offered several important services to Pitt's athletic community. Contact between the Office and the student athlete begins early, at University orientation, where Support Service personnel administer tests and assist in class scheduling. Learning skills and study habits are strengthened throughout the freshman year, through regular meetings with the office staff and organized study sessions. Tutors are provided for those who request them, and assigned to those the staff feels may need additional help. Class performance and attendance is monitored throughout the term. Academic and career counseling, as well as personal counseling, are all important parts of the program. The goal of the office is to build long-term skills to enable the athlete to be an independent and successful student, skills which will be carried on long after an athletic career has ended.

Since 1987, Support Services has been located in the remodeled fifth floor of Pitt Stadium. The office, which as an academic unit reports to the Provost, was originally housed in the William Pitt Union. But as more athletes took advantage of the unit's services and the staff grew in number, more space was needed. The facilities in the stadium include a computer/learning lab, several areas for individual tutoring and study, as well as offices for the staff.

Academic Support Staff

In 1992, the Academic Support Services for Student Athletes opened another facility in Bellefield Hall on lower campus. This facility houses a math lab, a writing lab, and computer lab, which provides students with access to the same services as the stadium facility. Plans have been formalized and renovations are under way for the completion of a larger complex in the stadium as part of the eight-phase renovation program for Pitt's athletic complex. Additionally, renovations to Fitzgerald Field House include plans for a study lab and mini-computer lab, which would give student athletes access to services at three different locations on campus. Each of Pitt's Academic Support Services facilities reflect the commitment the University makes to insuring a quality and comprehensive academic experience for its student athletes.

The staff of the Support Service office is currently made up of seven full-time members, a graduate assistant, and numerous part-time tutors. Since early 1991, the office has been directed by Dr. Ron Brown.

Dr. Brown came to Pitt from Oklahoma State, where he headed that University's academic efforts to help athletes. He is assisted by Jan McMannis, Dave Pistolesi, Ivory Moore, Michael Farabaugh, Shandel Gilbert and Pam Allen.

Golden Panthers

Pitt Golden Panthers: Supporting Academic and Athletic Excellence

The Pitt Golden Panthers organization, founded in 1970, has a two-fold purpose: first, to provide financial aid for deserving and qualified student athletes, and second, to improve the quality of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh.

The Pitt Golden Panthers is the only official athletic fundraising organization recognized by the University of Pittsburgh. Funds raised in any other respect could jeopardize the purpose for which the organization was established.

The foremost goal of the Pitt Golden Panthers is to provide a base of professional fundraising services, athletic communications and other assistance through which alumni, students, friends, corporations, parents, faculty, staff, and others may enhance the development of Pitt athletics.

The Pitt Golden Panthers organization operates with the approval of the administration of the University and is subject to the regulations of the University of Pittsburgh, the Big East Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Intercollegiate athletics today depend on support from the private sector more than ever before. The expansion of the Pitt Golden Panthers through a larger membership base and increased funding for athletic scholarships will contribute to the future successes of our storied teams. Our ultimate goal is to completely underwrite the entire annual scholarship expense through private funding.

Additionally, the Pitt Golden Panther organization is striving to provide its membership with the opportunity to share in programs of distinction for endowments and capital improvements that will create better facilities and provide state-of-the-art equipment and a way to a more fulfilled education for Pitt student athletes well into the 21st century.

All members of the Pitt Golden Panthers receive a variety of benefits to recognize their contributions. These benefits include football and basketball ticket purchase priority; Golden Panther mailings; invitations to numerous meetings, outings and trips; and a complimentary subscription for the Panther Sports Journal. Donors also receive credit in the University of Pittsburgh's Annual Giving Fund and its various giving groups.

We invite you to join our growing family of supporters, thereby playing a more active role in the education of the more than 400 male and female student athletes who represent the University of Pittsburgh.

Department of Bands

Jack Anderson
Director of Bands

Jack Anderson was named Interim Director of Bands at the University of Pittsburgh this past July, but he is certainly no stranger to the Pitt Band program. As a matter of fact, he marched in his first game as a freshman band member 30 years ago, the home opener against Oregon in September, 1965.

Anderson has been a member of the Pitt Band staff for the past 10 years, serving as assistant director. His ties however, go much further than that. His father, Dr. Jack B. "Doc" Anderson, was assistant director under Robert R. Arthur from 1948 to 1971. Before becoming a full member in 1965, Anderson traveled the Pitt sidelines with his father. The alumni band members from the 1950's and early 60's still call him "Little Doc".

When Don Hower became director of bands in 1972, Anderson remained on the staff as percussion instructor for a few years. In 1985, Jack returned to band staff as assistant director.

Anderson has very close ties with the Pitt Band Alumni having served terms as president, vice-president, director and leader of the Alumni Dance Band.

In addition to his work at Pitt, he has taught 24 years in Pennsylvania as director of bands at Greenville and Keystone Oaks school districts. Anderson currently directs the South Hills Community Concert Band.

"I am very excited about being named Interim Director of the Pitt Band. For me, it is a dream come true. I will work with the Pitt administrators, the coaches, the Golden Panthers and the alumni to move the "tradition" of the Pitt Band forward and give the University of Pittsburgh, all of the Pitt fans and the City of Pittsburgh a band of which everyone will be proud."

Anderson and his wife Peggy reside in Scott Township and have two daughters, Carrie (20), a senior at Pitt; and Katie (18), a freshman at Pitt.

Pitt Cheerleaders

The 1995 University of Pittsburgh cheerleading squad is entertaining, talented, and a motivating factor at Pitt football games. It is a colorful addition to the wide range of festivities surrounding a college football game.

The Pitt cheerleaders are one of the largest squads in the country, as well as one of the most successful. In April 1994, the women's squad brought its streak of national championships to three by claiming the Universal Cheerleaders Association College Cheerleading Championship title. In 1991 and 1992, the cheerleaders won the National Collegiate Cheerleading Championships, finishing first out of approximately 20 teams in the All-Girl Division at the event. Prior to 1992, Pitt's best showing had been a sixth-place finish in 1990.

In addition to their performances at Panther football games and other Pitt varsity sporting events, the cheerleaders are active at various Golden Panther and charitable functions in and around the Pittsburgh community.

The Pitt cheerleaders have been coached for the past 12 years by Theresa and Michael Nuzzo, who were Pitt cheerleaders themselves. The Nuzzos are founders and owners of the Elite Cheerleading Organization, the largest personalized cheerleading instruction company in the United States. The organization annually instructs more than 25,000 cheerleaders in approximately 40 states.

The Panther

The Panther (Felis concolor) was adopted as the University of Pittsburgh's mascot at a meeting of students and alumni in the autumn of 1909. According to George M. P. Baird, '09, who made the suggestion, it was chosen for the following reasons: (1) the Panther was the most formidable creature once indigenous to the Pittsburgh region; (2) it had ancient, heraldic standing as a noble animal; (3) the happy accident of alliteration; (4) the close approximation of its hue to the old gold of the University's colors (old gold and blue), hence its easy adaptability in decoration; and (5) the fact that no other college or university then employed it as a symbol.

The BIG EAST Football Conference

The 1995 season will be only the fifth year of competition for The BIG EAST Football Conference. The league, however, has enjoyed a national presence since its inception. Each of the first four years have found the league champion battling for a national championship on New Year's Day.

Off the field, the league has made great strides. The BIG EAST was a charter member of the Bowl Coalition which improved the quality of major bowl matchups and increased the chances of a national title game over the past three years.

The new Bowl Alliance is a hybrid of the Bowl Coalition and will be implemented this season. Again, the BIG EAST is an original partner.

The BIG EAST has stayed on top of the changing world of college football on television. It established its own regional television package in 1991 before the league played a game. The BIG EAST Television Network immediately was the largest regional college football network in the country.

In the past year, the BIG EAST has signed new deals with CBS and ESPN which will begin in the 1996 season. CBS will telecast up to 12 games per year. ESPN and ESPN2 will carry at least 12 games each season. Both agreements, which run through 2000, will mean that CBS and ESPN will telecast a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the season.

For 1995, the BIG EAST still participates in the College Football Association television agreement. The BIG EAST Television Network has assigned rights to all games not telecast by ABC or ESPN to Creative Sports of Charlotte, N.C., a subsidiary of ESPN. Creative Sports will produce and distribute additional games for syndication, local markets and pay-per-view beginning in 1995.

The BIG EAST has assured itself of some prestigious bowl invitations. The league champion will attend the Fiesta, Orange or Sugar Bowls as part of its membership in the Bowl Alliance. A new agreement with the Toyota Gator Bowl will allow that bowl to choose a second BIG EAST team. For the third straight season, the Carquest Bowl will choose a third BIG EAST team.

This past year, league-champion Miami battled Nebraska in the Orange Bowl for a claim to the national championship. Boston College won the Aloha Bowl. Virginia Tech and West Virginia competed in the Gator and Carquest Bowls, respectively.

BIG EAST teams have enjoyed plenty of success in recent years. Miami won national titles in '83, '87, '89 and '91. The Hurricanes

Michael A. Tranghese
Commissioner

The changes in college football in the 1990s seem to be nonstop. Mike Tranghese has made sure the BIG EAST has kept pace.

Since The BIG EAST Football Conference was formed on February 5, 1991, college football has undergone significant changes in conference membership, bowl agreements and television. Tranghese has positioned the BIG EAST to be a national player from the league's inception.

He orchestrated the formation of BIG EAST football and immediately went to work, making the BIG EAST part of the unique Bowl Coalition which guaranteed prestigious bowl appearances for two conference teams. That agreement began in the 1992 season and ran through the '94 campaign.

Now, the BIG EAST is part of the Bowl Alliance, which is a hybrid of the Bowl Coalition. The Bowl Alliance guarantees the league champion a bid to the Fiesta, Orange or Sugar Bowls.

Tranghese has secured agreements with the Toyota Gator Bowl and the Carquest Bowl which will assure the conference of two more prestigious bowl invitations for the next three seasons.

Tranghese has long been considered one of the industry's foreward thinkers in television. When BIG EAST football began, the league started the BIG EAST Football Television Network which immediately became the nation's largest regional college football network.

In positioning the league for the second half of this decade, Tranghese negotiated new deals with CBS and ESPN which will begin in the 1996 season. Both agreements, which run through 2000, will mean that CBS and ESPN will telecast a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the season.

Beginning in 1995, Creative Sports of Charlotte, N.C. will produce and distribute additional games for syndication, local markets and pay-per-view. The BIG EAST has assigned the rights to all games not telecast this season by ABC or ESPN to Creative Sports, a subsidiary of ESPN.

Tranghese, 51, became Commissioner of The BIG EAST Conference on June 21, 1990 and promptly was faced with an unprecedented membership realignment among some major collegiate conferences. He responded by coordinating an expansion which included the University of Miami becoming a full member of the BIG EAST and being a key addition to the new and unique BIG EAST Football Conference.

In 1994, Tranghese guided the league through what many thought to be a critical stage that could have resulted in a permanent split among its members. In March, the conference added Rutgers University and West Virginia University as its 11th and 12th members and maintained its structure. Just four months later, Tranghese and The BIG EAST added the University of Notre Dame. All three new members will begin BIG EAST competition in 1995-96.

BIG EAST athletic directors were unanimous in their decision to choose Tranghese as Commissioner after his 11 years of impressive service to the league, the last nine as associate commissioner. Tranghese was the BIG EAST's first full time employee in 1979.

Tranghese has lived up to his promise of keeping the BIG EAST an aggressive consortium while adhering to the principles which have marked the league's explosive rise to prominence: a cohesive structure, a "dare to be different" administrative approach, a staunch commitment to excellence in performance and a continuing emphasis on academic integrity.

Prior to moving to The BIG EAST in 1979 as assistant commissioner for public relations and marketing, he served as the sports information director at Providence College.

Under his direction, the BIG EAST championship slate expanded from seven men's championships in 1979 to 18 men's and women's events in 1989 and 19 in 1993. Tranghese, who is single, is a 1965 graduate of St. Michael's College in Wincoski, Vt.

The BIG EAST Football Conference

have played on New Year's Day every year since 1984. Boston College has gone "bowling" each of the past three years. Virginia Tech and West Virginia have gone to bowl games in each of the past two seasons. Syracuse has gone to bowl games in six of the last eight years.

Some of the same elements that were in place when The BIG EAST Conference was born in 1979 are present in BIG EAST football. The football members are a group of schools that, for the most part, were traditional rivals, but were never a formal league. The BIG EAST Football Conference alignment includes four schools that have been full members of The BIG EAST Conference.

They are: Boston College, University of Miami, University of Pittsburgh and Syracuse University. Rutgers University and West Virginia University became full members of the BIG EAST on July 1, 1995. These six institutions are joined in the football group by Temple University and Virginia Tech University.

THE BIG EAST AND THE BOWL ALLIANCE

The BIG EAST Football Conference is a member of the new partnership called the Bowl Alliance, which has been designed to enhance bowl matchups and increase the chances of a national championship game. The Bowl Alliance evolved from the Bowl Coalition which had been in place for the last three seasons.

The participating bowls in the Alliance are the Fiesta, Orange and Sugar Bowls. In 1995, those three bowls will choose from a Conference Champions Pool which includes the champions of the BIG EAST, ACC, SEC, Big Eight and Southwest Conferences. The sixth spot in the Alliance will come from an At-Large Pool. The At-Large Pool* includes all teams which qualify under the following criteria:

1. Teams not in the Conference Champions Pool
2. Teams not participating in the Rose Bowl
3. Teams that have met any of the following requirements:
   a. Have won eight games in the regular season
   b. Are among the 12 highest-ranked bowl eligible teams in either the AP or the CNN/USA Today polls
   c. Are ranked no lower in either poll than the lowest-ranked conference champion.

*For 1995 only, if Notre Dame has met the necessary requirements, it will be assured of an invitation to one of the three bowls.

This year the Fiesta will make the first two selections. The Orange will pick third and fifth and the Sugar will choose fourth and sixth. The dates for these games are: Sugar Bowl, Dec. 31; Orange Bowl, Jan. 1; Fiesta Bowl, Jan. 2.

Beginning in 1996, when some members of the Southwest Conference are absorbed into what will be called the Big 12 (now the Big Eight), there will be two selections made from the At-Large Pool.

In 1996, the Sugar Bowl will make the first two selections followed by the Fiesta (#3 & #5) and Orange (#4 & #6). In 1997, the Orange will make the first two selections followed by the Sugar (#3 & #5) and Fiesta (#4 & #6).

If there is a tie for a conference championship, that respective conference's tie-breaking procedures will apply to determining the league's champion. If the tie is not broken, the tied team with the highest ranking in both the AP and CNN/USA Today polls will be placed in the Conference Championship Pool. If the tied teams have the same ranking or should the polls disagree as to the highest-ranked team, then all of the tied teams will be eligible and the selecting bowl can make its own choice.

GATOR AND CARQUEST BOWLS

Deals with the Toyota Gator Bowl and the Carquest Bowl have assured The BIG EAST Football Conference of two additional bowl bids for 1995.

The agreement with the Toyota Gator Bowl in Jacksonville is a new three-year pact that will allow the Bowl to choose a second BIG EAST team after the Bowl Alliance selects the league champion. The BIG EAST team will be paired with the second choice of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Toyota Gator Bowl will be played on Jan. 1 and will be televised by NBC. Last year Virginia Tech was invited to the Gator Bowl under the Bowl Coalition. The Hokies lost to Tennessee, 45-23.

The BIG EAST and the Carquest Bowl already have had a two-year relationship. The BIG EAST will continue to send a representative team to the game for the next three seasons. This year's game will be played on Dec. 30 at Joe Robbie Stadium in Miami. The game will be televised by WTBS. The Carquest will make the third selection from the BIG EAST. The opponent will be either the fourth team from the ACC or the fifth choice from the Southeastern Conference.

West Virginia was last year's representive in the Carquest Bowl. The Mountaineers lost to South Carolina, 24-21. Two seasons ago, Boston College defeated Virginia, 31-13.

The Varsity Walk

On the University of Pittsburgh campus, between the Cathedral of Learning and Heinz Chapel, is a sidewalk known as the Varsity Walk. There, embedded in the stones, are the names of former Pitt athletes who have promoted the University through their athletic or academic achievements.

The Varsity Walk was conceived in 1950 as a way to honor athletes, and new members are added each year. The distinctive hand-carved stones were first presented as the Athletic Committee Award and the Charles C. Hartwig Award. The Athletic Committee recognized the best athlete from any sport. The Charles Hartwig Award was given to the senior athlete who promoted and sponsored the best interests of Pitt athletics, in honor of the 1934 All-America tight end. In 1971 the awards were changed to the Panther and Blue-Gold awards, respectively.

The Panther Award is presented to the graduating senior athlete who has promoted Pitt athletics through his/her outstanding athletic achievement. The Blue-Gold Award is given to the seniors who represents the student-athlete ideal based on academic scholarship, athletic achievement, leadership qualities and citizenship.

The awards were expanded to include females in 1975.
